Deadlock Still Remains Among Big Four Despite Private Talks at Geneva Parley

DEWEY'S FLAGSHIP SAVED — Forlorn, rusted and tied to a weed-grown dock, the old cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at Manila Bay, is scheduled to be moved July 23 to a new berth and saved from a death of dismantling at the hands of the Navy. Officials of Philadelphia told the Navy base there where the Olympia "has been taking up valuable space," it will be taken and berthed along the West bank of the Schuylkill River. The Navy previously had said it would start wrecking the cruiser. A group of private citizens is trying to raise funds to restore the ship. It has been in such bad shape it has been closed to tourists. (AP Wirephoto)

Statesman Father of UN Dies

Cordell Hull Is Stroke Victim, 83

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Cordell Hull, former secretary of state whom many hailed as "The Father of the United Nations," died today. He was 83 last Oct. 2.

Death came at 9 a. m. EDT at the U. S. Naval Hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md., where the elderly statesman had been taken last March 26 after suffering a stroke in his hotel (Sheraton-Park) apartment. He had another stroke yesterday.

HULL HAD long been in poor health, suffering from high blood pressure and ailments of old age.

In 1951 he suffered a cerebral thrombosis and was desperately ill for many months. Friends despaired of his life, but Hull made a good recovery and left the hospital to live in his hotel quarters.

Mrs. Hull died in March 1954. Hull continued to live at the apartment until last June, returning then to Bethesda because of his general poor health. While there he was hit by a slight stroke and for a time was too ill to receive visitors.

RELEASED again about the first of the year, he went back to the apartment. A niece, Mrs. Katherine Ethridge of San Antonio, Tex., stayed with him there. Friends reported he had been "up and around" almost every day.

The hospital confirmed his death at 9:30 a. [illegible] as relatives were being notified.

Mercury Hits 104 Friday

A steaming 104 degrees was registered on the thermometer at the downtown Freeman office Friday afternoon and the Associated Press reported that the northeastern states already wilted by the hottest day of the year were in line for more discomfort today. Weather forecasts said it would be hot, humid and sultry.

This month has shattered records for the city. Thursday's 98 degrees was a record for that date, and marked the 17th day in July with temperatures in the 90's.

THE STIFLING weather finds thousands of Kingstonians seeking relief at Kingston Point Beach while others are making trips to the Ashokan Reservoir to find a breeze.

Scorched lawns and gardens are in increasing evidence in the area, but water officials reminded that garden hoses should be used sparingly because of the lack of rain this month.

Continuous sprinkling reduces pressure so necessary in a fire emergency. The schedule released by the Kingston Water Board allows sprinkling Monday, Wednesday and Friday for homes with even numbers on streets, and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for residences on odd street numbers. Hours are 8 a. m., to 10 a. m., and 8 p. m., to 10 p. m.

WORK ON the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge terminated at 11 a. m., yesterday because of the heat. Harold Bowers, former local patrolman now an iron worker, said the crews were unable to continue in the intense heat. Bowers is working with a

Senate Votes Aid Bill; Adjournment Uncertain

Washington, July 23 (AP)—The week was hot, some congressional tempers flared and hopes of Congress getting finished next week started melting.

In a burst of session's end energy, the Senate stayed (in air conditioned chamber) until past 10 o'clock last night to pass the President's $3,205,841,750 foreign aid bill, just $60,800,000 less than he asked.

But the bill won't be waiting serenely when President Eisenhower returns from the Big Four Conference at Geneva. It goes first to a House-Senate Committee to work out some differences. The House cut 567 million dollars from the President's request and some of the members have said they'll fight to keep it that way.

For the most part, Congress approved of what was going on in Geneva. From his hospital bed, resting up from a heart attack, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D.-Tex.) called the President's offer to share some military information with Russia a "daring, imaginative stroke."

While the President was gone, Congress advanced some of his program, although it wasn't always what he had asked. This included a higher minimum wage, a reserve program, school and road building plans and a free polio vaccine for needy children.

REPS. POWELL (D.-NY) and Bailey (D-W. Va.) were reported to have done some fist swinging in the House Education Committee meeting which passed the school construction bill Friday.

The committee approved the bill minus the antisegregation amendment Powell wanted. The measure would authorize $1,600,000,000 in federal grants to states on a dollar matching basis to build needed classrooms. A similar measure is still in a Senate committee.

Tempers flared in the Senate Investigations Committee inquiring about outside business interests of Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott. Republicans contended the questions threatened to "embarrass" President Eisenhower. Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) rose on the Senate floor last night to demand that Talbott be ousted to remove a "bad odor" from the Washington scene.

Talbott has testified he has been drawing $50,000 to $60,00[illegible]

Hope Held For Night Agreement

Eisenhower Talk Devoted to Peace

Geneva, July 23 (AP)—The Big Four failed to break their deadlock at morning Summit session today, but an American spokesman said "definite progress" had been made.

The heads of the four governments met for almost two hours after President Eisenhower and Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov had had a private talk—possibly on the President's proposal for an exchange of military blueprinting between the United States and Russia.

THE CONFERENCE itself was trying to iron out differences over arrangements for future talks on key problems. The deadlock marred the final hours of the talks and left uncertain both the outcome and the closing time.

Another meeting was arranged for today in the hope of concluding the conference before nightfall.

The last phase of the meeting was cloaked in a sudden secrecy. Presidential Press Secretary James J. Hagerty at first refused to comment beyond announcing that there would be an afternoon session. Later, however he said:

"SPEAKING for the American delegation, we believe that definite progress was made this morning, though as usual difficult problems remain to the end."

It also was learned that Soviet Premier Bulganin and British Foreign Minister Eden had a long talk last night, seeking a solution to the dispute over whether German reunification or a European security system would be the primary goal of the foreign ministers' conference proposed for this fall.

THE GOVERNMENT chiefs were hoping to end their historic Summit meeting which began here Monday, by nightfall.

The Russian and western foreign ministers worked far into last night but were unable to settle the unification-security disagreement. They referred the issue back to their chiefs at this morning's meeting.

Pravda Cites Rearmament as Block to Unity

Moscow, July 23 (AP)—Pravda said today the Geneva Big Four parley had proved that rearmament of West Germany in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was a stumbling block to Germany's reunification.

THE COMMUNIST party newspaper's Geneva dispatch said, "in the course of the discussions it has become clear that realization of the Paris agreements to rearm West Germany can only prove an obstacle to the reunification of Germany." Pravada added that many West Germans also were coming to realize this.

The Soviet press has not yet commented directly on President Eisenhower's Thursday proposal for reciprocal arms inspection between the United States and the Soviet Union. But the Soviet agency Tass quoted a Washington Star report of differences between Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles on the President's plan. Dulles was said to "put little faith in this idea."

Tass also quoted reports from

Selected Miss Universe

Miss Sweden Is Chosen Most Beautiful Woman

Long Beach, Calif., July 23 (AP)—Miss Sweden, a Grace Kelly with muscles, today is Miss Universe, the world's most beautiful woman.

The judges, true to form, picked a short-haired blonde, but there was little else they could do—blonde, blue-eyed, 21-year-old Hillevi Rombin was just that beautiful.

But the race was a close one—Miss El Salvador, blonde Maribel Arrieta, was only a few points behind. The other runners up were—in this order, Ceylon, Germany and Japan.

FOR MISS SWEDEN—one of the biggest girls in the contest at 130 pounds—the title means a host of prizes, most important of which is a $250-a-week contract at Universal-International studios.

"This is one girl that I think we can really do something with, movie-wise," a top U-I official said.

The record of Miss Universe winners in the movies has been rather dismal in the past.

The last previous Miss Universe beauty under movie contract, was Myrna Hansen, Miss U.S.A. two years ago, but the U-I studio failed to pick up her option 10 days ago, just as this contest started. Miss Hansen was one of the judges last night.

Starting Monday, the new Miss Universe will start work in "The Benny Goodman Story" at U-I. When told of this, she exclaimed happily:

"I think that's wonderful, because I've always collected his records."

Hillevi is a college graduate and hails from the town of Upsala, about a half-hour's drive from Stockholm. It is Sweden's greatest university town and Miss Universe is a representative citizen. She speaks five languages.

ONE OF THE JUDGES disclosed that it was her reserved bearing, plus her intelligence, that helped swing the title to her.

Bethlehem Steel Shipyard Workers Get Pay Boosts

New York, July 23 (AP)—Wage increases for Bethlehem Steel Co. shipyard workers ranging from 11½ to 19 cents an hour were announced today.

A company spokesman said the signing of a new wage agreement would give increases of 11½ to 15 cents "and more" to 13,000 workers in eight east coast shipyards.

The union later said a top increase of 19 cents would go to some highly skilled specialists. It added that 80 per cent of the workers covered by the agreement would get the 15 cent increase, bringing their pay up to $2.27 per hour.

The new pay scale brings hourly wages for the lowest pay classification up to $1.78½, the company reported.

THE AGREEMENT applies to workers in Bethlehem shipyards at Quincy and East Boston, Mass., Hoboken, N. J., Baltimore and Sparrows Point, Md.,

Allotments Made for Recreation Projects

New York State aid allotments for recreation projects in the towns of Ulster and Marlborough have been made known by the State Youth Commission.

Ulster will receive $1,000 in state aid and Marlborough will get $900.

Ulster is spending $2,000 this year to provide a recreation program. This is the ninth year that the state has joined the town in financing the project.

Marlborough will spend $1,800 during this year, its fourth with state aid benefits.

Percy Bush, chairman of the Ulster Town Board, is in charge of the program there. Reginald Russell is recreation director.

Fred Fowler is in charge of the Marlborough program. Jack Kroh will serve as director of recreation.

How Far Will They Go?

Senators Argue Next Step in Talbott Probe

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Sharply disagreeing senators meet behind closed doors today to decide how far to carry their investigation of Secretary of the Air Force Talbott's outside business interests.

Among items for discussion was Talbott's offer to quit as a special partner in Paul B. Mulligan and Co. of New York if the senators think such action would help the air force. Talbott has insisted, however, that his interest does not conflict with his air force duties.

THE SENATE investigations subcommittee's inquiry erupted into a bitter, public row yesterday, which its members may thresh out in this closed door session.

One of them, Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.), contended in advance of the session that the subcomittee has "become a 'leak' factory and a smear machine," with Talbott its victim.

He said "leaks" of the subcommittee secrets "have dragged Mr. Talbott's name in public, and yet no one has yet made a charge against him."

One upshot of the inquiry was a demand in a Senate speech by Sen. Morse (D.-Ore.) that Talbott "be cleaned out of the government" to remove a "bad odor" from the Washington scene.

"It is perfectly obvious that Mr. Talbott ought to be removed from his post as secretary of the air force forthwith," Morse said.

A major issue before the senators is whether to call Talbott back for more public questioning about his relations with the Mulligan Company, an efficiency engineering firm which pays Talbott upwards of $50,000 a year.

Talbott swore Thursday his associations with the company are "clean" and "not improper." He insisted he never has used his Pentagon office improperly to seek business for the company.

One senator reported that Talbott sent Chairman McClellan (D.-Ark.) yesterday a letter which sought to amend some of his testimony.

THIS SOURCE, declining to be quoted by name, told a reporter the letter reported Talbott now remembers that he did, after all, telephone a Radio Corp. of America lawyer, Sam Ewing, about renewing a Mulligan contract. He had testified Thurs-

Would Send Food If Russia Lifts The Iron Curtain

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Sens. Russell (D.-Ga.) and Young (R.-N.D.) said today that if Russia moves to lift the Iron Curtain, as proposed by President Eisenhower, the United States should consider shipping the Soviets needed food supplies.

Eisenhower called at the Geneva Conference yesterday for a lowering of the East-West barriers against exchange of information, travel and trade. His proposal was endorsed by British Prime Minister Eden but there was no immediate official Russian reply.

RUSSELL, who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would continue to oppose shipment of strategic materials to Russia, but added:

"We could send them cotton goods, for instance, and butter and other food products. It has always been my belief that trade will do a great deal toward promoting international good will."

Young said that "if the Russian attitude continues as it is and there is a change for the better in international relations,

Harriman Comments On Geneva

Rome, July 23 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, commenting on the summit conference at Geneva, said today the West must "keep our guard up."

The onetime U. S. ambassador to Russia told a news conference he is "delighted that they are talking. This will bring home to them (the Russians) the unity of the free countries."

BUT HARRIMAN said he has seen nothing so far that would warrant a change in the West's defenses.

Harriman, here on an unofficial visit to Italy, leaves Sunday for Paris.

The Russian approach at Geneva "has a certain familiar ring" to the man who served as ambassador and participated in some of World War II's most important decisions while on special missions to Moscow.

"I WOULD RATHER wait for the Soviet answer," he said when asked for comment on President Eisenhower's open inspection proposal to the Russians at Geneva.

Harriman, mentioned as New York's favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, lauded Eisenhower for bringing up the question of international communism with the Russians.

But the President received "the same answer from Marshal Bulganin I got in Russia nine years ago when I raised the same point," Harriman said.

"I was told that it was a matter of the Communist party and not the responsibility of the Soviet government."

Woman Hurt As Two Cars Are Bumped

A Walker Valley woman suffered minor injuries about 8 p. m. Friday when two cars locked bumpers on Route 52 in the town of Shawangunk, causing one of the vehicles to go out of control, according to Ellenville State Police.

Mrs. Frances Marshall, 32, was treated at the scene for shock and possible concussion by Dr. Andre Fiscella of Pine Bush.

TROOPER N. G. Lecakes, who investigated, said Mrs. Marshall was a passenger in a 1954 sedan operated by her husband, also 32, proceeding west on Route 52 upgrade on a gradual right curve.

A 1953 sedan, operated by Sidney Kirschner, 39, of 1070 Belmore road, Belmore, L. I., passed the Marshall vehicle but in attempting to pull back into line the right rear bumper of the Kirschner car hooked the left front bumper of the Marshall car, Trooper Lecakes said.

THE BUMPERS broke apart, causing the Marshall car to go out of control and plunge off the south side of the highway and up an embankment before it could be brought under control again, according to the trooper.

Mr. Kirschner was arrested by Mr. Marshall on a charge of reckless driving. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Voshage of Walker Valley who adjourned the case until noon Saturday, July 30. Mr. Kirschner was released in $25 bail.

School Boards Move To End Segregation

By The Associated Press

Two southern school systems moved to end racial segregation Friday, but Alabama took another step toward staving off integregation.

The Alabama Senate approved by a 32-0 vote a House bill giving school boards unprecedented police power to "assure social order, goodwill and the public welfare" in the assignment of pupils to schools.

School board members were handed a long list of factors by which pupil assignments would be guided—ranging from "home environment of the pupil" to "the effect of admission on prevailing academic standards."

The bill now goes to Gov. James E. Folsom, who has commented that he does not see "anything seriously wrong" with it.

Removing a statutory barrier to school integration, the measure gives school boards "full and final authority and responsibility" for the assignment of pupils.

NO PUPIL would be required to attend school with members of another race. A child would be "entitled to such aid for education as may be authorized by law" if withdrawn from school for this reason. No system, however, has been set up for providing such funds.

The bill provides that parents could appeal the assignment rulings of school boards to the courts. The judge then could order a jury trial of the matter.

State Likely to Spend More Than It Collects

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Gov. Harriman's budget director says it still seems probable that the state will spend more than it collects in the year ending next March 31.

Paul H. Appleby issued a statement yesterday in reply to a Republican claim that the state would end the fiscal year with 45 million dollars more than estimated.

"Present trends indicate that we will be able to show a general fund surplus at the end of this year," he declared, "even though probably not enough to equal the depletion of the capital construction fund.

"The financial plan approved by the Legislature was based upon a depletion of 48 million dollars in the capital construction fund. Any general fund operating surplus might be used to reduce this depletion."

Appleby said all tax collections for the first three months of fiscal 1955-56 had exceeded those for the comparable period last year by 75 million dollars. Of this, he said, 28 million dollars was due to the elimination this year of abatements on personal income and unincorporated business taxes.

Walter J. Mahoney, Senate GOP majority leader, and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck contended Thursday that the stepped-up pace of tax collections proved the income-tax boost to have been unnecessary.

The State Tax Department reported that the first-quarter receipts of taxes it collected

Among items for discussion was Talbott's offer to quit as a special partner in Paul B. Mulligan and Co. of New York if the senators think such action would help the air force. Talbott has insisted, however, that his interest does not conflict with his air force duties.

THE SENATE investigations subcommittee's inquiry erupted into a bitter, public row yesterday, which its members may thresh out in this closed door session.

One of them, Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.), contended in advance of the session that the subcomittee has "become a 'leak' factory and a smear machine," with Talbott its victim.

He said "leaks" of the subcommittee secrets "have dragged Mr. Talbott's name in public, and yet no one has yet made a charge against him."

One upshot of the inquiry was a demand in a Senate speech by Sen. Morse (D.-Ore.) that Talbott "be cleaned out of the government" to remove a "bad odor" from the Washington scene.

"It is perfectly obvious that Mr. Talbott ought to be removed from his post as secretary of the air force forthwith," Morse said.

A major issue before the senators is whether to call Talbott back for more public questioning about his relations with the Mulligan Company, an efficiency engineering firm which pays Talbott upwards of $50,000 a year.

Talbott swore Thursday his associations with the company are "clean" and "not improper." He insisted he never has used his Pentagon office improperly to seek business for the company.

One senator reported that Talbott sent Chairman McClellan (D.-Ark.) yesterday a letter which sought to amend some of his testimony.

THIS SOURCE, declining to be quoted by name, told a reporter the letter reported Talbott now remembers that he did, after all, telephone a Radio Corp. of America lawyer, Sam Ewing, about renewing a Mulligan contract. He had testified Thurs-

Would Send Food If Russia Lifts The Iron Curtain

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Sens. Russell (D.-Ga.) and Young (R.-N.D.) said today that if Russia moves to lift the Iron Curtain, as proposed by President Eisenhower, the United States should consider shipping the Soviets needed food supplies.

Eisenhower called at the Geneva Conference yesterday for a lowering of the East-West barriers against exchange of information, travel and trade. His proposal was endorsed by British Prime Minister Eden but there was no immediate official Russian reply.

RUSSELL, who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he would continue to oppose shipment of strategic materials to Russia, but added:

"We could send them cotton goods, for instance, and butter and other food products. It has always been my belief that trade will do a great deal toward promoting international good will."

Young said that "if the Russian attitude continues as it is and there is a change for the better in international relations,

Harriman Comments On Geneva

Rome, July 23 (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, commenting on the summit conference at Geneva, said today the West must "keep our guard up."

The onetime U. S. ambassador to Russia told a news conference he is "delighted that they are talking. This will bring home to them (the Russians) the unity of the free countries."

BUT HARRIMAN said he has seen nothing so far that would warrant a change in the West's defenses.

Harriman, here on an unofficial visit to Italy, leaves Sunday for Paris.

The Russian approach at Geneva "has a certain familiar ring" to the man who served as ambassador and participated in some of World War II's most important decisions while on special missions to Moscow.

"I WOULD RATHER wait for the Soviet answer," he said when asked for comment on President Eisenhower's open inspection proposal to the Russians at Geneva.

Harriman, mentioned as New York's favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, lauded Eisenhower for bringing up the question of international communism with the Russians.

But the President received "the same answer from Marshal Bulganin I got in Russia nine years ago when I raised the same point," Harriman said.

"I was told that it was a matter of the Communist party and not the responsibility of the Soviet government."

Woman Hurt As Two Cars Are Bumped

A Walker Valley woman suffered minor injuries about 8 p. m. Friday when two cars locked bumpers on Route 52 in the town of Shawangunk, causing one of the vehicles to go out of control, according to Ellenville State Police.

Mrs. Frances Marshall, 32, was treated at the scene for shock and possible concussion by Dr. Andre Fiscella of Pine Bush.

TROOPER N. G. Lecakes, who investigated, said Mrs. Marshall was a passenger in a 1954 sedan operated by her husband, also 32, proceeding west on Route 52 upgrade on a gradual right curve.

A 1953 sedan, operated by Sidney Kirschner, 39, of 1070 Belmore road, Belmore, L. I., passed the Marshall vehicle but in attempting to pull back into line the right rear bumper of the Kirschner car hooked the left front bumper of the Marshall car, Trooper Lecakes said.

THE BUMPERS broke apart, causing the Marshall car to go out of control and plunge off the south side of the highway and up an embankment before it could be brought under control again, according to the trooper.

Mr. Kirschner was arrested by Mr. Marshall on a charge of reckless driving. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur Voshage of Walker Valley who adjourned the case until noon Saturday, July 30. Mr. Kirschner was released in $25 bail.

School Boards Move To End Segregation

By The Associated Press

Two southern school systems moved to end racial segregation Friday, but Alabama took another step toward staving off integregation.

The Alabama Senate approved by a 32-0 vote a House bill giving school boards unprecedented police power to "assure social order, goodwill and the public welfare" in the assignment of pupils to schools.

School board members were handed a long list of factors by which pupil assignments would be guided—ranging from "home environment of the pupil" to "the effect of admission on prevailing academic standards."

The bill now goes to Gov. James E. Folsom, who has commented that he does not see "anything seriously wrong" with it.

Removing a statutory barrier to school integration, the measure gives school boards "full and final authority and responsibility" for the assignment of pupils.

NO PUPIL would be required to attend school with members of another race. A child would be "entitled to such aid for education as may be authorized by law" if withdrawn from school for this reason. No system, however, has been set up for providing such funds.

The bill provides that parents could appeal the assignment rulings of school boards to the courts. The judge then could order a jury trial of the matter.

State Likely to Spend More Than It Collects

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Gov. Harriman's budget director says it still seems probable that the state will spend more than it collects in the year ending next March 31.

Paul H. Appleby issued a statement yesterday in reply to a Republican claim that the state would end the fiscal year with 45 million dollars more than estimated.

"Present trends indicate that we will be able to show a general fund surplus at the end of this year," he declared, "even though probably not enough to equal the depletion of the capital construction fund.

"The financial plan approved by the Legislature was based upon a depletion of 48 million dollars in the capital construction fund. Any general fund operating surplus might be used to reduce this depletion."

Appleby said all tax collections for the first three months of fiscal 1955-56 had exceeded those for the comparable period last year by 75 million dollars. Of this, he said, 28 million dollars was due to the elimination this year of abatements on personal income and unincorporated business taxes.

Walter J. Mahoney, Senate GOP majority leader, and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck contended Thursday that the stepped-up pace of tax collections proved the income-tax boost to have been unnecessary.

The State Tax Department reported that the first-quarter receipts of taxes it collected

K of C Radio Programs

The Sacred Heart program will be heard during the coming week over WKNY weekdays at 6 a. m. and over WHUC (1230 on the dial) weekdays at 10:45 a. m. and Sunday at 12:15 p. m. The Ave Maria hour will present over WKNY Sunday at 10:30 a. m. the story of St. Monica, mother of St. Augustine. According to the Franciscan Friars of the Atonement, producers of the program, Monica was constantly rebuffed by her son Augustine, in her efforts to have him renounce paganism and become a Christian. This led Monica to bo more constant in her prayers and sacrifices for his conversion. When Augustine was 32 she received her reward; he was baptised a Christian. Augustine, later to become Bishop of Hippo and one of the leading doctors of the church, is regarded as one of the most outstanding intellects of history. The Catholic Hour will present over the NBC radio network on Sunday at 2 p. m. a program on nuclear physics. The WKNY broadcasts of the Sacred Heart program and Ave Maria hour are sponsored by Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus.

Religious Radio Programs

Presented as a public service over Station WKNY, in cooperation with the Kingston Ministerial Association, the following programs of Christian faith and life will be broadcast during the coming week: Sunday, at 8:30 a. m., "Let There Be Light," a transcribed production of the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA; from 8:45 to 9 p. m., Church World News, a weekly review of events in religion around the world, sponsored by the United Protestant Men's Clubs of Kingston. Each day, except Sunday, at 8:50 a. m., morning chapel, to be conducted by the following ministers as indicated: Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, the Rev. Harry I. Christiana, pastor of the Port Ewen and Ulster Park Reformed Churches; Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, the Rev. William Howard Jewett, associate minister of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

He Should Know

Watervliet, Mich. (AP)—Dwight Brink, 35, Michigan's Rural School Teacher of the Year, debunks the idea that some children don't like school. "There is no child who doesn't want to attend school," he says, "if the school is run with the child in mind." Brink teaches all eight grades in his 35-pupil school.

Religions of Our Day

This is another of a series of informative articles on the role of religion in today's world, written for The Kingston Daily Freeman by leading authorities of the various faiths and denominations. Later articles will discuss Baptists, Episcopalians and Seventh-day Adventists.

By George Channing

What is a Christian Scientist?

A Christian Scientist is one who accepts and practices Christian Science as his religion. Christian Science has been defined by its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy: "As the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony."

Why do you consider it Christian?

Because it is based wholly on the teachings of Christ Jesus which make clear the spiritual meaning of the Holy Scriptures. It requires its adherents to be active in obeying all the commandments of Jesus, including healing the sick.

Why do you consider it scientific?

Because it is exact in premise and conclusion and is completely demonstrable.

What is the basic premise of Christian Science?

That God is divine Mind, the conceiver of man and the universe, and Mind is all that exists. Mind expresses itself and its expression is man.

Spirit is eternal and real; matter is an unreal illusion subject to decay and dissolution.

Evil has to do with matter—therefore evil is unreal, an illusion. Spirit and its expression, man, are indestructible. Death is an illusion of mortal sense, which may continue to appear until destroyed by spiritual sense, either on this or the other side of the grave. The individual continues to live even though unseen by persons on our plane of existence.

What is the relation of man to God?

Man and the universal are made in the image and likeness of the divine Mind, God, which conceives them. Mind is synonymous with Spirit, Soul, Life, Truth, Love, Principle (which means cause or origin).

Man, the idea and image of God, is immortal, perfect, wholly good, untouched and untainted by evil because man expresses God.

What is health to the Christian Scientist?

Health is a spiritual reality; therefore health is eternal. Disease and illness are aspects of falsehood—delusions of the human mind which can be destroyed by the prayer of spiritual understanding. The divinely mental can and does replace the materially mental.

Who was Mary Baker Eddy?

Mary Baker Eddy (1821-1910) was the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. She is regarded by Christian Scientists as the revelator of Truth to this age. She brought the Comforter that Jesus foretold. This Comforter is the Science of Christianity and is available, through Mrs. Eddy's achievements, to all who desire to utilize God's power and God's law as Jesus did.

Each person, of any religion, can find what is satisfying to him as the spiritual meaning in the Bible. But Christian Scientists feel that Mrs. Eddy's book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," offers the complete spiritual meaning of the Bible. They believe that this full meaning would not have been available to them without Mrs. Eddy's discovery.

Do Christian Scientists consider themselves Protestants?

Yes. Christian Science is a truly Protestant religion, although it embodies several distinguishing characteristics:

Christian Science holds that good is infinite, that sin, death and disease are unreal and that evil is a delusion.

Christian Science maintains that healing is a religious function.

Christian Science has no ordained clergy or personal pastors. Though Christian Scientists know the pure consecration of Christian martyrs, martyrdom has no place in Christian Science. The Christian Scientist does not die for his religion; he lives in it.

There is no personal preacher in a Christion Science service. The Bible in the King James version and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Eddy, are the only "pastors" of the denomination. Texts are read aloud from these books by a first and second reader.

Prayer, to the Christian Scientist, is scientific and achieves healing; Christians who understand such prayer are equipped to fulfill the promise of the Master Christian: "In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover" (Mark 16: 17-18).

Christian Scientists do not practice baptism in the material form; to Christian Scientists baptism means purification from all material sense.

Salvation, to Christian Scientists, consists of being saved from the illusions and delusions of mortal sense—which means the sense of being capable of becoming sick and dying.

Protestantism, it should be remembered, began as a protest against certain organization or forms of worship. Christian Science also protests—against mortal sense.

What do Christian Scientists believe about Jesus?

Christian Science accepts the divinity of Christ, but does not deify Jesus—which means that to Christian Scientists, Christ Jesus was not God, but was the Son of God. The true mission of Christ Jesus was to redeem mankind from the beliefs of mortality by showing that man in his real nature is spiritual. Man is not God, but bears witness to God's presence.

The healings of Christ Jesus are regarded by Christian Scientists not as miracles, but as the result of the application of natural spiritual law.

Christian Science completely accepts the Virgin birth.

By the Trinity, Christian Scientists mean the unity of Father, Son and Holy Spirit—but do not accept the Trinity as three persons in one. Life, Truth and Love are "the triune Principle called God" (Science and Health).

What role does prayer play in Christian Science?

An all-important role. To the Christian Scientist, living is basically praying. "Men ought always to pray:" (Luke, 18:1). The understanding of God is reached through praying. The true Christian Scientist applies his thought in an effort to attain perfect praying. Real devotion and experience are needed to pray the perfect prayer.

A Christian Scientist may not always pray perfectly. The efficacy of his prayer reflects the degree of his own spiritual understanding. If he has attained high spiritual understanding and if he applies his understanding honestly and with devotion, results may follow which seem miraculous to others.

Healing is accomplished by spiritual understanding. Christian Science distinguishes faith from understanding: Faith means acceptance before proof. Through faith, degrees of evidence appear which serve to lift faith into spiritual understanding.

What is a Christian Science practitioner?

A practitioner is one who prays for those who ask his prayers in their behalf.

To be registered as a public practitioner, one must be approved by the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ in Boston, Mass. To be a practitioner requires systematic instruction, either self-acquired or under authorized teachers, and satisfactory evidence of successful healing work. Candidates must demonstrate a capacity to apply spiritual understanding to the destruction of human ills and discords.

Can a practitioner treat a patient hundreds of miles away?

Yes. False beliefs are destroyed by spiritual Truth, through prayer, regardless of the geographical location of the person who entertains such false beliefs. Jesus healed the Centurion's servant (Matthew 8:5-13) and the daughter of the Greek woman (Mark 7:25-30) while not physically present with them.

Do Christian Scientists deny that some diseases are caused by germs, microbes and viruses?

The Christian Scientist knows that life is divine in origin and that health is a spiritual reality.

Theories about germs and microbes come from beliefs which hold that life is material and that disease is real.

The Christian Scientist knows by experience that his belief is demonstrable despite theories of disease involving germs, microbes and viruses.

How can Christian Science maintain its attitude to disease in view of modern medical knowledge?

The Christian Scientist's attitude to disease is supported by reason and by actual demonstration. Christ Jesus demonstrated, as did his followers, what healing and health really mean. Christian Scientists maintain their faith by spiritual intuition and by the proofs they are able to accumulate in their own experience.

Let us remember that the conclusions of material medicine are constantly changing. Recently, the "wonder drugs" penicillin, aureomycin) were acclaimed almost as panaceas; yet later, their efficacy had to be qualified. Strict warnings had to be issued against too much trust in them. There are countless instances of this kind.

Christian Scientists hold that sickness, sin and death are aspects of falsehood; and falsehood can be destroyed by exposing it to spiritual Truth. Christian Scientists feel they have incontestable evidence that in this way their religion destroys, effectively and permanently, the hatreds, doubts, lusts and other discords of the human mind and body.

The objective of Christian Science is not primarily to heal physical disease—but to regenerate human thought through spiritual understanding. Healing is the effect of attaining this regeneration in some degree.

The achievements of medical research do not present any problem to the Christian Scientists, for the results of such research in no way affect the substance and permanency of spiritual Truth.

Do Christian Scientists go to hospitals?

The teaching and faith of Christian Science basically reject medical treatment. To the extent that a man or woman relies on material methods of healing, he or she is not relying fully on Christian Science.

Do Christian Scientists refuse medical attention when their own children are sick?

Christian Scientists love their children as deeply as other parents. When their children are ill, they want them to have the most effective and reliable help. They employ the method of Christian Science — prayer, or spiritual understanding — fearlessly and with complete confidence, because they have reason to know that Christian Science is efficacious. (No one is forced to rely on Christian Science against what he may regard as his own good judgment.)

Christian Scientists in many schools and colleges ask for and receive exemption from regulations requiring medical means—yet their health is as good as that of the rest of the student body, and is often better.

The Christian Scientist knows that he takes good care of his children in one particular way: he prays earnestly for himself and his children every day. He prays not only for their health, but for their spiritual progress.

Do Christian Scientists call in a doctor at childbirth?

Yes. The Christian Scientist makes sure that someone who possesses the necessary skills is present at childbirth. The Christian Scientist does not presume to do what he is neither trained nor licensed to do.

Have not Christian Scientists died because they refused medical attention, or relied entirely on faith and prayer, or called in a doctor too late?

One might as readily ask, without intending to give offense, "Have not many persons died because they refused the spiritual method of Christian Science, and relied entirely on material aid?"

No statistics prove that the healing methods of material medicine are superior to those of Christian Science.

We do know that thousands of men and women who were pronounced "incurable," and who spent years in invalidism and suffering, turned to Christian Science and were healed. Such persons are numerous among the members of the Christian Science church.

Efforts to understand and apply any rule may appear more successful in some instances than in others. The failure to bring certain facts to light does not alter the verity of the facts themselves. The laws of mathematics, for instance, may fail to reveal a correct answer when improperly applied; indeed, many sciences fail to reveal certain answers even when properly applied.

One does not judge the medical profession by the cases it loses, nor by the overcrowded hospitals and graveyards. May not Christian Science ask that it be judged by its potentialities for good and its achievement in canceling the sense of disease, in erasing sin (and the penalties for sin) from the experience of innumerable persons?

Do Christian Scientists refuse medical attention in the case of fractures or accidents?

There are innumerable instances of bone fractures which have been set and healed perfectly under Christian Science treatment—without medical or surgical aid. Results depend upon honest effort, correct understanding and constancy in Christian Science practice.

A Christian Scientist does not surrender his status as a free man or woman under God. He works out his own salvation by following the course which wisdom dictates to him.

If the Christian Scientist has not reached the degree of spiritual understanding which is needed for healing by spiritual means and resorts to some other means, he obviously cannot be said to be employing fully the method of Christian Science.

He does not undergo condemnation for this; nor does he assume any burden or guilt. He is always free to improve his spiritual understanding and employ it exclusively, thus restoring his status as a Christian Scientist.

If God is infinite and good, how does evil exist?

Evil is hypnotic. It has no more reality than a dream—yet to the dreamer it appears real. The nothingness of evil—and of that which sees, feels or believes in evil—is proved through spiritual awakening.

Does Christian Science believe in sin?

Man is really sinless and free. Sin is the belief in the real existence of a mind or minds other than the divine Mind, God. Mortal mind, which believes in decaying and dying, is the sinner. St. Paul called it the "carnal" mind. If a person accepts the carnal mind, its sins will appear to be his sins, and its sufferings his suffering.

Christian Scientists rid themselves of sin by breaking the false notion that the carnal mind is real or one's own. Penalty for sin lasts only as long as such false belief lasts. The Christian Scientist tries to live so that the Divine Mind is revealed as his mind.

Christian Scientists hold that sin is unreal. But this does not mean that one can sin with impunity. The sinner does not know that sin is unreal; if he did, this would destroy his capacity for sinning.

Do Christian Scientists believe in heaven or hell?

Yes—but not in a geographical sense. As Mrs. Eddy said, "The sinner makes his own hell by doing evil, and the saint his own heaven by doing right."

Why don't Christian Scientists use the word "death" or the word "died?"

They do use both words. The words appear in Christian Science periodicals where the context requires them.

But the term "passed on" is considered more exact by Christian Scientists, who accept literally the fact that individual life is indestructible. We believe that what is called "death" is

K of C Radio Programs

The Sacred Heart program will be heard during the coming week over WKNY weekdays at 6 a. m. and over WHUC (1230 on the dial) weekdays at 10:45 a. m. and Sunday at 12:15 p. m. The Ave Maria hour will present over WKNY Sunday at 10:30 a. m. the story of St. Monica, mother of St. Augustine. According to the Franciscan Friars of the Atonement, producers of the program, Monica was constantly rebuffed by her son Augustine, in her efforts to have him renounce paganism and become a Christian. This led Monica to bo more constant in her prayers and sacrifices for his conversion. When Augustine was 32 she received her reward; he was baptised a Christian. Augustine, later to become Bishop of Hippo and one of the leading doctors of the church, is regarded as one of the most outstanding intellects of history. The Catholic Hour will present over the NBC radio network on Sunday at 2 p. m. a program on nuclear physics. The WKNY broadcasts of the Sacred Heart program and Ave Maria hour are sponsored by Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus.

Religious Radio Programs

Presented as a public service over Station WKNY, in cooperation with the Kingston Ministerial Association, the following programs of Christian faith and life will be broadcast during the coming week: Sunday, at 8:30 a. m., "Let There Be Light," a transcribed production of the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA; from 8:45 to 9 p. m., Church World News, a weekly review of events in religion around the world, sponsored by the United Protestant Men's Clubs of Kingston. Each day, except Sunday, at 8:50 a. m., morning chapel, to be conducted by the following ministers as indicated: Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, the Rev. Harry I. Christiana, pastor of the Port Ewen and Ulster Park Reformed Churches; Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, the Rev. William Howard Jewett, associate minister of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

He Should Know

Watervliet, Mich. (AP)—Dwight Brink, 35, Michigan's Rural School Teacher of the Year, debunks the idea that some children don't like school. "There is no child who doesn't want to attend school," he says, "if the school is run with the child in mind." Brink teaches all eight grades in his 35-pupil school.

Lecturer and former manager of the Committee on Publications of the Christian Science Church

What is a Christian Scientist?

A Christian Scientist is one who accepts and practices Christian Science as his religion. Christian Science has been defined by its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy: "As the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony."

Why do you consider it Christian?

Because it is based wholly on the teachings of Christ Jesus which make clear the spiritual meaning of the Holy Scriptures. It requires its adherents to be active in obeying all the commandments of Jesus, including healing the sick.

Why do you consider it scientific?

Because it is exact in premise and conclusion and is completely demonstrable.

What is the basic premise of Christian Science?

That God is divine Mind, the conceiver of man and the universe, and Mind is all that exists. Mind expresses itself and its expression is man.

Spirit is eternal and real; matter is an unreal illusion subject to decay and dissolution.

Evil has to do with matter—therefore evil is unreal, an illusion. Spirit and its expression, man, are indestructible. Death is an illusion of mortal sense, which may continue to appear until destroyed by spiritual sense, either on this or the other side of the grave. The individual continues to live even though unseen by persons on our plane of existence.

What is the relation of man to God?

Man and the universal are made in the image and likeness of the divine Mind, God, which conceives them. Mind is synonymous with Spirit, Soul, Life, Truth, Love, Principle (which means cause or origin).

Man, the idea and image of God, is immortal, perfect, wholly good, untouched and untainted by evil because man expresses God.

What is health to the Christian Scientist?

Health is a spiritual reality; therefore health is eternal. Disease and illness are aspects of falsehood—delusions of the human mind which can be destroyed by the prayer of spiritual understanding. The divinely mental can and does replace the materially mental.

Who was Mary Baker Eddy?

Mary Baker Eddy (1821-1910) was the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. She is regarded by Christian Scientists as the revelator of Truth to this age. She brought the Comforter that Jesus foretold. This Comforter is the Science of Christianity and is available, through Mrs. Eddy's achievements, to all who desire to utilize God's power and God's law as Jesus did.

Each person, of any religion, can find what is satisfying to him as the spiritual meaning in the Bible. But Christian Scientists feel that Mrs. Eddy's book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," offers the complete spiritual meaning of the Bible. They believe that this full meaning would not have been available to them without Mrs. Eddy's discovery.

Do Christian Scientists consider themselves Protestants?

Yes. Christian Science is a truly Protestant religion, although it embodies several distinguishing characteristics:

Christian Science holds that good is infinite, that sin, death and disease are unreal and that evil is a delusion.

Christian Science maintains that healing is a religious function.

Christian Science has no ordained clergy or personal pastors. Though Christian Scientists know the pure consecration of Christian martyrs, martyrdom has no place in Christian Science. The Christian Scientist does not die for his religion; he lives in it.

There is no personal preacher in a Christion Science service. The Bible in the King James version and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Eddy, are the only "pastors" of the denomination. Texts are read aloud from these books by a first and second reader.

Prayer, to the Christian Scientist, is scientific and achieves healing: Christians who understand such prayer are equipped to fulfill the promise of the Master Christian: "In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover" (Mark 16: 17-18).

Christian Scientists do not practice baptism in the material form; to Christian Scientists baptism means purification from all material sense.

Salvation, to Christian Scientists, consists of being saved from the illusions and delusions of mortal sense—which means the sense of being capable of becoming sick and dying.

Protestantism, it should be remembered, began as a protest against certain organization or forms of worship. Christian Science also protests—against mortal sense.

What do Christian Scientists believe about Jesus?

Christian Science accepts the divinity of Christ, but does not deify Jesus—which means that to Christian Scientists, Christ Jesus was not God, but was the Son of God. The true mission of Christ Jesus was to redeem mankind from the beliefs of mortality by showing that man in his real nature is spiritual. Man is not God, but bears witness to God's presence.

The healings of Christ Jesus are regarded by Christian Scientists not as miracles, but as the result of the application of natural spiritual law.

Christian Science completely accepts the Virgin birth.

By the Trinity, Christian Scientists mean the unity of Father, Son and Holy Spirit—but do not accept the Trinity as three persons in one. Life, Truth and Love are "the triune Principle called God" (Science and Health).

What role does prayer play in Christian Science?

An all-important role. To the Christian Scientist, living is basically praying. "Men ought always to pray:" (Luke, 18:1). The understanding of God is reached through praying. The true Christian Scientist applies his thought in an effort to attain perfect praying. Real devotion and experience are needed to pray the perfect prayer.

A Christian Scientist may not always pray perfectly. The efficacy of his prayer reflects the degree of his own spiritual understanding. If he has attained high spiritual understanding and if he applies his understanding honestly and with devotion, results may follow which seem miraculous to others.

Healing is accomplished by spiritual understanding. Christian Science distinguishes faith from understanding: Faith means acceptance before proof. Through faith, degrees of evidence appear which serve to lift faith into spiritual understanding.

What is a Christian Science practitioner?

A practitioner is one who prays for those who ask his prayers in their behalf.

To be registered as a public practitioner, one must be approved by the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ in Boston, Mass. To be a practitioner requires systematic instruction, either self-acquired or under authorized teachers, and satisfactory evidence of successful healing work. Candidates must demonstrate a capacity to apply spiritual understanding to the destruction of human ills and discords.

Can a practitioner treat a patient hundreds of miles away?

Yes. False beliefs are destroyed by spiritual Truth, through prayer, regardless of the geographical location of the person who entertains such false beliefs. Jesus healed the Centurion's servant (Matthew 8:5-13) and the daughter of the Greek woman (Mark 7:25-30) while not physically present with them.

Do Christian Scientists deny that some diseases are caused by germs, microbes and viruses?

The Christian Scientist knows that life is divine in origin and that health is a spiritual reality.

Theories about germs and microbes come from beliefs which hold that life is material and that disease is real.

The Christian Scientist knows by experience that his belief is demonstrable despite theories of disease involving germs, microbes and viruses.

How can Christian Science maintain its attitude to disease in view of modern medical knowledge?

The Christian Scientist's attitude to disease is supported by reason and by actual demonstration. Christ Jesus demonstrated, as did his followers, what healing and health really mean. Christian Scientists maintain their faith by spiritual intuition and by the proofs they are able to accumulate in their own experience.

Let us remember that the conclusions of material medicine are constantly changing. Recently, the "wonder drugs" penicillin, aureomycin) were acclaimed almost as panaceas; yet later, their efficacy had to be qualified. Strict warnings had to be issued against too much trust in them. There are countless instances of this kind.

Christian Scientists hold that sickness, sin and death are aspects of falsehood; and falsehood can be destroyed by exposing it to spiritual Truth. Christian Scientists feel they have incontestable evidence that in this way their religion destroys, effectively and permanently, the hatreds, doubts, lusts and other discords of the human mind and body.

The objective of Christian Science is not primarily to heal physical disease—but to regenerate human thought through spiritual understanding. Healing is the effect of attaining this regeneration in some degree.

The achievements of medical research do not present any problem to the Christian Scientists, for the results of such research in no way affect the substance and permanency of spiritual Truth.

Do Christian Scientists go to hospitals?

The teaching and faith of Christian Science basically reject medical treatment. To the extent that a man or woman relies on material methods of healing, he or she is not relying fully on Christian Science.

Do Christian Scientists refuse medical attention when their own children are sick?

Christian Scientists love their children as deeply as other parents. When their children are ill, they want them to have the most effective and reliable help. They employ the method of Christian Science — prayer, or spiritual understanding — fearlessly and with complete confidence, because they have reason to know that Christian Science is efficacious. (No one is forced to rely on Christian Science against what he may regard as his own good judgment.)

Christian Scientists in many schools and colleges ask for and receive exemption from regulations requiring medical means—yet their health is as good as that of the rest of the student body, and is often better.

The Christian Scientist knows that he takes good care of his children in one particular way: he prays earnestly for himself and his children every day. He prays not only for their health, but for their spiritual progress.

Do Christian Scientists call in a doctor at childbirth?

Yes. The Christian Scientist makes sure that someone who possesses the necessary skills is present at childbirth. The Christian Scientist does not presume to do what he is neither trained nor licensed to do.

Have not Christian Scientists died because they refused medical attention, or relied entirely on faith and prayer, or called in a doctor too late?

One might as readily ask, without intending to give offense, "Have not many persons died because they refused the spiritual method of Christian Science, and relied entirely on material aid?"

No statistics prove that the healing methods of material medicine are superior to those of Christian Science.

We do know that thousands of men and women who were pronounced "incurable," and who spent years in invalidism and suffering, turned to Christian Science and were healed. Such persons are numerous among the members of the Christian Science church.

Efforts to understand and apply any rule may appear more successful in some instances than in others. The failure to bring certain facts to light does not alter the verity of the facts themselves. The laws of mathematics, for instance, may fail to reveal a correct answer when improperly applied; indeed, many sciences fail to reveal certain answers even when properly applied.

One does not judge the medical profession by the cases it loses, nor by the overcrowded hospitals and graveyards. May not Christian Science ask that it be judged by its potentialities for good and its achievement in canceling the sense of disease, in erasing sin (and the penalties for sin) from the experience of innumerable persons?

Do Christian Scientists refuse medical attention in the case of fractures or accidents?

There are innumerable instances of bone fractures which have been set and healed perfectly under Christian Science treatment—without medical or surgical aid. Results depend upon honest effort, correct understanding and constancy in Christian Science practice.

A Christian Scientist does not surrender his status as a free man or woman under God. He works out his own salvation by following the course which wisdom dictates to him.

If the Christian Scientist has not reached the degree of spiritual understanding which is needed for healing by spiritual means and resorts to some other means, he obviously cannot be said to be employing fully the method of Christian Science.

He does not undergo condemnation for this; nor does he assume any burden or guilt. He is always free to improve his spiritual understanding and employ it exclusively, thus restoring his status as a Christian Scientist.

If God is infinite and good, how does evil exist?

Evil is hypnotic. It has no more reality than a dream—yet to the dreamer it appears real. The nothingness of evil—and of that which sees, feels or believes in evil—is proved through spiritual awakening.

Does Christian Science believe in sin?

Man is really sinless and free. Sin is the belief in the real esistence of a mind or minds other than the divine Mind, God. Mortal mind, which believes in decaying and dying, is the sinner. St. Paul called it the "carnal" mind. If a person accepts the carnal mind, its sins will appear to be his sins, and its sufferings his suffering.

Christian Scientists rid themselves of sin by breaking the false notion that the carnal mind is real or one's own. Penalty for sin lasts only as long as such false belief lasts. The Christian Scientist tries to live so that the Divine Mind is revealed as his mind.

Christian Scientists hold that sin is unreal. But this does not mean that one can sin with impunity. The sinner does not know that sin is unreal; if he did, this would destroy his capacity for sinning.

Do Christian Scientists believe in heaven or hell?

Yes—but not in a geographical sense. As Mrs. Eddy said, "The sinner makes his own hell by doing evil, and the saint his own heaven by doing right."

Why don't Christian Scientists use the word "death" or the word "died?"

They do use both words. The words appear in Christian Science periodicals where the context requires them.

But the term "passed on" is considered more exact by Christian Scientists, who accept literally the fact that individual life is indestructible. We believe that what is called "death" is not termination, but only an incident in the dream of mortality, an experience of mortal mind, not the divine Mind.

Does Christian Science maintain that death itself can be eliminated?

Yes. The Christian Scientist believes that material decay and destruction can be stopped by the full realization of divine Truth. Through progressive improvement of one's spiritual understanding which alleviates the circumstances of death, the ultimate elimination of death itself can be achieved. In this way, true immortality can be realized.

Do Christian Scientists hold funeral services?

It is perfectly proper for the family to engage a Christian Scientist to read passages from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook. These passages are intended to remind the hearers that Life, God and man (who is the individual expression of Life) are eternal. It is also proper to have no reading at all.

What is the attitude of Christian Science toward birth control?

There is a whole chapter on marriage in Mrs. Eddy's book, in which this statement occurs ("Science and Health," p. 56:7-8): "Marriage is the legal and moral provision for generation among human kind."

Mrs. Eddy explains that marriage will continue subject to moral regulations needed to secure increasing virtue until mankind attains the spiritual understanding which discerns the perfect spiritual creation, untainted by matter.

In accordance with this teaching, married couples are free to follow their own judgment as to having children and as to the number they will have.

Do Christian Scientists oppose vaccination?

Christian Scientists do not oppose vaccination for those who want it and believe in it. They do oppose compulsory vaccination for Christian Scientists—as a trespass upon their religious convictions.

Mrs. Eddy specifically instructed Christian Scientists to obey the law, but to seek legal exemption from those laws which violate their religious rights or the rights of conscience. To exempt Christian Scientists from vaccination does no harm to others—especially if vaccination is as effective as it is claimed to be for those who believe in it.

Incidentlly, Christian Scientists and their children obey all quarantine regulations because they don't want their neighbors to become fearful of their safety because Christian Scientists refrain from material methods.

Why do Christian Science students request exemptions from certain examinations—in bacteriology, for instance?

The only instruction to which Christian Scientists object is that which tends to set up the method of material medicine as the only healing method or system. Christian Scientists object to picturing the processes of disease in ways which visualize the terror which begets disease. They also object to compulsory medical regulations because, in effect, such regulations constitute indoctrination which may undermine the religious teaching of the home.

Would Christian Scientists abolish sanitation and public-health measures?

No. Christian Scientists advocate sanitation because they love cleanliness—inner and outer. They respect the right of the community to take such measures as the community considers essential—so long as these measures do not impose compulsory medication on those who practice their own spiritual method of healing.

Incidentally, Christian Scientists feel that reliance on spiritual means alone, to safeguard public health, is wise only in proportion to the spiritual understanding of health among the people in the area involved.

What is the attitude of Christian Science toward psychiatry and psychoanalysis?

There is no similarity between medical psychiatry and Christian Science. Christian Science is religion. It treats all ills by prayer. As Mrs. Eddy said: "To heal . . . is to base your practice on immortal Mind, the divine Principle of man's being; and this reqquires a preparation of the heart and an answer of the lips from the Lord."

Psychiatrists and psychoanalysts investigate the human mind; Christian Science is based on the understanding of the divine Mind. Our faith is devoted to the destruction of the false notions of the human mind by exposing them to the spiritual idea of Truth. The divine Mind is the only permanent and real remedy for any ill.

What is the attitude of Christian Science toward other religions?

The Christian Scientist does not feel superior to the adherents of any denomination. Every man is free to demonstrate the efficacy of his own faith; each is entitled to encouragement in his pursuit of spiritual objectives. Mrs. Eddy said: "A genuine Christian Scientist loves Protestant and Catholic, D.D. and M.D. —love all who love God, good; and he loves his enemies."

Next Installment—What is a Baptist? What are the distinctive characteristics of the Baptist faith? Why do they prefer to be called a denomination instead of a church? Do they accept the literal interpretation of the Bible? Why do they baptize only by immersion? Why don't they baptize infants?

PRONOUNCING FAMILY NAME

A sister writes: "My youngest brother was married recently and his wife pronounces our family name (her new name) differently than we do. When pronounced correctly it sounds foreign (which it is) but she has anglicized it. I, as well as the rest of my family resent this very much and feel that she is ashamed of the name. I am married and no longer carry this name, but am still proud of it. When introducing this sister-in-law to strangers, must I introduce her by the name she calls herself and thereby mispronounce my family name, or do I pronounce it correctly? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Very definitely you should pronounce it correctly.

Opening Chiropractor Office

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband will be starting his professional career as a chiropractor very soon. We wish to send out announcements to relatives, friends and acquaintances, and would like to know just how to word them. Will you please help us?

Answer: Dr. So and So has taken offices at such and such a place and will receive patients between such and such hours.

Leaving Table

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening the young lady who was dining with me in a restaurant had to leave the room to telephone and I merely stood up until she had left the table. Afterwards a remark she made was pointed enough to tell me that she would have expected a gentleman to walk out of the dining room with her.

Answer: What you did was quite right. To have gone out with her and then back again with her would have been unnecessarily conspicuous.

Births

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

July 16—Sherri Ann to Mr. and Mrs. Carl John Knudsen, 115 Fairmont avenue; John Collin to Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Wojcio, 18 DuBois street; Kenneth Henry, Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Hasbrouck, New Paltz, and Liza Angelic to Mr. and Mrs. Vincent James Carpino, East Kingston.

July 17—Timothy Lynn to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Emanuel Olson, Katsbaan.

July 18—Diane Lynn to Mr. and Mrs. Alton K. Krom, 4 Terrace Lane, Hurley; William Chester to Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkins, Colonial Gardens; Thomas Grant to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Albert Kelly, 30 James street, Rosendale, and Marci Sue to Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Goldberg, 35 Miller's Lane.

Formal evening gowns from the Paris and New York collections of top designers show the ensemble look, the very formal look, the sheath look. Ensemble (left) by Pierre Balmain is in white orlon silk satin. Slim gown is worn with matching three-quarter length wrap coat lined in pale blue. Half-belt on coat is placed so low at back it's nearly at the hemline. Ceil Chapman's formal ball gown (center) is white, is in the same fabric. It takes its drama from an intricately-draped hipline. Draping is continued through bustline. Slim and slinky formal gown by Balmain (right) in orlon silk satin is worn with enormous stole that's embroidered in gold roses and brilliants. This is in white, too. —By Gaile Dugas, NEA Women's Editor.

The transitional cotton fills a big wardrobe gap in midsummer. Styled with three-quarter or elbow-length sleeves and in stripes and plaids suggestive of fall, it keeps the wearer feeling cool and looking up-to-the-minute. Shadow stripe by Helen Whiting (left) is in blue with muted stripe in royal blue. Back is shirred from a pretty yoke. Another stripe by this same designer (center) in yellow and gray has fine front and cuff detailing, is lighted by tiny rhinestones caught in the minute ruffles. Black Watch plaid (right) has nylon velvet trim, tiny white collar.—By Gaile Dugas, NEA Women's Editor.

The Mature Parent

How an 8-Year-Old Boy Opened Up His Dad's Eyes

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Scene: My workroom. I'm at my typewriter when the telephone rings. Lifting it, I am greeted by the voice of Alan, a young father we know.

Alan: Am I interrupting?

I: It's all right. How are Jane and Butch?

Alan: Fine. Me. I'm a little worried about something that's come up with Butch.

I: About school?

Alan: No—about Butch and me. It happened the other night. When I got home, Jane told me some home-town friends of hers were here for a convention and were dropping in for coffee after dinner. I blew up. I felt I couldn't survive an evening of anybody's high school reminiscences. But after a shower, things looked different. These people came—and my son told one of the women what I'd said.

I: Tattled on you, eh?

Alan: Butch betrayed me—that's what he did. I overheard him telling one of the women all about how Daddy had wished his mother's home-town friends would stay home.

I: You did wish that.

Alan: Holy Cow, what reason is that for a kid to broadcast his family's private business?

I: What did you do about it?

Alan: I told Butch that I had lost trust in him. He's barely spoken to me for two days. Last night, Jane spoke to him about his stubborn attitude—and what do you think he said? He admitted he'd wanted to hurt me. I was getting paid back. It seems that he was pretty bitter at me for not taking him to the zoo last Sunday.

I: Why didn't Butch tell you how angry he was about the zoo last Sunday?

Alan (after a long pause): Are you telling me that he didn't trust me enough to blow up to my face about it?

I: I've told you nothing. You know it, yourself.

Alan (slowly): OK. I guess that's it. If Butch had felt free to attack me to my face, he might not have complained about me behind my back. I see. That opens this thing up. I'll have a talk with him.

I: Isn't it wonderful what an eight-year-old boy can do for a father by keeping him upset for two days?

Alan: M-mm. He started to fuss about that zoo business last Sunday—and I shut him up. Man, I'm glad I called you. Thanks.

Boy Scout News

Cub Scouts of Pack 9, Redeemer Lutheran Church, continued to study their state last Sunday afternoon on an outing to one of the oldest and largest museums in the country, the New York State Museum at Albany.

The cubs, as well as accompanying adults, were impressed by life-like Indian groups depicting the culture of the Iroquois from pre-historic times to the late colonial period, the hall of history with relics from the early Dutch settlers, the various displays of fossil plants, prehistoric animals, rock and mineral resources, and the collection of living or recently extinct birds and animals of New York.

THE SCOUTS, who have been visiting historic sites in connection with the Cubbing theme for July, "Discovering America," also returned home filled with information about their state capitol, the thruway, and the present accomplishments of the Empire State.

During the rest of the summer, the cubs will continue their visits to famous places with their dens and families which will include the old stone houses at Hurley and New Paltz, Rip's Retreat, and recreational areas in the Catskills.

Father Sieczek Honored on His 10th Year Here

Aa a social program in White Eagle Hall, this week, the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek was praised by clergymen and laymen as a fine spiritual leader on the occasion of his 10th anniversary as pastor of Immaculate Conception Church.

The hall on Delaware avenue was filled to capacity with his parishioners and friends, including visiting priests and civic leaders, including State Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Mayor Frederick H. Stang.

DURING the testimonial dinner, speakers praised Father Sieczek for the work he has done among his congregation during the past 10 years and stressed the many friendships he has made among people of all faiths in the community.

His vital interest in the parochial school was cited and mention was made of the excellent educational advantages offered pupils, who attend it.

Father Sieczek thanked his parishioners and societies for their excellent cooperation during his pastorate.

CLERGYMEN attending the occasion were the Rt. Rev. Vincent Raith, Yonkers; the Rev. Thaddeus Kaminski, Poughkeepsie; the Rev. A. Butkowski, Poughkeepsie; the Rev. John Felczak, Pine Island; the Rev. Michael Kowalczyk, Port Chester; the Rev. Sigismund Olszewski, Cohoes, who was toastmaster for the testimonial dinner; the Rev. L. Makulec, New York city.

Besides Senator Wicks and Mayor Stang, others at the speakers' table were Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly and Fire Chief James Brett.

TRIBUTES and gifts were presented by Miss Mary Rylewicz of the Rosary Society; Paul Sepesy, Holy Name Society; Valentine Skop, Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Society; Miss Elaine Stepski, Children of Mary and Mrs. Carmine DeCicco, Mothers Club.

Greetings and felicitations from Immaculate Conception School children were expressed by Terrence Gill, Patricia Sweeney and Carl Janasiewicz.

The program was opened by singing the National Anthem by Immaculate Conception choir, accompanied by Miss Frances Turck. Miss Eileen Reis sang "Our Father" during the program, which was opened by introductory remarks by the testimonial chairman, Stanislaus Janeczek.

Sunday morning, Father Sieczek was celebrant of a high Mass in the church, which was attended by the visiting clergymen, the congregation and friends of the jubilarian.

Religions of

not termination, but only an incident in the dream of mortality, an experience of mortal mind, not the divine Mind.

Does Christian Science maintain that death itself can be eliminated?

Yes. The Christian Scientist believes that material decay and destruction can be stopped by the full realization of divine Truth. Through progressive improvement of one's spiritual understanding which alleviates the circumstances of death, the ultimate elimination of death itself can be achieved. In this way, true immortality can be realized.

Do Christian Scientists hold funeral services?

It is perfectly proper for the family to engage a Christian Scientist to read passages from the Bible and from the Christian Science textbook. These passages are intended to remind the hearers that Life, God and man (who is the individual expression of Life) are eternal. It is also proper to have no reading at all.

What is the attitude of Christian Science toward birth control?

There is a whole chapter on marriage in Mrs. Eddy's book, in which this statement occurs ("Science and Health," p. 56:7-8): "Marriage is the legal and moral provision for generation among human kind."

Mrs. Eddy explains that marriage will continue subject to moral regulations needed to secure increasing virtue until mankind attains the spiritual understanding which discerns the perfect spiritual creation, untainted by matter.

In accordance with this teaching, married couples are free to follow their own judgment as to having children and as to the number they will have.

Do Christian Scientists oppose vaccination?

Christian Scientists do not oppose vaccination for those who want it and believe in it. They do oppose compulsory vaccination for Christian Scientists—as a trespass upon their religious convictions.

Mrs. Eddy specifically instructed Christian Scientists to obey the law, but to seek legal exemption from those laws which violate their religious rights or the rights of conscience. To exempt Christian Scientists from vaccination does no harm to others—especially if vaccination is as effective as it is claimed to be for those who believe in it.

Incidentlly, Christian Scientists and their children obey all quarantine regulations because they don't want their neighbors to become fearful of their safety because Christian Scientists refrain from material methods.

Why do Christian Science students request exemptions from certain examinations—in bacteriology, for instance?

The only instruction to which Christian Scientists object is that which tends to set up the method of material medicine as the only healing method or system. Christian Scientists object to picturing the processes of disease in ways which visualize the terror which begets disease. They also object to compulsory medical regulations because, in effect, such regulations constitute indoctrination which may undermine the religious teaching of the home.

Would Christian Scientists abolish sanitation and public-health measures?

No. Christian Scientists advocate sanitation because they love cleanliness—inner and outer. They respect the right of the community to take such measures as the community considers essential—so long as these measures do not impose compulsory medication on those who practice their own spiritual method of healing.

Incidentally, Christian Scientists feel that reliance on spiritual means alone, to safeguard public health, is wise only in proportion to the spiritual understanding of health among the people in the area involved.

What is the attitude of Christian Science toward psychiatry and psychoanalysis?

There is no similarity between medical psychiatry and Christian Science. Christian Science is religion. It treats all ills by prayer. As Mrs. Eddy said: "To heal . . . is to base your practice on immortal Mind, the divine Principle of man's being; and this reqquires a preparation of the heart and an answer of the lips from the Lord."

Psychiatrists and psychoanalysts investigate the human mind; Christian Science is based on the understanding of the divine Mind. Our faith is devoted to the destruction of the false notions of the human mind by exposing them to the spiritual idea of Truth. The divine Mind is the only permanent and real remedy for any ill.

What is the attitude of Christian Science toward other religions?

The Christian Scientist does not feel superior to the adherents of any denomination. Every man is free to demonstrate the efficacy of his own faith; each is entitled to encouragement in his pursuit of spiritual objectives. Mrs. Eddy said: "A genuine Christian Scientist loves Protestant and Catholic, D.D. and M.D. —love all who love God, good; and he loves his enemies."

Next Installment—What is a Baptist? What are the distinctive characteristics of the Baptist faith? Why do they prefer to be called a denomination instead of a church? Do they accept the literal interpretation of the Bible? Why do they baptize only by immersion? Why don't they baptize infants?

PRONOUNCING FAMILY NAME

A sister writes: "My youngest brother was married recently and his wife pronounces our family name (her new name) differently than we do. When pronounced correctly it sounds foreign (which it is) but she has anglicized it. I, as well as the rest of my family resent this very much and feel that she is ashamed of the name. I am married and no longer carry this name, but am still proud of it. When introducing this sister-in-law to strangers, must I introduce her by the name she calls herself and thereby mispronounce my family name, or do I pronounce it correctly? I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Very definitely you should pronounce it correctly.

Opening Chiropractor Office

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband will be starting his professional career as a chiropractor very soon. We wish to send out announcements to relatives, friends and acquaintances, and would like to know just how to word them. Will you please help us?

Answer: Dr. So and So has taken offices at such and such a place and will receive patients between such and such hours.

Leaving Table

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening the young lady who was dining with me in a restaurant had to leave the room to telephone and I merely stood up until she had left the table. Afterwards a remark she made was pointed enough to tell me that she would have expected a gentleman to walk out of the dining room with her.

Answer: What you did was quite right. To have gone out with her and then back again with her would have been unnecessarily conspicuous.

HELP HIM SAFELY HOME

There's a new idea in highway safety thinking.

Until now safety experts have concentrated pretty much on the individual driver. Take care of yourself. Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

Now there is a broader conception of the problem of accident prevention. With traffic thickening every year, creating new hazards and lifting accident totals to new highs on weekends and holidays, safety men are developing a new thought.

Briefly it's this: Be your brother's keeper.

In other words, to save your life you not only must improve your own driving methods, sharpen your own driving skill, increase your own caution and consideration.

You must find some way to spread these plus factors of highway living to other drivers. How can this be done?

Well, one simple suggestion is this: Be more sportsmanlike in your driving. Bad manners and bad sportsmanship breed bad manners and bad sportsmanship in other drivers. You cut in on the other fellow and how often he spurts ahead trying to cut in on you and get even.

But the corollary of this is that good manners and good sportsmanship often will breed similar attitudes in other drivers. Sometime when a driver has gotten himself in an exposed position out of the traffic line, slow down and let him get back into line instead of stubbornly keeping your nose perilously close to the bumper of the man ahead to shut him out.

Sure the guy had no business getting himself out there. But by saving him from the consequences of his folly you may cause him to think: pretty dumb of me—and how nice of that guy to let me get back in line where I belong! Another time he may think twice before getting himself into a dangerous spot or do a similar favor for another chance-taker.

Courtesy to pedestrians, to drivers trying to enter a line of traffic from the side or to switch lanes for a turnoff, creates a widening pool of good will which spreads and spreads.

Basically the man who has a license to drive should be tested for his feeling of responsibility to others. One of the top traffic officials of a big city recently made a survey of more than 30,000 accidents during 1954.

His findings might surprise you. Most of the cars were not jallopies but vehicles one or two years old. Most of the drivers were "old hands," more than 60 per cent with physical defects which might have contributed to the accident.

But most of them—we hope this amazes you—had little or no feeling of responsibility for the accident they were involved in.

No responsibility! What an indictment of a man who has been licensed to conduct several tons of steel at lethal speed through street and highway!

How can this responsibility be created and fostered? Is it perhaps that the average citizen ought to get himself involved and participating in the organized highway safety movement? Such organizations as the National Safety Council are doing splendid work. But how much more effective it would be if the rank and file of drivers everywhere got in and pitched with the experts to make America a better—and more likely—place to live.

The trouble with the seasons is that the wrong things happen in them. Think how much more pleasant it would be if you could shovel that nice cool snow in the summer and do that hot job of cutting grass in the cool of winter.

Current events just don't seem to seep through to the girl in the office. She was disappointed to discover that Dixon and Yates didn't write musical comedies like those of Rodgers and Hammerstein.

The Army will soon open a television station on Okinawa for entertainment and training purposes. There should shortly be a completely new market in that part of the world for Davy Crockett caps.

UNITY OF THOUGHT

One would have thought that the United States, Great Britain and France had had ample time to work out a united front at Geneva. Surely, if these countries were to accomplish anything against the Soviet Universal State, they needed to show that their thought on international problems is both coherent and cohesive. In fact, that is what they went to Geneva to prove to the Russians.

So Sir Anthony Eden had a plan of his own and M. Faure had a plan of his own and President Eisenhower made a Seven Point Speech which is somewhat different from the ideas of Eden and Faure. That is what happened on the first day of the Conference and the chorus goes up, "Ain't peace wonderful!"

A year ago, The Economist," which is one of the most serious publications in England, published this paragraph anent the conference which was then taking place in Geneva:

"For the moment the most important thing is that British policy should be ready, in case of failure, to keep the initiative and the lead it has taken. . . ."

That is exactly what M. Faure tried to do. He tried to seize the initiative, but his difficulty is that he heads a country that possesses neither the military power nor economic position to support the initiative in international leadership. All that France can do is create a bad situation and then ask the United States to support it. This has been the most that France has done in many generations.

It was unfortunate that President Eisenhower could not have delivered a spech on behalf of the three nations, so that the Russians would know that they faced a united West. Of course, they, the Russians, know that there is no unity in the West; that free societies cannot be unified without losing their freedom. In fact, differences of opinion, freely expressed, are essential to the character of Western civilization. It is the essential contrast between freedom and autocracy.

As the Geneva Conference had to be, from its very nature, preliminary, it matters little what speeches the men at the Summit made, except that they set the tone. The actual negotiations will be done by experts, not by politicians who have to keep one eye on the ballot box at all times. M. Faure must watch his position in a country of such instability that no government long survives its decision. While Sir Anthony Eden has a longer tenure before him and a working majority in the House of Commons, he nevertheless has so long suffered from being what appeared to be the permanent second man to Winston Churchill that it is only to be expected that he will want to attitudinize somewhat. President Eisenhower has an election coming up in 1956.

The experts will treat the problems more objectively, if given half a chance by the politicians. They will come up with proposals that are practical. If only the United States, which must assume the greatest responsibility for the future, could negotiate with Soviet Russia directly, the likelihood would be a workable agreement for a period sufficiently long—say five or 10 years—to give both countries a breathing spell to find solutions for detailed problems.

Professor Hans J. Morgenthau, in his book, "Politics Among Nations," makes this point:

"The most formidable difficulty facing a scientific inquiry into the nature and ways of international politics is the ambiguity of the material with which the observer has to deal. The events which he must try to understand are, on the one hand, unique occurrences. They happened in this way only once and never before or since. On the other hand, they are similar, for they are manifestations of social forces. Social forces are the product of human nature in action. Therefore, under similar conditions, they will manifest themselves in a similar manner. But where is the line to be drawn between the similar and the unique?"

The expert knows this to be true. He also knows that every transaction is a bargain-counter operation, more like selling antiques at a fair than selling one-priced, standard brand articles in a department store. A deal can almost always be made, if both sides know why they want to make the deal. The United States may find some allies too heavy to carry along.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES

There are a few simple guides by which much eye trouble may be avoided if followed. Some suggestions are:

1. Give the eyes a chance to work whenever possible. That is, follow close work such as reading fine print or sewing with something which will necessitate the use of muscles for looking at a distance. Look out of the window occasionally when doing close work.

2. Do not work with the light directly in front of you or facing a window. Try to arrange it so that the light comes over the left shoulder.

3. Avoid direct sunlight on the eyes or reading in the sunlight.

4. Avoid working or reading in dim or flickering light.

A simple, though not exact, test to see if your eyes are normal is to pencil-draw lightly a half-dozen small squares exactly ⅜ of an inch each way and separated from one another by ⅜ inch, on a sheet of white paper. With heavy black ink put the letters D E C L P B within the squares, the outlines of the letters being not more than 1/16 inch wide. Rub out the pencilled squares. Step back 15 feet from the card which you have placed on eye level. Cover the right eye and try to read distinctly with the left eye. Reverse process. If you can read the letters clearly with each eye singly, then your eyesight is most likely all right.

Eye-strain is indicated by a heavy feeling of the lids, burning in the lids, whites bloodshot. It may be due to one or more of several causes—overuse of eyes, reading in a poor light, imprper balance of the eye muscles. Eye-strain is not uncommon after influenza and other ailments. Eye-strain may also be the cause of headaches over one or both eyes, dizziness, bilious attacks, stomach upset and sometimes even nausea and vomiting.

Tired eyes may be helped by the use of an eye-cup filled with a solution made by dissolving thoroughly a teaspoonful of boric acid crystals in a pint of boiling water. This is cooled and may be kept in a corked bottle for use when needed. Eye compresses of absorbent cotton soaked with witch hazel and held on by a loose bandage while you rest for 20 minutes is also helpful.

If you have any reason to suspect that your eyes are not functioning normally, by all means consult your physician. If there is no cause evident such as actual disease in the eyes or infection elsewhere in the body, he will advise you what further steps to take.

At our present stage of evolution, the replacement of lost vision is not easy and it is only common sense to take good care of your eyes and our eyesight which we are going to need throughout our entire life.

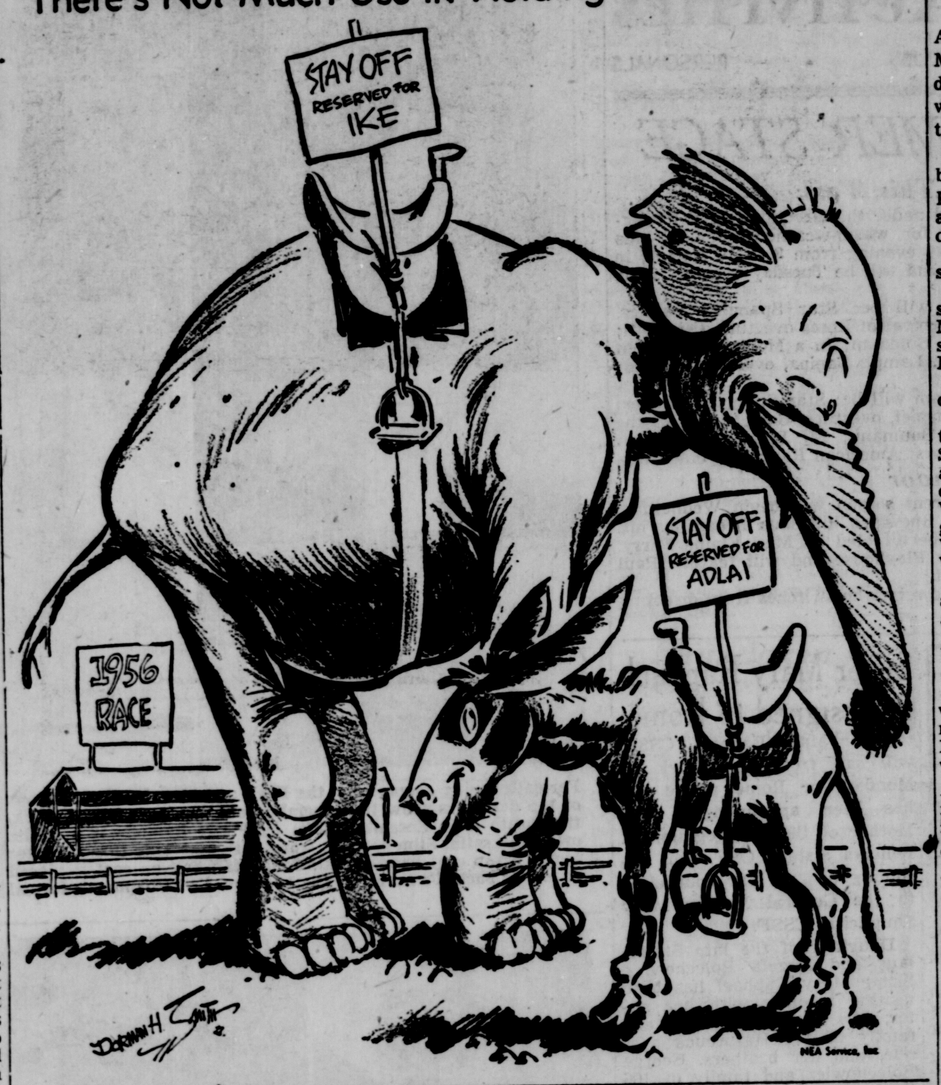
There's Not Much Use in Holding the Conventions



Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—Some of the business of the Republican convention in San Francisco next summer may be transacted in smoke-filled staterooms.

Len Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, is beginning to doubt whether the city's hotels can furnish enough rooms for the expected crowd of 40,000 persons. So he is negotiating to rent a luxury liner for the overflow.

A plush ship on the Hawaiian run, he figures, could house 500 persons and tie up at the dock not too far from downtown hotels.

One committee member has raised an objection to the idea, however. He suggests the temptation of cutting a couple of hawsers and setting a ship adrift in the bay to keep blocks of delegates from making a crucial vote.

DOES A TALL COOL ONE really cool you off? Or does it make you hotter?

That perennial hot-weather debate was raised at the Venezuelan embassy where guests were tossing down mint julips and gin-and-tonic to try to beat the 98 degree heat outside.

Hostess Senora Georgina C. de Gonzales, wife of the Ambassador, neatly dodged the issue by saying, "It's really the air conditioning that keeps you cool."

A more frank spokesman on the subject is Ed Trilling, one of the top caterers in town. He reports:

"No matter how you mix it, the more alcohol you take, the hotter you're going to get. Actually, the only thing that does any good is holding a cold glass. But to make the guests think they're getting chilled by drinking, we usually eliminate the martinis and Manhattans in summer and serve Tom Collins and gin-and-tonic instead. However, the veteran bourbon and scotch drinkers usually don't care what the weather is like."

REP. STUYVESANT WAINRIGHT (R.-N.Y.) and his pretty wife Nan have solved a minor household crisis. He's a fiend for barbecuing Long Island wild duck, but she has always objected on the ground that the cooking smells up the premises.

He's discovered, however, that by carefully plucking the duck and sprinkling it heavily with onion salt, the odor is reduced. Now Nan has retracted her objections.

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS handling arrangements for the "Summit" meeting in Geneva were delighted to hear that Mamie was going to accompany Ike. The wife of the top man at a conference can tend to a thousand details like laying out shirts when the Chief is scurrying between meetings and parties.

But Mamie won't have quite the number of chores which wives of delegates to conferences in Europe had just after the war when there were shortages of everything and not much heat.

Mrs. Tom Connally, wife of the former senator from Texas, and Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg, widow of the late senator from Michigan, used to do such things as wash out their husbands' longies on those post-war diplomatic trips. So did Mrs. Dean Acheson, wife of the former secretary of state.

WOES OF A bus strike: Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey was last to arrive at a cabinet meeting, perspiring and breathless. His car got caught in a hopeless traffic jam so he jumped out and loped six blocks to the White House, he explained to a grinning President.

The next day a cop at the corner of one of the busiest intersections was having enough trouble trying to handle swarms of cars full of government workers heading home. Adding to his problem was a fleet of official limousines double-parked in front of a movie theatre near the corner. Ike was inside with the White House staff watching Cinerama.

But the cop didn't mind the extra trouble. That morning Ike had gone out of his way to pat all D.C. policemen on the back for the swell job they were doing in the emergency.

ADM. LORENZO S. SABIN, new commandant of the Potomac River Naval Command, and hero of the evacuation of refugees from Indochina, is also on the ball when it comes to a social crisis.

The Cuban embassy had recruited the town's slickest debs for a big reception to welcome visiting midshipmen from the Cuban Naval Academy. Trouble was their ship tied up at Quantico, the lads didn't arrive for the party and a bunch of disappointed chicks were about to be stranded for the evening.

Quickly Adm. Sabin passed the word down to members of his staff, who were present, to move in fast and keep the young things danced and entertained. They responded to the chore with glee.

It saved the evening for the debs although a group of navy wives quietly concluded that the admiral ought to stick to evacuating refugees.

MANY NEW AMBASSADORS have been arriving in Washington lately including Saddigh Muntasser of Libia, Don Fernando Fournier of Costa Rica and Haydar Gork of Turkey. And they've all been startled by the informality and lack of ceremony when they make their official presentation of credentials to the President. In many capitals they make a big "do" out of the performance.

Most surprised was Ambassador Gork. When he was ushered into Ike's office the President stood up, grinned, pumped his hand and said, "Happy to have you here ambassador, come in and sit down."

President Eisenhower has an election coming up in 1956.

The experts will treat the problems more objectively, if given half a chance by the politicians. They will come up with proposals that are practical. If only the United States, which must assume the greatest responsibility for the future, could negotiate with Soviet Russia directly, the likelihood would be a workable agreement for a period sufficiently long—say five or 10 years—to give both countries a breathing spell to find solutions for detailed problems.

Professor Hans J. Morgenthau, in his book, "Politics Among Nations," makes this point:

"The most formidable difficulty facing a scientific inquiry into the nature and ways of international politics is the ambiguity of the material with which the observer has to deal. The events which he must try to understand are, on the one hand, unique occurrences. They happened in this way only once and never before or since. On the other hand, they are similar, for they are manifestations of social forces. Social forces are the product of human nature in action. Therefore, under similar conditions, they will manifest themselves in a similar manner. But where is the line to be drawn between the similar and the unique?"

The expert knows this to be true. He also knows that every transaction is a bargain-counter operation, more like selling antiques at a fair than selling one-priced, standard brand articles in a department store. A deal can almost always be made, if both sides know why they want to make the deal. The United States may find some allies too heavy to carry along.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES

There are a few simple guides by which much eye trouble may be avoided if followed. Some suggestions are:

1. Give the eyes a chance to work whenever possible. That is, follow close work such as reading fine print or sewing with something which will necessitate the use of muscles for looking at a distance. Look out of the window occasionally when doing close work.

2. Do not work with the light directly in front of you or facing a window. Try to arrange it so that the light comes over the left shoulder.

3. Avoid direct sunlight on the eyes or reading in the sunlight.

4. Avoid working or reading in dim or flickering light.

A simple, though not exact, test to see if your eyes are normal is to pencil-draw lightly a half-dozen small squares exactly ⅜ of an inch each way and separated from one another by ⅜ inch, on a sheet of white paper. With heavy black ink put the letters D E C L P B within the squares, the outlines of the letters being not more than 1/16 inch wide. Rub out the pencilled squares. Step back 15 feet from the card which you have placed on eye level. Cover the right eye and try to read distinctly with the left eye. Reverse process. If you can read the letters clearly with each eye singly, then your eyesight is most likely all right.

Eye-strain is indicated by a heavy feeling of the lids, burning in the lids, whites bloodshot. It may be due to one or more of several causes—overuse of eyes, reading in a poor light, imprper balance of the eye muscles. Eye-strain is not uncommon after influenza and other ailments. Eye-strain may also be the cause of headaches over one or both eyes, dizziness, bilious attacks, stomach upset and sometimes even nausea and vomiting.

Tired eyes may be helped by the use of an eye-cup filled with a solution made by dissolving thoroughly a teaspoonful of boric acid crystals in a pint of boiling water. This is cooled and may be kept in a corked bottle for use when needed. Eye compresses of absorbent cotton soaked with witch hazel and held on by a loose bandage while you rest for 20 minutes is also helpful.

If you have any reason to suspect that your eyes are not functioning normally, by all means consult your physician. If there is no cause evident such as actual disease in the eyes or infection elsewhere in the body, he will advise you what further steps to take.

At our present stage of evolution, the replacement of lost vision is not easy and it is only common sense to take good care of your eyes and our eyesight which we are going to need throughout our entire life.

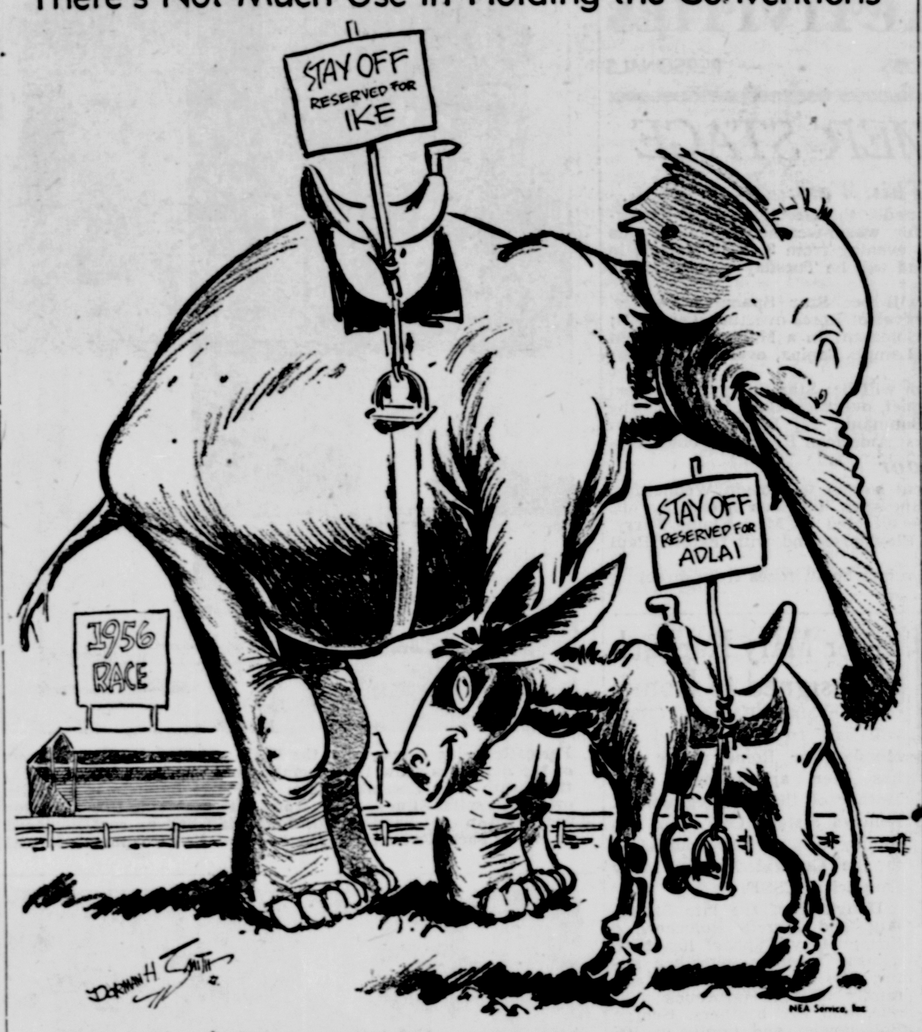
There's Not Much Use in Holding the Conventions



Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—Some of the business of the Republican convention in San Francisco next summer may be transacted in smoke-filled staterooms.

Len Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, is beginning to doubt whether the city's hotels can furnish enough rooms for the expected crowd of 40,000 persons. So he is negotiating to rent a luxury liner for the overflow.

A plush ship on the Hawaiian run, he figures, could house 500 persons and tie up at the dock not too far from downtown hotels.

One committee member has raised an objection to the idea, however. He suggests the temptation of cutting a couple of hawsers and setting a ship adrift in the bay to keep blocks of delegates from making a crucial vote.

DOES A TALL COOL ONE really cool you off? Or does it make you hotter?

That perennial hot-weather debate was raised at the Venezuelan embassy where guests were tossing down mint julips and gin-and-tonic to try to beat the 98 degree heat outside.

Hostess Senora Georgina C. de Gonzales, wife of the Ambassador, neatly dodged the issue by saying, "It's really the air conditioning that keeps you cool."

A more frank spokesman on the subject is Ed Trilling, one of the top caterers in town. He reports:

"No matter how you mix it, the more alcohol you take, the hotter you're going to get. Actually, the only thing that does any good is holding a cold glass. But to make the guests think they're getting chilled by drinking, we usually eliminate the martinis and Manhattans in summer and serve Tom Collins and gin-and-tonic instead. However, the veteran bourbon and scotch drinkers usually don't care what the weather is like."

REP. STUYVESANT WAINRIGHT (R.-N.Y.) and his pretty wife Nan have solved a minor household crisis. He's a fiend for barbecuing Long Island wild duck, but she has always objected on the ground that the cooking smells up the premises.

He's discovered, however, that by carefully plucking the duck and sprinkling it heavily with onion salt, the odor is reduced. Now Nan has retracted her objections.

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS handling arrangements for the "Summit" meeting in Geneva were delighted to hear that Mamie was going to accompany Ike. The wife of the top man at a conference can tend to a thousand details like laying out shirts when the Chief is scurrying between meetings and parties.

But Mamie won't have quite the number of chores which wives of delegates to conferences in Europe had just after the war when there were shortages of everything and not much heat.

Mrs. Tom Connally, wife of the former senator from Texas, and Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg, widow of the late senator from Michigan, used to do such things as wash out their husbands' longies on those post-war diplomatic trips. So did Mrs. Dean Acheson, wife of the former secretary of state.

WOES OF A bus strike:

Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey was last to arrive at a cabinet meeting, perspiring and breathless. His car got caught in a hopeless traffic jam so he jumped out and loped six blocks to the White House, he explained to a grinning President.

The next day a cop at the corner of one of the busiest intersections was having enough trouble trying to handle swarms of cars full of government workers heading home. Adding to his problem was a fleet of official limousines double-parked in front of a movie theatre near the corner. Ike was inside with the White House staff watching Cinerama.

But the cop didn't mind the extra trouble. That morning Ike had gone out of his way to pat all D.C. policemen on the back for the swell job they were doing in the emergency.

ADM. LORENZO S. SABIN, new commandant of the Potomac River Naval Command, and hero of the evacuation of refugees from Indochina, is also on the ball when it comes to a social crisis.

The Cuban embassy had recruited the town's slickest debs for a big reception to welcome visiting midshipmen from the Cuban Naval Academy. Trouble was their ship tied up at Quantico, the lads didn't arrive for the party and a bunch of disappointed chicks were about to be stranded for the evening.

Quickly Adm. Sabin passed the word down to members of his staff, who were present, to move in fast and keep the young things danced and entertained. They responded to the chore with glee.

It saved the evening for the debs although a group of navy wives quietly concluded that the admiral ought to stick to evacuating refugees.

MANY NEW AMBASSADORS have been arriving in Washington lately including Saddigh Muntasser of Libia, Don Fernando Fournier of Costa Rica and Haydar Gork of Turkey. And they've all been startled by the informality and lack of ceremony when they make their official presentation of credentials to the President. In many capitals they make a big "do" out of the performance.

Most surprised was Ambassador Gork. When he was ushered into Ike's office the President stood up, grinned, pumped his hand and said, "Happy to have you here ambassador, come in and sit down."

Clean Glossy Foliage Of the House Plants

House plants with glossy foliage benefit greatly from periodic cleaning to remove the dust that settles on them. A soft sponge and mild, lukewarm soapsuds should be used to tenacious particles. Rinse or wipe well to remove all traces of suds.

Such cleaning should be supplemented by syringing the plants frequently so as to increase the humidity.

Plants with soft and hairy leaves should never be moistened. All cleaning of these must be done with a very soft brush such as the camel's hair type used by water-colorists.

Repainting Enamel

Before repainting an enameled surface that is still very smooth, reduce the gloss to permit the adherence of the new coating. On small areas, sandpaper will serve your purpose. For large areas, you can use a sal soda solution (¼ pound to 1 gallon of water) or one of the prepared cleaners. Make sure the surface is thoroughly dry, of course, before you apply the new coating.

Color Scheme For Kitchen

A bright and attractive kitchen, which somehow conveys the illusion that the sun is always shining there, is done in tones of copper, orange, yellow, white, blue and russet brown. The walls and ceiling are painted a clear, sunshiny yellow, while the floor is covered with pumpkin-colored linoleum that is spatter-dashed in russet brown and white. Around the edge is a border in the solid brown. The baseboard is enameled to match and so are the kitchen chairs.

Doors and window frames are painted a gleaming white to match the wall cabinets and electrical equipment. Deep blue appears in the cut-out valance at the ceiling line, in towels and in a scatter rug. Above the stove is an orange-toned spice cabinet that blends with treasured copper kettles.

Breezeways Have Many Advantages

In drawing up plans for a home, do not hurriedly abandon the idea of a covered breezeway between house and garage.

A breezeway can be a pleasant place for lounging and picknicking and it is wonderfully useful as a play space for children on rainy days. It can be screened in summer and glassed in in winter, and when thus treated, becomes a valuable addition to the home's living space.

Finally, it affords a protected route from house to garage — a tremendous advantage in bad weather.

Antique Copper Finish

Copper's rich gleam need no longer be confined to pots and pans in the kitchen. A major gas range manufacturer has developed a special antique copper finish for ranges and built-in cooking equipment. It's said not to tarnish or discolor and it cleans easily.

'The Rutgers' Is Charming In All Ways

Rooms ..... Five
Bedrooms ..... Two
Closets ..... Seven
Cubage ..... 29,300 ft.
Dimensions ..... 50' x 45'

A charming home in every sense of the word, "The Rutgers," offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is a modernized version of a traditional type house.

Measuring 50 by 45 feet, this house has a cubage of 29,300 feet. It can be built on a 70-foot lot. And it looks equally attractive placed near the street or roadway as it does when built back quite a distance.

An integral part of the house design, the attached garage adds an interesting detail to the exterior appearance of "The Rutgers." The sheltered front entry and the handsomely large living room bay are two more distinguishing features that add beauty and appeal.

Five Well-Arranged Rooms

Five well-arranged rooms, including an unusually spacious living room, make up the interior. All of the rooms—with the exception of the dining room—open off a central hallway; the dining room can be reached through either the living room or the kitchen.

Both bedrooms—which are well lighted and ventilated—are placed in the right wing of the house, in back of the garage. The bath is conveniently near at hand.

There is ample closet storage area in this house—and, all of the closets are placed in a central location where they are easy to get at.

The kitchen itself is a neatly arranged work room. A cozy breakfast nook is included in the left front corner of the room. Conveniently near to the kitchen are both the service entrance and the cellar stairway.

You'll enjoy serving many of your family's meals in the dining room because it's so near to the kitchen. The built-in china closet—suggested for the right front corner of the room—will come in handy, too.

Large and pleasant, the living room features a fireplace and built-in book shelves. One section of this room can be utilized as a den-study, if you so desire.

Both the heating plant and the laundry must be located in the basement of this house. The former should be placed under the living room and the latter under the kitchen or bath. Be sure to provide bulkheads for safe and easy access to the yard.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

CLEAN, UNUSED SPACE in the Freeman Classified columns can be bought every week at reasonably low prices. Phone 5000 for details.

Damp and Musty Odors in Homes

Just about this time of year or maybe a little later a lot of homes get a damp and musty odor. This is due to dampness and whatever it takes to produce a musty odor and is highly annoying to most people. The standard treatment for this headache is to give the house a good cleaning which usually does little if any lasting good. If your home has become damp then what it needs is a drying out.

It's often possible to dry out a house by opening doors and windws on a nice warm day when the humidity is low. As the air circulates about, with the help of a few well placed fans, it picks the moisture out of the house and the furnishings. Needless to say, this won't work on days when the humidity is high because air will only absorb just so much moisture.

Another way to deal with this dampness is to use a dehumidifier. These employ either chemicals which absorb the moisture out of the air or a system somewhat similar to a refrigerator. The air is pulled into the device by a small fan and flows across cooling coils. As the temperature of air is lowered it can't carry all that moisture so some of it drops off in the form of water which is either piped out of the house or flows into a pan which you can empty when necessary.

Masking a Window

You can get a liquid masking material to protect window panes when you are painting the sash. After it dries it peels off like adhesive tape. Otherwise, use newspapers secured by masking tape.

White House Marriages

Three Presidents of the United States married while they were in office: Grover Cleveland married for the first time; Woodrow Wilson and John Tyler married for a second time each.

For a Repainting Job

Before repainting metal remove all rust and loosened paint film, then touch up the bare surfaces with a metal primer which your dealer recommends. Following this, apply a suitable finishing coat. For exterior surfaces: house paint or an exterior enamel; for interior surfaces an interior gloss or semi-gloss enamel is usually selected.

Window-Box Care

Maintaining full bloom in a window box is a simple matter, after the right plants have been chosen for the exposure. Regular watering is advisable once or twice a week, since rain does not always strike the soil or penetrate through the foliage. Whenever this is done, dead flowers should be picked off. This will assure better and continued production of bloom, and adds much to appearance, too.

Instant Coffee Tests Prove Less Caffeine

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—A cup of regular ground coffee has almost twice as much caffeine as does a cup of regular instant coffee, a report on laboratory tests said Friday.

The tests, in the chemical laboratory of the American Medical Assn., were made by Robert G. Martinek, Pharm. D., and Walter Wolman, Ph. D., laboratory director. The report, published in the AMA Journal, also stated:

A cup of regular decaffeinated coffee still contains about one third the amount of caffeine found in a cup of regular ground coffee.

THE POTENTIAL caffeine content of a cup of black tea is comparable to that of a cup of regular ground coffee, but if the tea is prepared according to directions, a cup contains only 65 per cent of the potential amount.

Green tea has about three-fourths as much caffeine as black tea.

The researchers said, "as yet it has not been able to extract all the caffeine in commercially-prepared coffee."

Shandaken

Clean Glossy Foliage Of the House Plants

House plants with glossy foliage benefit greatly from periodic cleaning to remove the dust that settles on them. A soft sponge and mild, lukewarm soapsuds should be used to tenacious particles. Rinse or wipe well to remove all traces of suds.

Such cleaning should be supplemented by syringing the plants frequently so as to increase the humidity.

Plants with soft and hairy leaves should never be moistened. All cleaning of these must be done with a very soft brush such as the camel's hair type used by water-colorists.

Repainting Enamel

Before repainting an enameled surface that is still very smooth, reduce the gloss to permit the adherence of the new coating. On small areas, sandpaper will serve your purpose. For large areas, you can use a sal soda solution (¼ pound to 1 gallon of water) or one of the prepared cleaners. Make sure the surface is thoroughly dry, of course, before you apply the new coating.

Color Scheme For Kitchen

A bright and attractive kitchen, which somehow conveys the illusion that the sun is always shining there, is done in tones of copper, orange, yellow, white, blue and russet brown. The walls and ceiling are painted a clear, sunshiny yellow, while the floor is covered with pumpkin-colored linoleum that is spatter-dashed in russet brown and white. Around the edge is a border in the solid brown. The baseboard is enameled to match and so are the kitchen chairs.

Doors and window frames are painted a gleaming white to match the wall cabinets and electrical equipment. Deep blue appears in the cut-out valance at the ceiling line, in towels and in a scatter rug. Above the stove is an orange-toned spice cabinet that blends with treasured copper kettles.

Breezeways Have Many Advantages

In drawing up plans for a home, do not hurriedly abandon the idea of a covered breezeway between house and garage.

A breezeway can be a pleasant place for lounging and picknicking and it is wonderfully useful as a play space for children on rainy days. It can be screened in summer and glassed in in winter, and when thus treated, becomes a valuable addition to the home's living space.

Finally, it affords a protected route from house to garage — a tremendous advantage in bad weather.

Antique Copper Finish

Copper's rich gleam need no longer be confined to pots and pans in the kitchen. A major gas range manufacturer has developed a special antique copper finish for ranges and built-in cooking equipment. It's said not to tarnish or discolor and it cleans easily.

The Rutgers' Is Charming In All Ways

Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Seven
Cubage	29,300 ft.
Dimensions	50' x 45'

A charming home in every sense of the word, "The Rutgers," offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is a modernized version of a traditional type house.

Measuring 50 by 45 feet, this house has a cubage of 29,300 feet. It can be built on a 70-foot lot. And it looks equally attractive placed near the street or roadway as it does when built back quite a distance.

An integral part of the house design, the attached garage adds an interesting detail to the exterior appearance of "The Rutgers." The sheltered front entry and the handsomely large living room bay are two more distinguishing features that add beauty and appeal.

Five Well-Arranged Rooms

Five well-arranged rooms, including an unusually spacious living room, make up the interior. All of the rooms—with the exception of the dining room—open off a central hallway; the dining room can be reached through either the living room or the kitchen.

Both bedrooms—which are well lighted and ventilated—are placed in the right wing of the house, in back of the garage. The bath is conveniently near at hand.

There is ample closet storage area in this house—and, all of the closets are placed in a central location where they are easy to get at.

The kitchen itself is a neatly arranged work room. A cozy breakfast nook is included in the left front corner of the room. Conveniently near to the kitchen are both the service entrance and the cellar stairway.

You'll enjoy serving many of your family's meals in the dining room because it's so near to the kitchen. The built-in china closet—suggested for the right front corner of the room—will come in handy, too.

Large and pleasant, the living room features a fireplace and built-in book shelves. One section of this room can be utilized as a den-study, if you so desire.

Both the heating plant and the laundry must be located in the basement of this house. The former should be placed under the living room and the latter under the kitchen or bath. Be sure to provide bulkheads for safe and easy access to the yard.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.

For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

CLEAN, UNUSED SPACE in the Freeman Classified columns can be bought every week at reasonably low prices. Phone 5000 for details.

Damp and Musty Odors in Homes

Just about this time of year or maybe a little later a lot of homes get a damp and musty odor. This is due to dampness and whatever it takes to produce a musty odor and is highly annoying to most people. The standard treatment for this headache is to give the house a good cleaning which usually does little if any lasting good. If your home has become damp then what it needs is a drying out.

It's often possible to dry out a house by opening doors and windws on a nice warm day when the humidity is low. As the air circulates about, with the help of a few well placed fans, it picks the moisture out of the house and the furnishings. Needless to say, this won't work on days when the humidity is high because air will only absorb just so much moisture.

Another way to deal with this dampness is to use a dehumidifier. These employ either chemicals which absorb the moisture out of the air or a system somewhat similar to a refrigerator. The air is pulled into the device by a small fan and flows across cooling coils. As the temperature of air is lowered it can't carry all that moisture so some of it drops off in the form of water which is either piped out of the house or flows into a pan which you can empty when necessary.

Masking a Window

You can get a liquid masking material to protect window panes when you are painting the sash. After it dries it peels off like adhesive tape. Otherwise, use newspapers secured by masking tape.

White House Marriages

Three Presidents of the United States married while they were in office: Grover Cleveland married for the first time; Woodrow Wilson and John Tyler married for a second time each.

For a Repainting Job

Before repainting metal remove all rust and loosened paint film, then touch up the bare surfaces with a metal primer which your dealer recommends. Following this, apply a suitable finishing coat. For exterior surfaces: house paint or an exterior enamel; for interior surfaces an interior gloss or semi-gloss enamel is usually selected.

Window-Box Care

Maintaining full bloom in a window box is a simple matter, after the right plants have been chosen for the exposure. Regular watering is advisable once or twice a week, since rain does not always strike the soil or penetrate through the foliage. Whenever this is done, dead flowers should be picked off. This will assure better and continued production of bloom, and adds much to appearance, too.

Instant Coffee Tests Prove Less Caffeine

Chicago, July 23 (AP)—A cup of regular ground coffee has almost twice as much caffeine as does a cup of regular instant coffee, a report on laboratory tests said Friday.

The tests, in the chemical laboratory of the American Medical Assn., were made by Robert G. Martinek, Pharm. D., and Walter Wolman, Ph. D., laboratory director. The report, published in the AMA Journal, also stated:

A cup of regular decaffeinated coffee still contains about one third the amount of caffeine found in a cup of regular ground coffee.

THE POTENTIAL caffeine content of a cup of black tea is comparable to that of a cup of regular ground coffee, but if the tea is prepared according to directions, a cup contains only 65 per cent of the potential amount.

Green tea has about three-fourths as much caffeine as black tea.

The researchers said, "as yet it has not been able to extract all the caffeine in commercially-prepared coffee."

Shandaken

Shandaken, July 23—Harry W. Buckman, who recently retired after 50 years of service with the New York Telephone Co., attended a retirement dinner in honor of his brother, Charles L. Buckman, who had been with the company 48 years and two months.

Miss Anna N. Platz, sister of Postmaster Frank Platz, has moved to Shandaken and will make her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bell and children, Poughkeepsie, are spending a vacation with Mrs. Bell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hummell.

Peter Rosa, Bovina Center, is visiting his cousin, Dennis Rosa, here.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cox, their daughter Martha and their son Fred, Pittsfield, Mass., were guests of Mrs. Cox' mother, Mrs. Fred S. Osterhoudt, early this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Steele Sherratt were guests at a weekend house party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hartley, Point O'Woods, Conn.

Alfred Yerry and sons, John and Dean, Buffalo, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Yerry, recently. Mr. Yerry also attended the graduation of his sister, Doris, from Onteora Central School.

Brownie Troop 85 will conduct a bake sale on Heick's lawn Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Kouchakji were in New York city early this week.

The Rev. John Kay, Royston, Ga., is spending the summer with his brother and sister-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. T. H. Kay Jr.

The first vacation Bible school of the Methodist Church ended Friday evening with a special program in which the parents of the children participated. An average attendance of 54 children and adults was recorded for the five-day session. Forty-four certificates were awarded.

Mrs. Frank Platz, Miss Anna Platz, Mrs. F. S. Osterhoudt and Mrs. Carl Townsend attended the Big Indian church fair Tuesday.

Mrs. Morgan McCullough and Mr. and Mrs. Jansen McCullough, Accord, and Miss Sarah McCullough, Amsterdam, visited with Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cleaveland Sunday.

Hummell Dunham, Miami, Fla., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dunham.

Local Death Record

Belle Bogart Neff

Mrs. Belle Bogart Neff, 65, of Stone Ridge, died Friday at the Benedictine Hospital following injuries which she suffered on June 27, when she fell from a hay wagon. She was the widow of Frank Neff and is survived by two sons, Charles of Sloatsburg and Frank Neff of Chatham, N. J.; a sister, Elizabeth Bogart of Stone Ridge; two brothers, John and Oliver of Stone Ridge and several nieces and nephews. Funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, with the Rev. Roy P. Adelberg of the Stone Ridge Reformed Church officiating. Burial will be in Marbletown Cemetery.

Deborah Dailey

Deborah Dailey, a native of Rosendale, died today following a long illness. She was the daughter of the late Cornelius and Liza Hogan Dailey. For many years she resided in Greenwich, Conn., and when she retired she returned to live in Kingston. Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Mary Vetter of Kingston, and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held at the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, 176 Broadway on Monday at 8:30 a. m.; thence to St. Mary's Church where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale.

Mrs. Jeannette Hull

The funeral of Mrs. Jeannette Hull, 88, of 259 Smith avenue, who died on Thursday is scheduled for today at 4 p. m., at the parlors of A. Carr and Son, 1 Pearl street. Mrs. Hull, a resident of Kingston for over 55 years was born in Wayne county, Pa., in 1866. She was the daughter of William and Mary Moulthrop. Mrs. Hull was a graduate of Girls Preparatory School, Towanda, Pa. On Sept. 15, 1887, in Hillsgrove, Pa., she married Vernon Hull, who died in this city in 1935. Surviving are two daughters, Miss Ethel M. Hull of Kingston; Mrs. Carleton R. Hopkins, Collingswood, N. J.; oldest of eight children still living include two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Gross of Omaha, Neb., and Mrs. Jessie Gillespie of Clark Summit, Pa.; a brother, Urban Moulthrop of Binghamton, N. Y.; also four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. A son, the late Leon Hull of Philadelphia, Pa., died in 1945. She was an active member of the First Baptist Church for over 50 years, a member of the Sorosis Club and a charter member of the Kingston YWCA. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Thomas E. Costello

Funeral services for Thomas E. Costello of Port Ewen, who died suddenly on Tuesday, were held Friday at 9:30 a. m. from the family residence in Port Ewen and at 10 a. m. from the Church of The Presentation in Port Ewen where a solemn Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Joseph Kerins assisted by the Rev. Frederick Weigel, who served as deacon, and the Rev. James McSwigan, who served as sub deacon. Responses to the Mass were sung by Martin Kelly accompanied by Theodore Riccobono. Mr. Kelly also sang "Pie Jesu" at the offertory and "In Paradisum" at the conclusion of the Mass. Altar boys serving the Mass were Kieth Costello, Michael Kieffer, Peter VanLoan, Frank Longto and Jay VanLoan. A delegation of Sisters from the Dominican order at Glasco attended the Mass in a body. The church was filled to capacity by his many friends and relatives. While Mr. Costello reposed at his home a steady line of friends and relatives called to pay a final tribute of respect to his memory and to offer their sympathy to members of the family. The residence was filled with floral tributes and countless Mass cards and cards of sympathy were received. Among those who called at the home was the Very Rev. Joseph J. Comyns of Mt. St. Alphonsus, the Rev. Joseph L. Kerins, Pastor of the Church of The Presentation, the Rev. Austin V. Carey of Our Lady of Victory Chapel, Mother Beatrice and Mother Kerin of the Dominican Order of Glasco and a delegation of choir girls of The Presentation Church. Thursday evening a large delegation of the members of the Port Ewen Drum Corps called at the home and were led in prayers for the dead by Father Kerins. Later in the evening Father Kerins led the Holy Name Society of the church in the recitation of the Holy Rosary for the repose of his soul. Bearers — all nephews of Mr. Costello were, Ralph T. Carpino, Richard P. Scherer, Paul F. Maisch, Peter A Cafaldo, Peter J. Cafaldo and Anthony Bruno. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where the final blessing was given by Father Kerins assisted by Father Weigel and Father McSwigan.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our father, George Sickler, who passed away five years ago today July 23, 1955.

No one knows how much we miss him,
His familiar step and cheerful singing,
His memory with us shall never go dim,
But live and grow like some living thing.

Father Mahoney Funeral Rites Are Announced

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Fearns, of St. Joseph's Seminary, Yonkers will be the celebrant of the solemn high requiem Mass to be offered on Monday at St. Joseph's Church in New Paltz for the late Rev. John H. Mahoney who died in Poughkeepsie on Thursday.

The deacon will be the Rev. Joseph Flanagan of St. Augustine Church, Highland. The subdeacon will be the Rev. Rudolph Kraus of St. Theresa Church, North Tarrytown.

The eulogy will be delivered by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Hartigan of St. John the Evangelist Church, White Plains. The officers of the Mass were all students in Rome, Italy with the late Rev. Father Mahoney.

The body will lie in state in St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz on Sunday from 3:30 to 10 p. m. when the casket will be closed.

The Rosary will be recited tonight and tomorrow at 9 p. m.

On Monday at 7 a. m. Mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph's Church for the happy repose of the soul of the Rev. Father Mahoney.

On Wednesday at 10 a. m. the children of the parish will have a solemn high Mass for the repose of the soul of their late pastor.

Solemn high Masses will also be offered for the repose of his soul on Saturday, July 30, 10 a. m. at St. Charles Church, Gardiner and on Saturday, Aug. 13 at 10 a. m. at Lady of Fatima Church, Plattekill.

Statesman . . .

steadily maintained an interest in national affairs.

AS THE ORIGINAL sponsor of the reciprocal trade program, going back to his days in the Senate, Hull had been especially interested in U. S. trade policy and had closely followed the ups and downs in Congress of pending legislation to carry on the trade program.

Plans are for the funeral to held at National Cathedral and for Hull to be buried there. Mrs. Hull is buried there.

Hull, as secretary of state in three administrations of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, held the post longer than any other man in the nation's history—from March, 1933 to November, 1944.

ILLNESS forced his retirement in the grim days of World War 2, which he had labored to avert, then labored to use as a springboard for establishing an enduring world peace.

He was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1945 in tribute to his efforts to develop a world wide, effective plan to banish war from the earth. These efforts led to creation of the United Nations.

BORN IN a log cabin in Tennessee, Hull's whole adult life was spent in public service. He was in Congress for 24 years—22 in the House and two in the Senate—before he became secretary of state. Prior to his election to Congress he was first a state legislator and later a circuit judge in Tennessee.

As a member of Congress, Hull specialized in tariff and economic matters—an interest reflected later in his efforts as secretary of state to promote world trade.

HULL WAS described by a close friend as considering five accomplishments to be of primary importance in his long career. These were:

1. His part in the development of the United Nations. The late President Roosevelt called him, in a letter at the time of Hull's retirement, "the father of the United Nations."

2. The development of nonpartisanship in foreign policy. Hull played an important role in bringing about cooperation between the Roosevelt administration and Republican leaders in and out of Congress with the specific purpose initially of winning GOP cooperation in the creation of the UN.

3. His part in evolving the "good neighbor policy" toward Latin America. The essence of this policy has been that the United States should conduct itself toward other countries in this hemisphere as a good citizen would act toward his neighbor.

4. The enactment of the trade agreements program. This program, which is still basic to United States trade relations with the rest of the world, is built on the idea of reducing tariffs by international agreement in order to stimulate freer flow of goods and commerce.

5. His contribution to raising standards of international morality and conduct, which Hull considered to be of the utmost importance if nations are to learn to live together in peace and friendship.

Despite his ill health of recent years, Hull maintained an active interest in world affairs and his successors in the State Department generally maintained contact with him.

A GAUNT, 6-footer with thick white hair, Hull had a courtly manner reminiscent of the Victorian era. But he was known at times to explode into Tennessee frontier language.

One memorable time was the "cussin' out" he gave Japanese envoys who were talking peace with him at the very moment the imperial Japanese Navy was loosing its sneak attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941. Prescisely what Hull said was not recorded, but by all accounts the air was blue with picturesque language.

Hull published his memoirs in 1948—800,000 words in two volumes. He said in them he became convinced in 1935 that the long-range policies of Germany and Japan pointed inevitably to war and began urging American rearmament at that time.

HE EXPRESSED also the thought that now lies back of U. S. rearming against the threat of Russia.

For he found as secretary of state, Hull said, that axis diplomats were not looking him in the eye but were "looking over my shoulder at our armed forces and appraising their strength."

He added: "Here, I came to feel, was the controlling factor in their acts and utterances toward us."

Some of those most closely associated with Hull described him as fundamentally a man of simplicity and deep faith. There was about him, too, something of the brooding air of his Tennessee mountains.

To a close friend and former associate in the State Department, Carlton Savage, Hull once remarked: "What we need today are leaders who commune with the rivers and the mountains and the stars."

Hull was married in 1917 to Mrs. Rose Frances Whitney. They had no children.

Christmas in July

Buffalo, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—It may be a little early—or a little late, but today is Christmas at the Churchill Tabernacle here. The Rev. Robert Kryman, pastor, said that the church will celebrate Christmas today complete with Nativity music, decorations and a Christmas tree. He explained that the church has been celebrating Christmas in July for seven years now to escape the "commercialism" that accompanies Christmas in December.

FAVORED TO WIN WORLD BEAUTY CROWN—These five international beauties were favored to take the world beauty title Miss Universe when the judges made their decision in Long Beach, Cal., last night (July 22). They were among 15 finalists selected the night before. Left to right: Miss Sweden, who is Hillevi Rombin; Miss U.S.A., Carlene King Johnson; Miss England, Margaret Rowe; Miss Ceylon, Maureen Hingert; and Miss El Salvador, Maribel Arrieta. Miss El Salvador was named July 21 as the most popular girl in the contest by vote of the girls themselves. In the final judging last night Miss Sweden was chosen Miss Universe. (AP Wirephoto)

2 Rosendale Men Pay $10 Fines

Two Rosendale men were fined and charges against another were dismissed in City Court today in a case stemming from police action on July 13 on Ferry street near East Strand.

Fined $10 each were Donald Wallace, 21, who was arrested on a public intoxication charge, and Nicholas Christodolus, 19, who was arrested at police headquarters on a disorderly conduct charge.

Charges relative to a transfer of license plates against Robert Bridges, 18, also of Rosendale, were dismissed when he provided proof of ownership in court today.

Driver Training Car Reported Hit by Cycle

William A. Scafidi of 328 Hasbrouck avenue, driving instructor at Kingston High School, reported to police at 2:45 p. m., Friday that while instructing Benjamin Beck of 39 Emerson street and operating the high school training car, a 1955 sedan, on Greenkill avenue near Prospect street, a boy riding a bicycle struck the training car.

Mr. Scafidi told police the car and bicycle were traveling west on Greenkill avenue and the bicycle operator was riding close to the car for a distance and decided to pass. The bicycle hooked the left rear portion of the bumper, throwing the boy to the pavement. Mr. Scafidi told police the boy would not divulge his name, and said he was not injured. He approximated the boy's age as 13 or 14 years.

Plan Doll Display

County residents are invited to bring dolls they own to the home department in the Pavilion at the fair on Thursday, August 18. There the display of dolls will occupy the space given over to baked goods shown on August 17 and removed that evening. Since this is a display of dolls, no awards will be given. Every one bringing in a doll is asked to have it in place at 10 a. m., and attach the name and address of the owner. Plan to pick it up without fail at 5 p. m., when the fair closes. All kinds of dolls are solicited.

$50 for Intoxication

Harry Johnson, 58, of Stallman place, who was arrested at 5:45 p. m., Friday, by Officers James Burns and Alfred Hutton on Smith avenue on a public intoxication charge was fined $50 by Acting City Judge Harry Gold in City Court today.

BarbequePlanned For 4-H Benefit

The Ulster County Extension Service Broiler Barbeque is planned for Wednesday, August 3. This barbeque planned for all members and friends of the extension service and their families will be held rain or shine at the Beatty Farm on Hurley avenue.

All proceeds of this event will be contributed to the 4-H camp fund. This fund is for the purpose of buying property and establishing a camp for Ulster County 4-H Club members. The $8,000 goal for the fund is far from being reached but according to Mr. E. R. Bower, county 4-H club agent it is hoped that the proceeds from this barbeque will boost the fund.

Two servings are planned at 5:30 p. m. and 7 p. m. and tickets are available at the 4-H club office, 74 John street.

Kripplebush

Kripplebush, July 23 — Open house will be held at the Kripplebush fire house for the public on Saturday, July 30 from 2 to 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Sarah Young of Tillson is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Claude Christiana and family.

The annual Labor Day picnic will be held at the Lodge Hall on Monday, Sept. 5.

The Cub Scouts and parents visited the Boy Scout camp at Tri-Mount, East Jewett and the Ashokan Reservoir recently.

George Zellner returned home Saturday after visiting relatives in Germany for six weeks.

Deserter Held

Jamestown, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Brasel D. Carmichael, 20, described by the FBI as an air force deserter wanted for questioning in connection with the killing of a Dallas, Tex., woman, is being held here in $10,000 bail pending his arraignment Monday. The Dallas slaying victim was Mrs. Mahala Winterbauer, identified by authorities as the mother of an air force buddy of Carmichael's. The FBI in Dallas said neighbors saw Carmichael drive away from Mrs. Winterbauer's home in her automobile on March 8, 1953. A week later police found her body when they investigated her home on the request of neighbors.

Exemption Proposed

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has urged Congress to exempt noncommercial wheat growers from federal control. The exemption would apply to farmers who grow wheat solely for use on their own farms, sell none on the market and do not seek government price supports. They now are subject to marketing quotas the same as commercial growers.

Liquor Violation Charged

Manuel Joseph Sacco, 43, of Plattekill was arrested Friday by County Investigator Arthur Brown and Deputy Russell Carpenter of the Ulster county sheriff's office, charged with selling alcoholic beverages in violation of the alcoholic license law. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hobart C. Smalley of Plattekill and released on bail.

Beetles Beat Worries

Shelby, N. C. (AP) — A little black beetle has volunteered on the side of farmers of this section who've been fighting a plague of grain-eating army worms. Ray Wilson, a farm manager, says the beetles pounce on the army worms, shake them vigorously, and devour them. The question that's worrying the farmers now is: What occupation will the beetles turn to after they've won the war with the army worms?

Miss Universe

man, French, Spanish, English and her native tongue.

For those who like statistics, her vital measurements are 36 inches in the bust and hips, and 23 in the waist.

She is an athletic type and expert gymnast.

When reporters told her she looked like actress Grace Kelly she said: "Yes, I've heard that sometimes from people, even in Sweden."

She told reporters that her first act today was to send cables to her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Rombin. Her father is an Upsala storekeeper.

She also revealed that a very special cable will go to First Leftenant Nils Benker, a flying officer in the Swedish Royal Air Force.

"We are engaged and very much in love," she explained.

Asked what she thought of her chances in the movies, Miss Sweden said, "I don't think I'll ever be a movie star, but I will take my contract as a dramatic education."

TO A REPORTER who had told her earlier that she would win she said, "I'm going to buy you a drink of akavit." Akavit is the favorite alcoholic beverage of the Scandinavian countries—a sort of Swedish dynamite that used to send Norsemen across the Atlantic in rowboats.

Her favorite food, incidentally, is red beans and Swedish meatballs.

"I hope I will wear the Miss Universe crown with honor," she told a television audience. The selection of Miss Universe was no surprise to the other girls in the contest. The fourscore entrants from all over the world had not been in town two days until Miss Sweden had been tabbed as the one to bet on.

The runner-up, Mis El Salvador, said "I had my money on her. She was so beautiful, I don't see how I ever came as close as I did."

The blonde Latin, who matches Marilyn Monroe in face and figure, was hurt somewhat by a surburned face. A reporter overheard two of the judges say, "she should have put powder on that sunburn. Those two red spots on her cheek hurt her."

Convoy Bivouacks Here

Approximately 300 National Guard vehicles of the 50th Armored Division, New Jersey headed for Camp Drum, bivouacked near the Route 28 Thruway interchange last night. Working with troopers in the handling of traffic were Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg and Deputies Benjamin Newkirk and Thomas Mayone. They were at the scene from 10:30 p. m. to 1 a. m. Deputy Mayone was at the scene this morning when the convoy made its departure. According to Mr. Vredenburg the arrival and departure was executed as scheduled without hitch.

Election Slated

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 23 (AP)—A contest marked today's election for president of the National Secretaries Assn. The incumbent, Miss Cassandra D. Waterman of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Miss Eunice E. Biemdiek of St. Louis were nominated yesterday for association president. The four-day convention will end tonight with a dinner at which the new officers will be installed.

Bus Fare Increase

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—The Public Service Commission today authorized the Mid-City Transit Corp. of Middletown to stop selling reduced-fare bus tickets to adults Aug. 11. The company, operator of four bus routes in the city, was permitted also to increase the price of one-ride school tickets from 20 for $1 to 14 for $1.

Boy Killed

Elmira, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Neil Lewis, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross G. Lewis Jr., of suburban Elmira Heights, was fatally injured yesterday when he fell or jumped from his parents' automobile and fell under the wheels. He was playing in the car, parked in a driveway, when it started to roll.

Check Car Fire

Fire caused by a short circuit in the wiring of a car owned and operated by Dorothy Ten Eyck of Hurley was extinguished by firemen at 9:30 p. m., Friday, at 184 Hurley avenue. The fire department reported only slight damage to the wiring.

Senators Argue

day that if he had made the call, "it has slipped by mind."

He was asked if he made the call after the lawyer had questioned the propriety of renewing an RCA contract with the Mulligan firm while Talbott served as both its partner and as a government official. RCA handles some defense contracts.

In the row with McClellan yesterday, Mundt called it "shocking and shameful" that the subcommittee had decided to halt temporarily its work on the Talbott case to investigate what he said was a less pressing matter involving some defective grain bins.

Sen. Bender (R.-Ohio) joined Mundt in the protest, contending that the dangling inquiry could even be embarrassing to President Eisenhower in the Geneva Big Four talks.

MUNDT DEMANDED investigations of how some subcommittee secrets had "leaked" to the press, and steps to prevent more leaks. He said the leaks were "stulifying" the subcommittee's work.

Stories concerning preliminary work on the case appeared in print in advance of any committee announcement, and the New York Times published this week copies of letters Talbott had turned over to the group.

McClellan retorted hotly that he was moving as swiftly as possible in the Talbott inquiry, and had "leaned over backward" to be fair in it.

"If the purpose of these interjections is to embarrass the chairman," McClellan told Mundt, "you can't do it—you or both of you together."

Would Send Food

there is no reason in the world why we should not exchange non-strategic materials with them."

However, Sen. Capehart (R.-Ind.) said he thinks such trade should come only after the Soviets agree to withdraw from the satellite countries and "not try to spread communism throughout the world."

Sen. Wiley (R.-Wis.) said he thinks that if there is a free exchange of ideas between East and West the results "might lead to peace in our time."

"If the average Russian, for instance, could be brought to recognize the significance of the H-bomb and its terrible fall-out threat, he would see that in order to apply the law of self preservation we would have to be friends,' he said.

Sen. Fulbright (D.-Ark.) said he thinks the "cordial tone" of the Geneva Conference is important.

"Good manners and cordial conduct are the first step toward negotiations," he observed.

Sen. Humphrey (D.-Minn.) said he approved of the way Eisenhower has been using the conference for a "sounding board or forum," and added, "that should be done at every conference."

Vice President Nixon said yesterday that Eisenhower has had at Geneva a "forum unequalled in history. . . . To point out to the world that the United States wants peace, not war." He said that was one of the principal benefits of the conference.

Bethlehem Steel

Staten Island and Brooklyn.

The agreement was worked out under a wage reopening clause in the union's contract and was signed eight days before the time limit set by the contract. It is effective today and runs until July 31, 1956.

A statement issued by union President John J. Grogan, of Hoboken, N. J., said, "we are gratified by the early and amicable settlement with management." He added:

"We sincerely hope that the realism demonstrated by union and management in arriving at a workable understanding will help put a brake on the emigration of these skilled men into other industries.

"More fundamentally, we pray that it will be directly followed by congressional and administration action to wipe out depression and widespread unemployment in our feast and famine industry by adoption of a long range shipbuilding and ship repair program to build and maintain a powerful American merchant marine."

Rutherford Dies

Cape Vincent, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Alexander H. Rutherford, 78, a director of Revere Copper & Brass Corp. and a retired stock broker, died at his summer home here yesterday. He had been associated with the Wall Street firms of Price & MacCormack and Cutting & Taylor. He was born in San Francisco and was an 1899 graduate of Yale University. The widow, the former Lucy Stevens of Rochester, and a sister, Mrs. Emma Rutherford Kerney of California, survive. The funeral will be at 2:30 p. m. Sunday from the Zion Episcopal Church, Rome. Burial will be in Rome Cemetery.

Strike Authorized

New York, July 23 (AP) — A union official has announced that dining car workers have authorized a strike that could stop operations of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad in August. Dudley Washington, general chairman of Local 370 of the AFL Dining Car Employes Union, said yesterday the dispute involved the hiring of female employes to replace male employes on grill cars.

Man Drowns

Buffalo, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Robert Nowark, 21, was drowned yesterday while swimming in the Niagara river off suburban North Tonawanda.

Hope Held

of the four-power summit conference.

ACCORDING to the adopted agenda, today we meet to discuss methods of normalizing and increasing the contacts between our nations in many fields. I am heartened by the deep interest in the question, which interest implies a common purpose to understand each other better. Unfortunately there exist unnecessary restrictions on the flow between us of ideas, of things and of people.

Like other questions we have considered during the past four days, this one cannot be considered independently or in isolation. All are related by their direct importance to the general objective of lessening world fears and tensions.

TO HELP achieve the goal of peace based on justice and right and mutual understanding, there are certain concrete steps that could be taken:

To lower the barriers which now impede the interchange of information and ideas between our peoples.

To lower the barriers which now impede the opportunities of peoples to travel anywhere in the world for peaceful, friendly purposes, so that all will have a chance to know each other face-to-face.

To create conditions which will encourage nations to increase the exchange of peaceful goods throughout the world.

SUCCESS in these endeavors would improve the conditions of life for all our citizens and elsewhere in the world. By helping eliminate poverty and ignorance, we can take another step in progress toward peace.

Restrictions on communications of all kinds, including radio and travel, existing in extreme form in some places, have operated as causes of mutual distrust. In America, the fervent belief in freedom of thought, of expression, and of movement is a vital part of our heritage. Yet during these past ten years even we have felt compelled, in the protection of our own interests, to place some restrictions upon the movement of persons and communications across our national frontiers.

THIS CONFERENCE has the opportunity, I believe, to initiate concrete steps to permit the breaking down of both mild and severe barriers to mutual understanding and trust.

Now I should like to turn to the question of trade. I assume that each of us here is dedicated to the improvement of the conditions of life of our own citizens. Trade in peaceful goods is an important factor in achieving this goal. If trade is to reach its maximum capability in this regard, it must be both voluminous and worldwide.

The United Nations has properly been concerned in making available to the people of the underdeveloped areas modern technology and managerial abilities, as well as capital and credit. My country not only supports these efforts, but has undertaken parallel projects outside the United Nations.

IN THIS connection the new atomic science possesses a tremendous potential for helping raising the standards of living and providing greater opportunity for all the world. Worldwide interest in overcoming poverty and ignorance is growing by leaps and bounds, and each of the great nations should do its utmost to assist in this development. As a result new desires, new requirements, new aspirations are emerging almost everywhere as man climbs the upward path of his destiny. Most encouraging of all is the evidence that after centuries of fatalism and resignation, the hopeless of the world are beginning to hope.

But regardless of the results achieved through the United Nations effort or the individual efforts of helpful nations, trade remains the indispensable arterial system of a flourishing world prosperity.

IF WE COULD create conditions in which unnecessary restrictions on trade would be progressively eliminated and under which there would be free and friendly exchange of ideas and of people, we should have done much to chart the paths toward the objectives we commonly seek.

By working together toward all these goals, we can do much to transform this century of recurring conflict into a century of enduring and invigorating peace. This, I assure you, the United States of America devoutly desires—as I know all of us do.

Pravda . . .

the Star's correspondent, Crosby Noyes, of differences among the western heads of government on disarmament plans.

It said some West German papers "indulge in arguments about 'postponement of the solution of the German question' in order to distort the position of the Soviet Union in this matter."

Today's Geneva dispatches in the Soviet press were the most limited and restrained of all since the conference began Monday. They made no reference to any deadlock.

Ferry in Dispute

New York, July 23 (AP)—The director of passenger service economics for the New York Central Railroad believes the Weehawken ferry should be dropped even if the West Shore Division stays in business. The official, William R. Main, testified yesterday during an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the railroad's bid to abandon the ferry between Weehawken, N. J., and Manhattan. The railroad also seeks to eliminate passenger service on the West Shore line which runs between Weehawken and Albany, N. Y.

Local Death Record

Belle Bogart Neff

Mrs. Belle Bogart Neff, 65, of Stone Ridge, died Friday at the Benedictine Hospital following injuries which she suffered on June 27, when she fell from a hay wagon. She was the widow of Frank Neff and is survived by two sons, Charles of Sloatsburg and Frank Neff of Chatham, N. J.; a sister, Elizabeth Bogart of Stone Ridge; two brothers, John and Oliver of Stone Ridge and several nieces and nephews. Funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, with the Rev. Roy P. Adelberg of the Stone Ridge Reformed Church officiating. Burial will be in Marbletown Cemetery.

Deborah Dailey

Deborah Dailey, a native of Rosendale, died today following a long illness. She was the daughter of the late Cornelius and Liza Hogan Dailey. For many years she resided in Greenwich, Conn., and when she retired she returned to live in Kingston. Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Mary Vetter of Kingston, and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held at the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, 176 Broadway on Monday at 8:30 a. m.; thence to St. Mary's Church where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale.

Mrs. Jeannette Hull

The funeral of Mrs. Jeannette Hull, 88, of 259 Smith avenue, who died on Thursday is scheduled for today at 4 p. m., at the parlors of A. Carr and Son, 1 Pearl street. Mrs. Hull, a resident of Kingston for over 55 years was born in Wayne county, Pa., in 1866. She was the daughter of William and Mary Moulthrop. Mrs. Hull was a graduate of Girls Preparatory School, Towanda, Pa. On Sept. 15, 1887, in Hillsgrove, Pa., she married Vernon Hull, who died in this city in 1935. Thomas E. Costello

Funeral services for Thomas E. Costello of Port Ewen, who died suddenly on Tuesday, were held Friday at 9:30 a. m. from the family residence in Port Ewen and at 10 a. m. from the Church of The Presentation in Port Ewen where a solemn Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Joseph Kerins assisted by the Rev. Frederick Weigel, who served as deacon, and the Rev. James McSwigan, who served as sub deacon. Responses to the Mass were sung by Martin Kelly accompanied by Theodore Riccobono. Mr. Kelly also sang "Pie Jesu" at the offertory and "In Paradisum" at the conclusion of the Mass. Altar boys serving the Mass were Kieth Costello, Michael Kieffer, Peter VanLoan, Frank Longto and Jay VanLoan. A delegation of Sisters from the Dominican order at Glasco attended the Mass in a body. The church was filled to capacity by his many friends and relatives. While Mr. Costello reposed at his home a steady line of friends and relatives called to pay a final tribute of respect to his memory and to offer their sympathy to members of the family. The residence was filled with floral tributes and countless Mass cards and cards of sympathy were received. Among those who called at the home was the Very Rev. Joseph J. Comyns of Mt. St. Alphonsus, the Rev. Joseph L. Kerins, Pastor of the Church of The Presentation, the Rev. Austin V. Carey of Our Lady of Victory Chapel, Mother Beatrice and Mother Kerin of the Dominican Order of Glasco and a delegation of choir girls of The Presentation Church. Thursday evening a large delegation of the members of the Port Ewen Drum Corps called at the home and were led in prayers for the dead by Father Kerins. Later in the evening Father Kerins led the Holy Name Society of the church in the recitation of the Holy Rosary for the repose of his soul. Bearers — all nephews of Mr. Costello were, Ralph T. Carpino, Richard P. Scherer, Paul F. Maisch, Peter A Cafaldo, Peter J. Cafaldo and Anthony Bruno. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery where the final blessing was given by Father Kerins assisted by Father Weigel and Father McSwigan.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our father, George Sickler, who passed away five years ago today July 23, 1955.

No one knows how much we miss him,
His familiar step and cheerful singing,
His memory with us shall never go dim,
But live and grow like some living thing.

Father Mahoney Funeral Rites Are Announced

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John M. Fearns, of St. Joseph's Seminary, Yonkers will be the celebrant of the solemn high requiem Mass to be offered on Monday at St. Joseph's Church in New Paltz for the late Rev. John H. Mahoney who died in Poughkeepsie on Thursday.

The deacon will be the Rev. Joseph Flanagan of St. Augustine Church, Highland. The subdeacon will be the Rev. Rudolph Kraus of St. Theresa Church, North Tarrytown.

The eulogy will be delivered by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Hartigan of St. John the Evangelist Church, White Plains. The officers of the Mass were all students in Rome, Italy with the late Rev. Father Mahoney.

The body will lie in state in St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz on Sunday from 3:30 to 10 p. m. when the casket will be closed.

The Rosary will be recited tonight and tomorrow at 9 p. m.

On Monday at 7 a. m. Mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph's Church for the happy repose of the soul of the Rev. Father Mahoney.

On Wednesday at 10 a. m. the children of the parish will have a solemn high Mass for the repose of the soul of their late pastor.

Solemn high Masses will also be offered for the repose of his soul on Saturday, July 30, 10 a. m. at St. Charles Church, Gardiner and on Saturday, Aug. 13 at 10 a. m. at Lady of Fatima Church, Plattekill.

Statesman . . .

steadily maintained an interest in national affairs.

AS THE ORIGINAL sponsor of the reciprocal trade program, going back to his days in the Senate, Hull had been especially interested in U. S. trade policy and had closely followed the ups and downs in Congress of pending legislation to carry on the trade program.

Plans are for the funeral to held at National Cathedral and for Hull to be buried there. Mrs. Hull is buried there.

Hull, as secretary of state in three administrations of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, held the post longer than any other man in the nation's history—from March, 1933 to November, 1944.

ILLNESS forced his retirement in the grim days of World War 2, which he had labored to avert, then labored to use as a springboard for establishing an enduring world peace.

He was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1945 in tribute to his efforts to develop a world wide, effective plan to banish war from the earth. These efforts led to creation of the United Nations.

BORN IN a log cabin in Tennessee, Hull's whole adult life was spent in public service. He was in Congress for 24 years—22 in the House and two in the Senate—before he became secretary of state. Prior to his election to Congress he was first a state legislator and later a circuit judge in Tennessee.

As a member of Congress, Hull specialized in tariff and economic matters—an interest reflected later in his efforts as secretary of state to promote world trade.

HULL WAS described by a close friend as considering five accomplishments to be of primary importance in his long career. These were:

1. His part in the development of the United Nations. The late President Roosevelt called him, in a letter at the time of Hull's retirement, "the father of the United Nations."

2. The development of nonpartisanship in foreign policy. Hull played an important role in bringing about cooperation between the Roosevelt administration and Republican leaders in and out of Congress with the specific purpose initially of winning GOP cooperation in the creation of the UN.

3. His part in evolving the "good neighbor policy" toward Latin America. The essence of this policy has been that the United States should conduct itself toward other countries in this hemisphere as a good citizen would act toward his neighbor.

4. The enactment of the trade agreements program. This program, which is still basic to United States trade relations with the rest of the world, is built on the idea of reducing tariffs by international agreement in order to stimulate freer flow of goods and commerce.

5. His contribution to raising standards of international morality and conduct, which Hull considered to be of the utmost importance if nations are to learn to live together in peace and friendship.

Despite his ill health of recent years, Hull maintained an active interest in world affairs and his successors in the State Department generally maintained contact with him.

A GAUNT, 6-footer with thick white hair, Hull had a courtly manner reminiscent of the Victorian era. But he was known at times to explode into Tennessee frontier language.

One memorable time was the "cussin' out" he gave Japanese envoys who were talking peace with him at the very moment the imperial Japanese Navy was loosing its sneak attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941. Prescisely what Hull said was not recorded, but by all accounts the air was blue with picturesque language.

Hull published his memoirs in 1948—800,000 words in two volumes. He said in them he became convinced in 1935 that the long-range policies of Germany and Japan pointed inevitably to war and began urging American rearmament at that time.

HE EXPRESSED also the thought that now lies back of U. S. rearming against the threat of Russia.

For he found as secretary of state, Hull said, that axis diplomats were not looking him in the eye but were "looking over my shoulder at our armed forces and appraising their strength."

He added: "Here, I came to feel, was the controlling factor in their acts and utterances toward us."

Some of those most closely associated with Hull described him as fundamentally a man of simplicity and deep faith. There was about him, too, something of the brooding air of his Tennessee mountains.

To a close friend and former associate in the State Department, Carlton Savage, Hull once remarked: "What we need today are leaders who commune with the rivers and the mountains and the stars."

Hull was married in 1917 to Mrs. Rose Frances Whitney. They had no children.

Christmas in July

Buffalo, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—It may be a little early—or a little late, but today is Christmas at the Churchill Tabernacle here. The Rev. Robert Kryman, pastor, said that the church will celebrate Christmas today complete with Nativity music, decorations and a Christmas tree. He explained that the church has been celebrating Christmas in July for seven years now to escape the "commercialism" that accompanies Christmas in December.

FAVORED TO WIN WORLD BEAUTY CROWN—These five international beauties were favored to take the world beauty title Miss Universe when the judges made their decision in Long Beach, Cal., last night (July 22). They were among 15 finalists selected the night before. Left to right: Miss Sweden, who is Hillevi Rombin; Miss U.S.A., Carlene King Johnson; Miss England, Margaret Rowe; Miss Ceylon, Maureen Hingert; and Miss El Salvador, Maribel Arrieta. Miss El Salvador was named July 21 as the most popular girl in the contest by vote of the girls themselves. In the final judging last night Miss Sweden was chosen Miss Universe. (AP Wirephoto)

2 Rosendale Men Pay $10 Fines

Two Rosendale men were fined and charges against another were dismissed in City Court today in a case stemming from police action on July 13 on Ferry street near East Strand.

Fined $10 each were Donald Wallace, 21, who was arrested on a public intoxication charge, and Nicholas Christodolus, 19, who was arrested at police headquarters on a disorderly conduct charge.

Charges relative to a transfer of license plates against Robert Bridges, 18, also of Rosendale, were dismissed when he provided proof of ownership in court today.

Driver Training Car Reported Hit by Cycle

William A. Scafidi of 328 Hasbrouck avenue, driving instructor at Kingston High School, reported to police at 2:45 p. m., Friday that while instructing Benjamin Beck of 39 Emerson street and operating the high school training car, a 1955 sedan, on Greenkill avenue near Prospect street, a boy riding a bicycle struck the training car.

Mr. Scafidi told police the car and bicycle were traveling west on Greenkill avenue and the bicycle operator was riding close to the car for a distance and decided to pass. The bicycle hooked the left rear portion of the bumper, throwing the boy to the pavement. Mr. Scafidi told police the boy would not divulge his name, and said he was not injured. He approximated the boy's age as 13 or 14 years.

Plan Doll Display

County residents are invited to bring dolls they own to the home department in the Pavilion at the fair on Thursday, August 18. There the display of dolls will occupy the space given over to baked goods shown on August 17 and removed that evening. Since this is a display of dolls, no awards will be given. Every one bringing in a doll is asked to have it in place at 10 a. m., and attach the name and address of the owner. Plan to pick it up without fail at 5 p. m., when the fair closes. All kinds of dolls are solicited.

$50 for Intoxication

Harry Johnson, 58, of Stallman place, who was arrested at 5:45 p. m., Friday, by Officers James Burns and Alfred Hutton on Smith avenue on a public intoxication charge was fined $50 by Acting City Judge Harry Gold in City Court today.

BarbequePlanned For 4-H Benefit

The Ulster County Extension Service Broiler Barbeque is planned for Wednesday, August 3. This barbeque planned for all members and friends of the extension service and their families will be held rain or shine at the Beatty Farm on Hurley avenue.

All proceeds of this event will be contributed to the 4-H camp fund. This fund is for the purpose of buying property and establishing a camp for Ulster County 4-H Club members. The $8,000 goal for the fund is far from being reached but according to Mr. E. R. Bower, county 4-H club agent it is hoped that the proceeds from this barbeque will boost the fund.

Two servings are planned at 5:30 p. m. and 7 p. m. and tickets are available at the 4-H club office, 74 John street.

Kripplebush

Kripplebush, July 23 — Open house will be held at the Kripplebush fire house for the public on Saturday, July 30 from 2 to 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Sarah Young of Tillson is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Claude Christiana and family.

The annual Labor Day picnic will be held at the Lodge Hall on Monday, Sept. 5.

The Cub Scouts and parents visited the Boy Scout camp at Tri-Mount, East Jewett and the Ashokan Reservoir recently.

Deserter Held

Jamestown, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Brasel D. Carmichael, 20, described by the FBI as an air force deserter wanted for questioning in connection with the killing of a Dallas, Tex., woman, is being held here in $10,000 bail pending his arraignment Monday. The Dallas slaying victim was Mrs. Mahala Winterbauer, identified by authorities as the mother of an air force buddy of Carmichael's. The FBI in Dallas said neighbors saw Carmichael drive away from Mrs. Winterbauer's home in her automobile on March 8, 1953. A week later police found her body when they investigated her home on the request of neighbors.

Exemption Proposed

Washington, July 23 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has urged Congress to exempt noncommercial wheat growers from federal control. The exemption would apply to farmers who grow wheat solely for use on their own farms, sell none on the market and do not seek government price supports. They now are subject to marketing quotas the same as commercial growers.

Liquor Violation Charged

Manuel Joseph Sacco, 43, of Plattekill was arrested Friday by County Investigator Arthur Brown and Deputy Russell Carpenter of the Ulster county sheriff's office, charged with selling alcoholic beverages in violation of the alcoholic license law. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Hobart C. Smalley of Plattekill and released on bail.

Beetles Beat Worries

Shelby, N. C. (AP)—A little black beetle has volunteered on the side of farmers of this section who've been fighting a plague of grain-eating army worms. Ray Wilson, a farm manager, says the beetles pounce on the army worms, shake them vigorously, and devour them. The question that's worrying the farmers now is: What occupation will the beetles turn to after they've won the war with the army worms?

Miss Universe

man, French, Spanish, English and her native tongue.

For those who like statistics, her vital measurements are 36 inches in the bust and hips, and 23 in the waist.

She is an athletic type and expert gymnast.

When reporters told her she looked like actress Grace Kelly she said: "Yes, I've heard that sometimes from people, even in Sweden."

She told reporters that her first act today was to send cables to her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Rombin. Her father is an Upsala storekeeper.

She also revealed that a very special cable will go to First Leftenant Nils Benker, a flying officer in the Swedish Royal Air Force.

"We are engaged and very much in love," she explained.

Asked what she thought of her chances in the movies, Miss Sweden said, "I don't think I'll ever be a movie star, but I will take my contract as a dramatic education."

TO A REPORTER who had told her earlier that she would win she said, "I'm going to buy you a drink of akavit." Akavit is the favorite alcoholic beverage of the Scandinavian countries—a sort of Swedish dynamite that used to send Norsemen across the Atlantic in rowboats.

Her favorite food, incidentally, is red beans and Swedish meatballs.

"I hope I will wear the Miss Universe crown with honor," she told a television audience. The selection of Miss Universe was no surprise to the other girls in the contest. The fourscore entrants from all over the world had not been in town two days until Miss Sweden had been tabbed as the one to bet on.

The runner-up, Mis El Salvador, said "I had my money on her. She was so beautiful, I don't see how I ever came as close as I did."

The blonde Latin, who matches Marilyn Monroe in face and figure, was hurt somewhat by a surburned face. A reporter overheard two of the judges say, "she should have put powder on that sunburn. Those two red spots on her cheek hurt her."

Convoy Bivouacks Here

Approximately 300 National Guard vehicles of the 50th Armored Division, New Jersey headed for Camp Drum, bivouacked near the Route 28 Thruway interchange last night. Working with troopers in the handling of traffic were Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg and Deputies Benjamin Newkirk and Thomas Mayone. They were at the scene from 10:30 p. m. to 1 a. m. Deputy Mayone was at the scene this morning when the convoy made its departure. According to Mr. Vredenburg the arrival and departure was executed as scheduled without hitch.

Election Slated

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 23 (AP)—A contest marked today's election for president of the National Secretaries Assn. The incumbent, Miss Cassandra D. Waterman of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Miss Eunice E. Biemdiek of St. Louis were nominated yesterday for association president. The four-day convention will end tonight with a dinner at which the new officers will be installed.

Bus Fare Increase

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—The Public Service Commission today authorized the Mid-City Transit Corp. of Middletown to stop selling reduced-fare bus tickets to adults Aug. 11. The company, operator of four bus routes in the city, was permitted also to increase the price of one-ride school tickets from 20 for $1 to 14 for $1.

Boy Killed

Elmira, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Neil Lewis, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross G. Lewis Jr., of suburban Elmira Heights, was fatally injured yesterday when he fell or jumped from his parents' automobile and fell under the wheels. He was playing in the car, parked in a driveway, when it started to roll.

Check Car Fire

Fire caused by a short circuit in the wiring of a car owned and operated by Dorothy Ten Eyck of Hurley was extinguished by firemen at 9:30 p. m., Friday, at 184 Hurley avenue. The fire department reported only slight damage to the wiring.

Senators Argue

day that if he had made the call, "it has slipped by mind."

He was asked if he made the call after the lawyer had questioned the propriety of renewing an RCA contract with the Mulligan firm while Talbott served as both its partner and as a government official. RCA handles some defense contracts.

In the row with McClellan yesterday, Mundt called it "shocking and shameful" that the subcommittee had decided to halt temporarily its work on the Talbott case to investigate what he said was a less pressing matter involving some defective grain bins.

Sen. Bender (R.-Ohio) joined Mundt in the protest, contending that the dangling inquiry could even be embarrassing to President Eisenhower in the Geneva Big Four talks.

MUNDT DEMANDED investigations of how some subcommittee secrets had "leaked" to the press, and steps to prevent more leaks. He said the leaks were "stulifying" the subcommittee's work.

Stories concerning preliminary work on the case appeared in print in advance of any committee announcement, and the New York Times published this week copies of letters Talbott had turned over to the group.

McClellan retorted hotly that he was moving as swiftly as possible in the Talbott inquiry, and had "leaned over backward" to be fair in it.

"If the purpose of these interjections is to embarrass the chairman," McClellan told Mundt, "you can't do it—you or both of you together."

Would Send Food

there is no reason in the world why we should not exchange non-strategic materials with them."

However, Sen. Capehart (R.-Ind.) said he thinks such trade should come only after the Soviets agree to withdraw from the satellite countries and "not try to spread communism throughout the world."

Sen. Wiley (R.-Wis.) said he thinks that if there is a free exchange of ideas between East and West the results "might lead to peace in our time."

"If the average Russian, for instance, could be brought to recognize the significance of the H-bomb and its terrible fall-out threat, he would see that in order to apply the law of self preservation we would have to be friends,' he said.

Sen. Fulbright (D.-Ark.) said he thinks the "cordial tone" of the Geneva Conference is important.

"Good manners and cordial conduct are the first step toward negotiations," he observed.

Sen. Humphrey (D.-Minn.) said he approved of the way Eisenhower has been using the conference for a "sounding board or forum," and added, "that should be done at every conference."

Vice President Nixon said yesterday that Eisenhower has had at Geneva a "forum unequalled in history. . . . To point out to the world that the United States wants peace, not war." He said that was one of the principal benefits of the conference.

Bethlehem Steel

Staten Island and Brooklyn.

The agreement was worked out under a wage reopening clause in the union's contract and was signed eight days before the time limit set by the contract. It is effective today and runs until July 31, 1956.

A statement issued by union President John J. Grogan, of Hoboken, N. J., said, "we are gratified by the early and amicable settlement with management." He added:

"We sincerely hope that the realism demonstrated by union and management in arriving at a workable understanding will help put a brake on the emigration of these skilled men into other industries.

"More fundamentally, we pray that it will be directly followed by congressional and administration action to wipe out depression and widespread unemployment in our feast and famine industry by adoption of a long range shipbuilding and ship repair program to build and maintain a powerful American merchant marine."

Rutherford Dies

Cape Vincent, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Alexander H. Rutherford, 78, a director of Revere Copper & Brass Corp. and a retired stock broker, died at his summer home here yesterday. He had been associated with the Wall Street firms of Price & MacCormack and Cutting & Taylor. He was born in San Francisco and was an 1899 graduate of Yale University. The widow, the former Lucy Stevens of Rochester, and a sister, Mrs. Emma Rutherford Kerney of California, survive. The funeral will be at 2:30 p. m. Sunday from the Zion Episcopal Church, Rome. Burial will be in Rome Cemetery.

Strike Authorized

New York, July 23 (AP)—A union official has announced that dining car workers have authorized a strike that could stop operations of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad in August. Dudley Washington, general chairman of Local 370 of the AFL Dining Car Employes Union, said yesterday the dispute involved the hiring of female employes to replace male employes on grill cars.

Man Drowns

Buffalo, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Robert Nowark, 21, was drowned yesterday while swimming in the Niagara river off suburban North Tonawanda.

Hope Held

of the four-power summit conference?

ACCORDING to the adopted agenda, today we meet to discuss methods of normalizing and increasing the contacts between our nations in many fields. I am heartened by the deep interest in the question, which interest implies a common purpose to understand each other better. Unfortunately there exist unnecessary restrictions on the flow between us of ideas, of things and of people.

Like other questions we have considered during the past four days, this one cannot be considered independently or in isolation. All are related by their direct importance to the general objective of lessening world fears and tensions.

TO HELP achieve the goal of peace based on justice and right and mutual understanding, there are certain concrete steps that could be taken:

To lower the barriers which now impede the interchange of information and ideas between our peoples.

To lower the barriers which now impede the opportunities of peoples to travel anywhere in the world for peaceful, friendly purposes, so that all will have a chance to know each other face-to-face.

To create conditions which will encourage nations to increase the exchange of peaceful goods throughout the world.

SUCCESS in these endeavors would improve the conditions of life for all our citizens and elsewhere in the world. By helping eliminate poverty and ignorance, we can take another step in progress toward peace.

Restrictions on communications of all kinds, including radio and travel, existing in extreme form in some places, have operated as causes of mutual distrust. In America, the fervent belief in freedom of thought, of expression, and of movement is a vital part of our heritage. Yet during these past ten years even we have felt compelled, in the protection of our own interests, to place some restrictions upon the movement of persons and communications across our national frontiers.

THIS CONFERENCE has the opportunity, I believe, to initiate concrete steps to permit the breaking down of both mild and severe barriers to mutual understanding and trust.

Now I should like to turn to the question of trade. I assume that each of us here is dedicated to the improvement of the conditions of life of our own citizens. Trade in peaceful goods is an important factor in achieving this goal. If trade is to reach its maximum capability in this regard, it must be both voluminous and worldwide.

The United Nations has properly been concerned in making available to the people of the underdeveloped areas modern technology and managerial abilities, as well as capital and credit. My country not only supports these efforts, but has undertaken parallel projects outside the United Nations.

IN THIS connection the new atomic science possesses a tremendous potential for helping raising the standards of living and providing greater opportunity for all the world. Worldwide interest in overcoming poverty and ignorance is growing by leaps and bounds, and each of the great nations should do its utmost to assist in this development. As a result new desires, new requirements, new aspirations are emerging almost everywhere as man climbs the upward path of his destiny. Most encouraging of all is the evidence that after centuries of fatalism and resignation, the hopeless of the world are beginning to hope.

But regardless of the results achieved through the United Nations effort or the individual efforts of helpful nations, trade remains the indispensable arterial system of a flourishing world prosperity.

IF WE COULD create conditions in which unnecessary restrictions on trade would be progressively eliminated and under which there would be free and friendly exchange of ideas and of people, we should have done much to chart the paths toward the objectives we commonly seek.

By working together toward all these goals, we can do much to transform this century of recurring conflict into a century of enduring and invigorating peace. This, I assure you, the United States of America devoutly desires—as I know all of us do.

Pravda . . .

the Star's correspondent, Crosby Noyes, of differences among the western heads of government on disarmament plans.

It said some West German papers "indulge in arguments about 'postponement of the solution of the German question' in order to distort the position of the Soviet Union in this matter."

Today's Geneva dispatches in the Soviet press were the most limited and restrained of all since the conference began Monday. They made no reference to any deadlock.

Ferry in Dispute

New York, July 23 (AP)—The director of passenger service economics for the New York Central Railroad believes the Weehawken ferry should be dropped even if the West Shore Division stays in business. The official, William R. Main, testified yesterday during an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the railroad's bid to abandon the ferry between Weehawken, N. J., and Manhattan. The railroad also seeks to eliminate passenger service on the West Shore line which runs between Weehawken and Albany, N. Y.

Legion Juniors Capture Easy Victory, Rout Eldred 31-0

Maines, Short Pitch Victory, Allow Two Hits

Ashdown, Maines, Brodhead Homer

Kingston's American Legion Juniors simply had too much of everything for their opponents from Eldred, Sullivan county, last night at Dietz Stadium.

The locals, winners of the Ulster county title, racked up a lopsided 31-0 victory to enter the semi-finals of the district tournament. Kingston met a Columbia county team at Dietz this afternoon. The winner will play in tomorrow's finals at Albany.

Two Bobs, Maines and Short, shared the pitching honors for Kingston. Ronnie Ashdown was the hitting star as the locals pounded three visiting hurlers for 17 hits, including three home runs.

Thirteen players saw action for the Old Capitol Motors squad, and 11 shared in the scoring and hitting.

MAINES PITCHED the first three innings. The big lefthander faced 10 men and struck out nine. The other walked.

Short finished in fine fashion, fanning six and walking three. He gave up both of Eldred's hits.

Ashdown had a great night at the bat. The slender catcher swatted five hits in seven trips, including a homer and a double. He scored five runs.

Maines and Skip Brodhead also homered for the winners.

Kingston nicked starter Millard Hulse for a pair of runs in the first inning. In the third the locals erupted for eight to turn the tilt into a runaway. Manager Tommy Maines' charges piled it on after that with a dozen tallies in the fourth and nine more in the sixth frame.

Kingston backed up the fine work of its pitchers with errorless support afield. Eldred made its task more troublesome with five errors.

Brodhead and Maines hit their home runs back-to-back in the third inning. Brodhead's circuit shot to deep center field came with Eric Blackwell aboard via an error. Maines' blast was to right field.

ASHDOWN got his round tripper in the fourth. With Johnny Culjak on base, Ronnie teed off on one of Hulse's deliveries and sent it down the left field line. Culjak had doubled to score Bill Cragin.

Ken Tonkinson relieved Hulse with two away in the fourth. Tonkinson lasted two full innings and gave way to Charley Hotzler, who finished.

Both of Eldred's hits came in the fourth inning. With two away Ed Martin and Hulse singled. The threat ended, however, when Martin tried to take third after Ashdown had dropped a pitch. The Kingston catcher pegged to Blackwell for the third out.

The tension mounts as the date draws near for the baseball game between the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Police.

Listen to this bit of brisk repartee that transpired between Meyer Levy, president of the KPA, and Jake Senor, VFW manager, in Jake's downtown beanery.

Levy—We're trying to get the women interested in our game, Jake. We may run an ad on the society page of The Freeman next week.

Senor—Why don't you try the obituary column?

Levy—We're saving that for the VFW after the ball game. End of quotations.

● Flotsam and Jetsam:

The steady growth of boating and yachting in Kingston has been obvious for some time now. We note that a joint legislative committee plans a series of public hearings on the sport. Its chairman, Republican Assemblyman Charles A. Cusick of Auburn says the major goal of the committee (armed with a $15,000 appropriation) is to promote greater public safety on all waters in the state and the orderly growth of motor boating as one of our major outdoor sports.

"Our committee believes that motor boating has not only made a permanent comeback—but that its growth is bound to continue," Cusick said. "Thousands of new, inexperienced operators, driving high powered boats in strange waters, have not only created problems for themselves—but for many fishermen, cottage owners and other groups. . . ."

● Of Men and Mice:

The day Roland Post post-carded from Indian Lake "Back on the beam (meaning the Yankees) and watch Turley go tonight." P.S. Turley didn't get by the first inning against Chicago White Sox. . . . Isn't the little village of Saugerties just about the best amateur-junior baseball town in the country on a per capita basis? . . . Yankee diehards are experiencing a rough time these days, but Harry Hutton, Chuck Nord, Boomer Miller, John Misasi, Dick McCarthy, Al Cawein of the Yankee family among our fellow employes are supremely confident that Bob Turley will open against Don Newcombe at the Yankee Stadium late in September. . . . The sparkling Doodledorfers will do their version of the Dodger Sym-phoney to help enliven next Wednesday night's shenanigans at Dietz Stadium. . . . Washington Park in Chicago was selected as the site for the $100,000 match race between Swaps and Nashua because, among other things, it boasts the longest home stretch of any American track, 1,531 feet.

Boy Scouts at Camp Tri-Mount have better facilities to learn the safe handling of firearms this summer and it's an interesting story how it all came about.

Sportsmen's groups from Greene and Ulster county combined last fall on a project to build a safe rifle range at Camp Tri-mount. After a site was selected by the Scout executives, the field was cleared with a bulldozer supplied by one of the Greene county sportsmen. Then an earthen backstop was pushed up and faced with used railroad ties supplied by the New York Central RR. The sportsmen did all the hard labor of hauling in and placing this wood backstop.

The surrounding earthen works and the banks of a small stream, partly damaged in the construction, were seeded to a rye cover crop and mulched with hay to provide protection against erosion and to make the area around the range more pleasing to the eye. The rye seed and hay mulch were donated by George Boice, Jr., of Mt. Marion. The sportsmen stayed overnight at the camp while doing this project, supplying their own food and bed rolls.

Incidentally, the Scouts will get additional conservation instruction this year from members of the New York State Conservation Department and from qualified sportsmen who are members of the National Rifle Association.

Ulster county men who worked on this splendid project were: S. James Matthews, Richard Whalen, Nick Lalima, Nelson Shultis, Al Schneller, Fred Markle, Everand Short, Sherrill Keyser, Herb Paust and Carlton B. King.

This is just another outstanding example of what a group of men can do for youngsters when they set their minds to it.

DeWitt Lake Sets '300' for Tomorrow

DeWitt Lake Park will conduct its annual swimming meet tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The nine-race card will be featured by the 300-yard event.

The DeWitt "300" attracts the best swimmers in the area. It's a rugged test of endurance and swimming skill.

Three former champions are entered. They are Gil Kelder of Rosendale, Cameron Page of Port Ewen and Harry Streeter. Also entered is Kingston's Joe Heidcamp, a frequent winner when Williams Lake held its races.

The other races include events for both young children and adults.

Bowler Killed

Philadelphia, July 23 (AP)—Frank Serpico, 60, one of the top bowlers in the country, was killed instantly late last night when his automobile collided with a trolley car at a downtown intersection.

Serpico, who was thrown from the car and hurled more than 40 feet by the force of the impact, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hahnemann Hospital.

Four trolley passengers were treated for bruises. The motorman was uninjured.

Serpico's expensive, air-conditioned late model car was completely wrecked.

A two-time national bowling titleholder, Serpico was a native of Brooklyn, N. Y. After a brief career as a bicycle rider at famed Coney Island, and later as a professional boxer, he slowly began his rise to the top in the bowling world.

Snekser Retains State Golf Title

Rochester, N. Y., July 23 (AP) Pete Snekser, of Buffalo has successfully defended his crown in the New York State Senior Golf Association tourney.

Snekser fired a 72 yesterday to bring his two-day total to 147 at the Oak Hill Country Club here. He was followed by Ed O'Hare, of Syracuse, with a total of 148 and Roy Corey, also of Syracuse with a 149 total.

The tourney was open to players 55 years of age and up.

Walt Harder's excellent relief pitching and his booming bat were the big factor in the Electrol Giants' 5-3 victory over the Moose Red Sox in an American Little League game last night at the 156th Field Artillery diamond.

Harder took over for starter Vince Smedes in the second inning with none out. He proceeded to strike out the side. And he repeated the fact in the fourth and sixth innings. In the third and fifth frames he fanned two batters for a total of 13.

At the plate, Harder was three-for-three. He pounded a triple in the fourth frame. Tom Gardner and Jim Bruck got the only other Giants hits off loser Dick Whiston, who fanned five and walked seven.

The Sox made only three safeties off Harder and Smedes. Mike Carpino got a pair and Tony Erena one.

Three Star In PGA Event; Bolt a Talker

Detroit, July 23 (AP)—In the wake of "Gray Friday"—you could hardly call it "black" with so many favorites winning—there emerged three-imposing figures in the PGA golf tournament:

Dr. Cary Middlecoff as the strong man, Johnny Palmer as the silent man and Tommy Bolt as the loud man.

With only 16 survivors left, these three players stood out as the ones to watch in today's 36-hole third round at the Meadowbrook Country Club.

And of the three, the flamboyant, unpredictable but wonderfully colorful Bolt—who has the quaint habit of saying what he thinks—probably is the best bet to go all the way in this week-long marathon.

Who says so?

Why, a fellow named Tommy Bolt says so. Listen:

"I saved this tournament by beating him—so it just has to be mine. If I didn't stop him, he'd have gone on to take it all."

The "him" in question was Sammy Snead, a three-time PGA champion who lost a grim struggle to Bolt in yesterday's second round.

"No one else could beat him except me," added the modest Mr. Bolt, who earlier had let his sizzling clubs do his talking. "I don't choke against Snead."

INDEED NOT. He never let Snead get ahead of him and fired a four-under-par which the West Virginian simply couldn't match. The score was 3 and 2.

But don't forget Middlecoff and Palmer, who do considerably less talking but just as much golfing as Bolt.

Middlecoff, perhaps the hottest player in this tournament came through with two strong victories. He got past Wally Burkemo, the 1953 PGA champion, 2 and 1, and then eliminated Billy Nary, 3 and 2.

Palmer eliminated defending champion Chick Harbert, 1-up. And on Harbert's home course too.

But if it's any consolation to Harbert, all former champions went out in yesterday's double round.

In addition to himself and Burkemo, ex-champs Gene Sarazen and Vic Ghezzi were sent to the sidelines.

It was favorites day at the humid, steamy Meadowbrook layout, as medalist Doug Ford, Jackie Burke, Ed Furgol, Marty Furgol, Jack Fleck, Lew Worsham and Fred Hawkins all came through.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—Sugar Ray Robinson, 159¾, New York, outpointed Rocky Castellani, 160, Cleveland, 10.

NEW ORLEANS—Joe Dorsey 166, New Orleans, stopped Andy Mayfield, 162½, Miami 6.

Robinson Impresses With Ring Victory

San Francisco, July 23 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, fit as a fiddle and raring to go, figures he's ready to bid for the middleweight championship he gave up three years ago for the song-and-dance business.

The 140-fight veteran, punching with both fists, got off his knees last night in the Cow Palace ring to pound a 10-round decision over No. 1 contender Rocky Castellani in the top effort of his comeback bid. A crowd of 8,230 which paid $39,819 greeted the split decision with ringing applause.

Robinson, a 2-1 underdog at the bell, earned the nod from Referee Jack Downey and Judge Frank Carter by 56-54. Judge Jack Silver had Castellani the winner by the same score. The Associated Press card showed Robinson on top, 57-53.

What's next?

"I'D LIKE to fight (Bobo) Olson if the public wants the match," Robinson said.

Robinson upset the odds with his pressing offensive and at the final bell looked in better shape than his opponent.

Only once did Robinson falter. In the sixth round Castellani caught him with a left hook and a straight right to the head. Robinson made a three-point landing on his knees and one hand, then straightened up and took a nine-count on both knees. Robinson fought his way out and knocked Rocky to the floor momentarily near the end of the round. There was no count.

Castellani was down twice in the seventh, but bounced up without a count. The second time was ruled a slip.

Times Square Wins at Vernon

Vernon, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Times Square, a five-year-old stallion, scored 2-1 in the summary last night to win the $10,000 Gainsway Farm pace at Vernon Downs.

McKinley Kirk drove the son of Victory Song to victory in the second dash after he was nosed out in 1:58 1/5 by a $33.80 long shot the first time around.

Curly Smart's Queen Adios from the Castleton Farms of Lexington, Ky., came up fast in the stretch to win the first dash in a photo finish. Freeman Hanover was third.

Times Square, owned by Eddie Kirk of Washington Courthouse, Ohio, won the second dash in 1:59 by half a length over Jug Chief. Chuck Volo was third. Times Square paid $3.70, $2.60 and $2.40.

Queen Adios returned $33.80, $8.50 and $4.40.

NEW RICHMOND, Wis.—Jackie Graves, 132, Austin, Minn. Stopped Napoleon Ludy, 130, Detroit, 4.

MEXICALI, Mexico—Manuel Ortiz, 132, El Centro, Calif. Knocked out Memo Valero, 132, Baja California, Mex., 3.

The Scoreboard

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

If the Chicago White Sox are here to stay, Manager Marty Marion can bow low to his relief pitching. The Pale Hose seldom have had it so good.

Twelve victories in the last 16 games have got the Go-Go Sox going, yet Marty's starters have managed only four complete games in the surge.

It's been the bullpen boys who have kept Chicago within reach for late rallies—and who have made early leads stand up.

It was that way again last night when the Sox thumped Boston 10-7 and took the American League lead by two percentage points over the New York Yankees. The Yanks were made fully aware of their plight by losing to Kansas City 3-1 after the A's had lost 10 straight.

THE SOX BELTED Boston for five runs in the first and five in the third. Still, Marion had to go to the relief staff, calling in Mike Fornieles and Sandy Consuegra and finally Morrie Martin to pull it off. Martin received credit for the victory by checking the Bosox on one hit over the last three innings.

Fornieles did all right after replacing Jack Harshman when Boston scored three in the third, until the Red Sox mustered four in the seventh. Consuegra misfired for a change, too, but Marion's knee-deep in reliefers.

Walt Dropo was the big man for Chicago, which moved back into first place after a 24-hour stay June 18. He doubled for two runs in the first and lined a two-run single in the third.

After the third, Chicago didn't get a hit. It was the big early innings and Martin that provided the difference. Tom Brewer, Boston starter, was the loser.

Elsewhere in the AL, Cleveland stayed two games behind the leaders with a 2-0 decision over Baltimore and Detroit plastered Washington 11-3.

BROOKLYN UPPED its National League lead to 14½ games with an 8-4 romp over runnerup Milwaukee; New York's Giants defeated Cincinnati 6-3 in the 14th inning; Pittsburgh drubbed Chicago 3-1 and St. Louis stopped Philadelphia 8-1 after the Phils had made it 11 in a row by winning the first game of the twi-night twinbill 6-3. The Yanks, who had led the AL since May 21 except for Chicago's teaser in June, were knocked over by a pair of former mates—Vic Raschi and Tom Gorman. Raschi won his third, giving 10 hits but stranding 12 in eight innings. Gorman gave a hit but no runs in the sixth. Enos Slaughter, another recent Yank, scored the first run and had two-for-three.

New York now has lost 12 of the last 17 games.

Cleveland got just four hits off Baltimore's Jim Wilson, but took it anyway on Al Smith's fourth-inning homer and a sacrifice fly by Hank Foiles in the seventh after singles by Al Rosen and Ferris Fain. Herb Score won his ninth, with relief, and fanned five to run his strikeout total to 147.

Detroit, only 7½ games off the pace, swarmed over the Senators with Ray Boone clouting a pair of home runs, one with two on. Ned Garver won it for a 9-9 record. Harvey Kuenn had four-for-five.

THE CARDINALS scored three times in the third inning to snare the nightcap after the Phils had matched Brooklyn's 11-game string—longest in the majors this season. Red Schoendienst drove in three of the Cards' runs iin the second game, won by Harvey Haddix. Bobby Morgan's three-run homer topped a six-run rally in the fifth inning of the opener.

It was PeeWee Reese Night at Ebbets Field and the Dodger shortstop hit two doubles, drove in a run and scored a run. Milwaukee had four homers, two by Del Crandall, but rookie Roger Craig got his second victory with relief from Ed Roebuck. Gene Conley was the loser. Brooklyn packed the game away in a three-run eighth when Carl Furillo homered with two on.

Rookie Gail Harris's homer with two on in the fifth extra inning sent Cincinnati to its sixth straight defeat while lifting the Giants to within a game and a half of Milwaukee. Marv Grissom won in relief. Joe Black gave the Giants six scattered hits while working the first 10 innings.

The Cubs fell to their 13th defeat in 15 games as Elroy Face pitched a seven-hitter. The Bucs started their 11-hit attack against Paul Minner with Gene Freese hitting two triples.

Local 259 Loses

Rapp's Captures Win, 20-18

Rapp's Express scored another victory in the City Softball League Wednesday night, edging Local 259 by a 20-18 count.

The run-making marathon was featured by five home runs.

Red Hinkley, John Alecca and Bob Perry hit circuit blows for the winners. Vince Carpino and Lou DeCicco had homers for the Brickyard Boys.

Perry had a big night at the bat, going six-for-six. He clouted a double and four singles plus the home run.

Hinkley had five hits—the homer, a triple and three singles. Tino Reynauld had a pair of doubles and as many singles.

Legion Juniors Capture Easy Victory, Rout Eldred 31-0

Maines, Short Pitch Victory, Allow Two Hits

Ashdown, Maines, Brodhead Homer

Kingston's American Legion Juniors simply had too much of everything for their opponents from Eldred, Sullivan county, last night at Dietz Stadium.

The locals, winners of the Ulster county title, racked up a lopsided 31-0 victory to enter the semi-finals of the district tournament. Kingston met a Columbia county team at Dietz this afternoon. The winner will play in tomorrow's finals at Albany.

Two Bobs, Maines and Short, shared the pitching honors for Kingston. Ronnie Ashdown was the hitting star as the locals pounded three visiting hurlers for 17 hits, including three home runs.

Thirteen players saw action for the Old Capitol Motors squad, and 11 shared in the scoring and hitting.

MAINES PITCHED the first three innings. The big lefthander faced 10 men and struck out nine. The other walked.

Short finished in fine fashion, fanning six and walking three. He gave up both of Eldred's hits.

Ashdown had a great night at the bat. The slender catcher swatted five hits in seven trips, including a homer and a double. He scored five runs.

Maines and Skip Brodhead also homered for the winners.

Kingston nicked starter Millard Hulse for a pair of runs in the first inning. In the third the locals erupted for eight to turn the tilt into a runaway. Manager Tommy Maines' charges piled it on after that with a dozen tallies in the fourth and nine more in the sixth frame.

Kingston backed up the fine work of its pitchers with errorless support afield. Eldred made its task more troublesome with five errors.

Brodhead and Maines hit their home runs back-to-back in the third inning. Brodhead's circuit shot to deep center field came with Eric Blackwell aboard via an error. Maines' blast was to right field.

ASHDOWN got his round tripper in the fourth. With Johnny Culjak on base, Ronnie teed off on one of Hulse's deliveries and sent it down the left field line. Culjak had doubled to score Bill Cragin.

Ken Tonkinson relieved Hulse with two away in the fourth. Tonkinson lasted two full innings and gave way to Charley Hotzler, who finished.

Both of Eldred's hits came in the fourth inning. With two away Ed Martin and Hulse singled. The threat ended, however, when Martin tried to take third after Ashdown had dropped a pitch. The Kingston catcher pegged to Blackwell for the third out.

The tension mounts as the date draws near for the baseball game between the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Police.

Listen to this bit of brisk repartee that transpired between Meyer Levy, president of the KPA, and Jake Senor, VFW manager, in Jake's downtown beanery.

Levy—We're trying to get the women interested in our game, Jake. We may run an ad on the society page of The Freeman next week.

Senor—Why don't you try the obituary column?

Levy—We're saving that for the VFW after the ball game. End of quotations.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The steady growth of boating and yachting in Kingston has been obvious for some time now. We note that a joint legislative committee plans a series of public hearings on the sport. Its chairman, Republican Assemblyman Charles A. Cusick of Auburn says the major goal of the committee (armed with a $15,000 appropriation) is to promote greater public safety on all waters in the state and the orderly growth of motor boating as one of our major outdoor sports.

"Our committee believes that motor boating has not only made a permanent comeback—but that its growth is bound to continue," Cusick said. "Thousands of new, inexperienced operators, driving high powered boats in strange waters, have not only created problems for themselves—but for many fishermen, cottage owners and other groups. . . ."

• Of Men and Mice:

The day Roland Post post-carded from Indian Lake "Back on the beam (meaning the Yankees) and watch Turley go tonight." P.S. Turley didn't get by the first inning against Chicago White Sox. . . . Isn't the little village of Saugerties just about the best amateur-junior baseball town in the country on a per capita basis? . . . Yankee diehards are experiencing a rough time these days, but Harry Hutton, Chuck Nord, Boomer Miller, John Misasi, Dick McCarthy, Al Cawein of the Yankee family among our fellow employes are supremely confident that Bob Turley will open against Don Newcombe at the Yankee Stadium late in September. . . . The sparkling Doodledorfers will do their version of the Dodger Sym-phoney to help enliven next Wednesday night's shenanigans at Dietz Stadium. . . . Washington Park in Chicago was selected as the site for the $100,000 match race between Swaps and Nashua because, among other things, it boasts the longest home stretch of any American track, 1,531 feet.

Boy Scouts at Camp Tri-Mount have better facilities to learn the safe handling of firearms this summer and it's an interesting story how it all came about.

Sportsmen's groups from Greene and Ulster county combined last fall on a project to build a safe rifle range at Camp Trimount. After a site was selected by the Scout executives, the field was cleared with a bulldozer supplied by one of the Greene county sportsmen. Then an earthen backstop was pushed up and faced with used railroad ties supplied by the New York Central RR. The sportsmen did all the hand labor of hauling in and placing this wood backstop.

The surrounding earthen works and the banks of a small stream, partly damaged in the construction, were seeded to a rye cover crop and mulched with hay to provide protection against erosion and to make the area around the range more pleasing to the eye. The rye seed and hay mulch were donated by George Boice, Jr., of Mt. Marion. The sportsmen stayed overnight at the camp while doing this project, supplying their own food and bed rolls.

Incidentally, the Scouts will get additional conservation instruction this year from members of the New York State Conservation Department and from qualified sportsmen who are members of the National Rifle Association.

Ulster county men who worked on this splendid project were: S. James Matthews, Richard Whalen, Nick Lalima, Nelson Shultis, Al Schneller, Fred Markle, Everand Short, Sherrill Keyser, Herb Paust and Carlton B. King.

This is just another outstanding example of what a group of men can do for youngsters when they set their minds to it.

DeWitt Lake Sets '300' for Tomorrow

DeWitt Lake Park will conduct its annual swimming meet tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The nine-race card will be featured by the 300-yard event.

The DeWitt "300" attracts the best swimmers in the area. It's a rugged test of endurance and swimming skill.

Three former champions are entered. They are Gil Kelder of Rosendale, Cameron Page of Port Ewen and Harry Streeter. Also entered is Kingston's Joe Heidcamp, a frequent winner when Williams Lake held its races.

The other races include events for both young children and adults.

Bowler Killed

Philadelphia, July 23 (AP)—Frank Serpico, 60, one of the top bowlers in the country, was killed instantly late last night when his automobile collided with a trolley car at a downtown intersection.

Serpico, who was thrown from the car and hurled more than 40 feet by the force of the impact, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hahnemann Hospital.

Four trolley passengers were treated for bruises. The motorman was uninjured.

Serpico's expensive, air-conditioned late model car was completely wrecked.

A two-time national bowling titleholder, Serpico was a native of Brooklyn, N. Y. After a brief career as a bicycle rider at famed Coney Island, and later as a professional boxer, he slowly began his rise to the top in the bowling world.

Snekser Retains State Golf Title

Rochester, N. Y., July 23 (AP) Pete Snekser, of Buffalo has successfully defended his crown in the New York State Senior Golf Association tourney.

Snekser fired a 72 yesterday to bring his two-day total to 147 at the Oak Hill Country Club here. He was followed by Ed O'Hare, of Syracuse, with a total of 148 and Roy Corey, also of Syracuse with a 149 total.

The tourney was open to players 55 years of age and up.

Walt Harder's excellent relief pitching and his booming bat were the big factor in the Electrol Giants' 5-3 victory over the Moose Red Sox in an American Little League game last night at the 156th Field Artillery diamond.

Harder took over for starter Vince Smedes in the second inning with none out. He proceeded to strike out the side. And he repeated the fact in the fourth and sixth innings. In the third and fifth frames he fanned two batters for a total of 13.

At the plate, Harder was three-for-three. He pounded a triple in the fourth frame. Tom Gardner and Jim Bruck got the only other Giants hits off loser Dick Whiston, who fanned five and walked seven.

The Sox made only three safeties off Harder and Smedes. Mike Carpino got a pair and Tony Erena one.

Three Star In PGA Event; Bolt a Talker

Detroit, July 23 (AP)—In the wake of "Gray Friday"—you could hardly call it "black" with so many favorites winning—there emerged three-imposing figures in the PGA golf tournament:

Dr. Cary Middlecoff as the strong man, Johnny Palmer as the silent man and Tommy Bolt as the loud man.

With only 16 survivors left, these three players stood out as the ones to watch in today's 36-hole third round at the Meadowbrook Country Club.

And of the three, the flamboyant, unpredictable but wonderfully colorful Bolt—who has the quaint habit of saying what he thinks—probably is the best bet to go all the way in this week-long marathon.

Who says so?

Why, a fellow named Tommy Bolt says so. Listen:

"I saved this tournament by beating him—so it just has to be mine. If I didn't stop him, he'd have gone on to take it all."

The "him" in question was Sammy Snead, a three-time PGA champion who lost a grim struggle to Bolt in yesterday's second round.

"No one else could beat him except me," added the modest Mr. Bolt, who earlier had let his sizzling clubs do his talking. "I don't choke against Snead."

INDEED NOT. He never let Snead get ahead of him and fired a four-under-par which the West Virginian simply couldn't match. The score was 3 and 2.

But don't forget Middlecoff and Palmer, who do considerably less talking but just as much golfing as Bolt.

Middlecoff, perhaps the hottest player in this tournament came through with two strong victories. He got past Wally Burkemo, the 1953 PGA champion, 2 and 1, and then eliminated Billy Nary, 3 and 2.

Palmer eliminated defending champion Chick Harbert, 1-up. And on Harbert's home course too.

But if it's any consolation to Harbert, all former champions went out in yesterday's double round.

In addition to himself and Burkemo, ex-champs Gene Sarazen and Vic Ghezzi were sent to the sidelines.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—Sugar Ray Robinson, 159¾, New York, outpointed Rocky Castellani, 160, Cleveland, 10.

NEW ORLEANS—Joe Dorsey 166, New Orleans, stopped Andy Mayfield, 162½, Miami 6.

Robinson Impresses With Ring Victory

San Francisco, July 23 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, fit as a fiddle and raring to go, figures he's ready to bid for the middleweight championship he gave up three years ago for the song-and-dance business.

The 140-fight veteran, punching with both fists, got off his knees last night in the Cow Palace ring to pound a 10-round decision over No. 1 contender Rocky Castellani in the top effort of his comeback bid. A crowd of 8,230 which paid $39,819 greeted the split decision with ringing applause.

Robinson, a 2-1 underdog at the bell, earned the nod from Referee Jack Downey and Judge Frank Carter by 56-54. Judge Jack Silver had Castellani the winner by the same score. The Associated Press card showed Robinson on top, 57-53.

What's next?

"I'D LIKE to fight (Bobo) Olson if the public wants the match," Robinson said.

Robinson upset the odds with his pressing offensive and at the final bell looked in better shape than his opponent.

Only once did Robinson falter. In the sixth round Castellani caught him with a left hook and a straight right to the head. Robinson made a three-point landing on his knees and one hand, then straightened up and took a nine-count on both knees. Robinson fought his way out and knocked Rocky to the floor momentarily near the end of the round. There was no count.

Castellani was down twice in the seventh, but bounced up without a count. The second time was ruled a slip.

If the Chicago White Sox are here to stay, Manager Marty Marion can bow low to his relief pitching. The Pale Hose seldom have had it so good.

Twelve victories in the last 16 games have got the Go-Go Sox going, yet Marty's starters have managed only four complete games in the surge.

It's been the bullpen boys who have kept Chicago within reach for late rallies—and who have made early leads stand up.

It was that way again last night when the Sox thumped Boston 10-7 and took the American League lead by two percentage points over the New York Yankees. The Yanks were made fully aware of their plight by losing to Kansas City 3-1 after the A's had lost 10 straight.

THE SOX BELTED Boston for five runs in the first and five in the third. Still, Marion had to go to the relief staff, calling in Mike Fornieles and Sandy Consuegra and finally Morrie Martin to pull it off. Martin received credit for the victory by checking the Bosox on one hit over the last three innings.

Fornieles did all right after replacing Jack Harshman when Boston scored three in the third, until the Red Sox mustered four in the seventh. Consuegra misfired for a change, too, but Marion's knee-deep in reliefers.

Walt Dropo was the big man for Chicago, which moved back into first place after a 24-hour stay June 18. He doubled for two runs in the first and lined a two-run single in the third.

After the third, Chicago didn't get a hit. It was the big early innings and Martin that provided the difference. Tom Brewer, Boston starter, was the loser.

Elsewhere in the AL, Cleveland stayed two games behind the leaders with a 2-0 decision over Baltimore and Detroit plastered Washington 11-3.

BROOKLYN UPPED its National League lead to 14½ games with an 8-4 romp over runnerup Milwaukee; New York's Giants defeated Cincinnati 6-3 in the 14th inning; Pittsburgh drubbed Chicago 3-1 and St. Louis stopped Philadelphia 8-1 after the Phils had made it 11 in a row by winning the first game of the twi-night twinbill 6-3. The Yanks, who had led the AL since May 21 except for Chicago's teaser in June, were knocked over by a pair of former mates—Vic Raschi and Tom Gorman. Raschi won his third, giving 10 hits but stranding 12 in eight innings. Gorman gave a hit but no runs in the sixth. Enos Slaughter, another recent Yank, scored the first run and had two-for-three.

New York now has lost 12 of the last 17 games.

Cleveland got just four hits off Baltimore's Jim Wilson, but took it anyway on Al Smith's fourth-inning homer and a sacrifice fly by Hank Foiles in the seventh after singles by Al Rosen and Ferris Fain. Herb Score won his ninth, with relief, and fanned five to run his strikeout total to 147.

Detroit, only 7½ games off the pace, swarmed over the Senators with Ray Boone clouting a pair of home runs, one with two on. Ned Garver won it for a 9-9 record. Harvey Kuenn had four-for-five.

THE CARDINALS scored three times in the third inning to snare the nightcap after the Phils had matched Brooklyn's 11-game string—longest in the majors this season. Red Schoendienst drove in three of the Cards' runs iin the second game, won by Harvey Haddix. Bobby Morgan's three-run homer topped a six-run rally in the fifth inning of the opener.

It was PeeWee Reese Night at Ebbets Field and the Dodger shortstop hit two doubles, drove in a run and scored a run. Milwaukee had four homers, two by Del Crandall, but rookie Roger Craig got his second victory with relief from Ed Roebuck. Gene Conley was the loser. Brooklyn packed the game away in a three-run eighth when Carl Furillo homered with two on.

Rookie Gail Harris's homer with two on in the fifth extra inning sent Cincinnati to its sixth straight defeat while lifting the Giants to within a game and a half of Milwaukee. Marv Grissom won in relief. Joe Black gave the Giants six scattered hits while working the first 10 innings.

The Cubs fell to their 13th defeat in 15 games as Elroy Face pitched a seven-hitter. The Bucs started their 11-hit attack against Paul Minner with Gene Freese hitting two triples.

Times Square Wins at Vernon

Vernon, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Times Square, a five-year-old stallion, scored 2-1 in the summary last night to win the $10,000 Gainsway Farm pace at Vernon Downs.

McKinley Kirk drove the son of Victory Song to victory in the second dash after he was nosed out in 1:58 1/5 by a $33.80 long shot the first time around.

Curly Smart's Queen Adios from the Castleton Farms of Lexington, Ky., came up fast in the stretch to win the first dash in a photo finish. Freeman Hanover was third.

Times Square, owned by Eddie Kirk of Washington Courthouse, Ohio, won the second dash in 1:59 by half a length over Jug Chief. Chuck Volo was third. Times Square paid $3.70, $2.60 and $2.40.

Queen Adios returned $33.80, $8.50 and $4.40.

Local 259 Loses

Rapp's Captures Win, 20-18

Rapp's Express scored another victory in the City Softball League Wednesday night, edging Local 259 by a 20-18 count.

The run-making marathon was featured by five home runs.

Red Hinkley, John Alecca and Bob Perry hit circuit blows for the winners. Vince Carpino and Lou DeCicco had homers for the Brickyard Boys.

Perry had a big night at the bat, going six-for-six. He clouted a double and four singles plus the home run.

Hinkley had five hits—the homer, a triple and three singles. Tino Reynauld had a pair of doubles and as many singles.

Reynauld and Jack Kozlowski hurled for the Expressmen. He gave up nine hits and 10 bases on balls.

Harry Secreto and Lou Secreto twirled for the losers. They allowed 26 base knocks.

How to Guess Where Ace Lies

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand is a type that you often encounter in play. You must knock out two aces in order to develop nine tricks. You make the contract if you knock out West's ace first, but you lose the game if you knock out East's ace first.

Let's go into that to see why this is so. Suppose you win the first trick with the ace of spades and lead hearts until West takes his ace. West leads another spade, and you refuse the trick. You must take the next spade, of course, but the West hand is now dead. You can develop the clubs safely, for East cannot lead another spade, and West has no outside entry to his established suit.

The situation is different if you are unlucky enough to lead clubs at the second trick. East takes the ace of clubs and leads the queen of spades. You let him hold it, but he continues with another spade to force out your king. This establishes West's hearts to assure an entry to the good spades.

How do you find out who has which ace? This is partly a matter of guesswork and partly a matter of inducing the enemy to give themselves away.

Perhaps the best plan, against normal human beings, is to lead suit, and West has the ace of the jack of hearts from the dummy at the second trick. If East has the ace, it is likely that he will play low in the hope that you are trying a finesse. When East does play low, you must put up the king of hearts from your own hand.

It would be wrong to make a big fuss over this play, but it is quite all right to play the king of hearts coldly and precisely. West may decide to take this trick, or he may decide to refuse it — but he will probably have to think things over. The very need for thought will probably tell you where the ace is.

Hence if West plays a low heart without a care in the world, you assume that East has the ace of hearts. In that case you swiftly switch to clubs in order to drive West's ace out first. But if West has to think about the best play when you put up the king of hearts, you continue with the same suit in order to drive out the ace.

THE RECORD SHOP: Putting titles on jazz instrumentals is always a big challenge. Some composers pick the first thing that comes into their head, some try to tag the number with a name based on the "feeling" it inspires, some look out the window and read a name off a passing pushcart.

Now comes George Shearing, the brilliant pianist-composer, who's just finished a series of new jazz originals. He's solved the problem simply; he'll call his works after exotically-named foreign glamor girls. And so there's a number called "Lollobrigida," there's a "Yamaguchi" and a "Pampanini." Can't you hear those jazz cats now: "Man, that Lollobrigida moves!"

Frankie Laine gets hunches. He got a hunch that something bad was going to happen, and four days later his long-time friends and accompanist, Carl Fisher, died. He also gets happy hunches, and he started off 1955 with the definite feeling that it was going to be a good year. It has been.

"Everything's broken wonderfully for me so far this year," Frankie says. Latest to happen to the dynamic Columbia records star is his new TV show. He's pinch-hitting for CBS-TV's Arthur Godfrey on Wednesday nights for eight weeks, on a program he'll call "Frankie Laine Time."

"It came out of the clear and blue," Frankie says. "Just one more good thing for '55."

Other good things — successful mtion pictures, his first fling at a major golfing Calcutta pool netted him $80,000 and he discovered a song which he thinks will be sensational.

"You know what I've always thought of 'Jezebel'," Frankie said. In case you don't know, Frankie Laine thinks his big hit song "Jezebel," which he discovered, is a terrific number. "Well, this new one cuts it a dozen ways. It's called 'Hell Hath No Fury Like a Woman Scorned,' and it's in a picture I made. I don't know when the record will be released, but I know this—I sang better on that record than anything I've done."

Which is saying something. Laine always gives a good effort on records, and you might be interested in his secret weapon. It's a simple one—learn the melody, not the words.

"I practice the melody over and over," he says. "I listen to it on record, I hum it, I get it firmly fixed in my mind. That way it becomes second nature, so when I go in to record the song, I don't have to think about the melody at all. I can then concentrate on the words, which I consider the most important thing in a song.

"By knowing the melody, I can think about the words as I sing them. I'm a singer, not an instrumentalist, and the only thing I have to sell is the words, the story of a song. This the way I do it."

And it must be a good way. Look at the record.

Beebe, professor of medicine and chairman of the Medical College's Department of Medicine.

SUCCESSOR TO THE LATE Sir Alexander Fleming, the discoverer on penicillin, Dr. Cruickshank is in this country on a visit to the New York State Department of Health, Division of Laboratories and Research, in Albany.

The topic of Dr. Cruickshank's lecture is "Respiratory Infection." The lecture will begin at 12 noon on Monday and all physicians are cordially invited to attend.

Request Turned Down

New York, July 23 (AP)—The state Public Service Commission today announced it has turned down the New York Central Railroad's request to discontinue passenger service at Millwood station on the Putnam Division. In asking to discontinue the station, the railroad said revenues there have dropped from $77,000 in 1951 to about $16,000 in 1954. The decline was mostly in carload freight, the railroad said. Passenger traffic and revenue increased slightly in the same period.

How to Guess Where Ace Lies

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand is a type that you often encounter in play. You must knock out two aces in order to develop nine tricks. You make the contract if you knock out West's ace first, but you lose the game if you knock out East's ace first.

Let's go into that to see why this is so. Suppose you win the first trick with the ace of spades and lead hearts until West takes his ace. West leads another spade, and you refuse the trick. You must take the next spade, of course, but the West hand is now dead. You can develop the clubs safely, for East cannot lead another spade, and West has no outside entry to his established suit.

The situation is different if you are unlucky enough to lead clubs at the second trick. East takes the ace of clubs and leads the queen of spades. You let him hold it, but he continues with another spade to force out your king. This establishes West's hearts to assure an entry to the good spades.

How do you find out who has which ace? This is partly a matter of guesswork and partly a matter of inducing the enemy to give themselves away.

Perhaps the best plan, against normal human beings, is to lead suit, and West has the ace of the jack of hearts from the dummy at the second trick. If East has the ace, it is likely that he will play low in the hope that you are trying a finesse. When East does play low, you must put up the king of hearts from your own hand.

It would be wrong to make a big fuss over this play, but it is quite all right to play the king of hearts coldly and precisely. West may decide to take this trick, or he may decide to refuse it — but he will probably have to think things over. The very need for thought will probably tell you where the ace is.

Hence if West plays a low heart without a care in the world, you assume that East has the ace of hearts. In that case you swiftly switch to clubs in order to drive West's ace first. But if West has to think about the best play when you put up the king of hearts, you continue with the same suit in order to drive out the ace.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

THE RECORD SHOP: Putting titles on jazz instrumentals is always a big challenge. Some composers pick the first thing that comes into their head, some try to tag the number with a name based on the "feeling" it inspires, some look out the window and read a name off a passing pushcart.

Now comes George Shearing, the brilliant pianist-composer, who's just finished a series of new jazz originals. He's solved the problem simply; he'll call his works after exotically-named foreign glamor girls. And so there's a number called "Lollobrigida," there's a "Yamaguchi" and a "Pampanini." Can't you hear those jazz cats now: "Man, that Lollobrigida moves!"

Frankie Laine gets hunches. He got a hunch that something bad was going to happen, and four days later his long-time friends and accompanist, Carl Fisher, died. He also gets happy hunches, and he started off 1955 with the definite feeling that it was going to be a good year. It has been.

"Everything's broken wonderfully for me so far this year," Frankie says. Latest to happen to the dynamic Columbia records star is his new TV show. He's pinch-hitting for CBS-TV's Arthur Godfrey on Wednesday nights for eight weeks, on a program he'll call "Frankie Laine Time."

"It came out of the clear and blue," Frankie says. "Just one more good thing for '55."

Other good things — successful mtion pictures, his first fling at a major golfing Calcutta pool netted him $80,000 and he discovered a song which he thinks will be sensational.

"You know what I've always thought of 'Jezebel'," Frankie said. In case you don't know, Frankie Laine thinks his big hit song "Jezebel," which he discovered, is a terrific number. "Well, this new one cuts it a dozen ways. It's called 'Hell Hath No Fury Like a Woman Scorned,' and it's in a picture I made. I don't know when the record will be released, but I know this—I sang better on that record than anything I've done."

Which is saying something. Laine always gives a good effort on records, and you might be interested in his secret weapon. It's a simple one—learn the melody, not the words.

"I practice the melody over and over," he says. "I listen to it on record, I hum it, I get it firmly fixed in my mind. That way it becomes second nature, so when I go in to record the song, I don't have to think about the melody at all. I can then concentrate on the words, which I consider the most important thing in a song.

"By knowing the melody, I can think about the words as I sing them. I'm a singer, not an instrumentalist, and the only thing I have to sell is the words, the story of a song. This the way I do it."

And it must be a good way. Look at the record.

One Killed, Two Injured in Truck Plunge Accident

Callicoon, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—A young national guardsman was killed last night and two others were injured when a heavy truck with a cannon in tow plunged 30 feet down an embankment on Route 97 near here.

The dead man was identified as Christopher Deveraux, 23, of New York city. Police said he was riding in the back of the truck, towing a 105 MM Howitzer from Camp Drum to New York city.

State police at nearby Narrowsburg said the driver of the truck apparently lost control of the wheel while driving on a steep slope about 2 miles from here. The truck crashed through a guard rail, overturned and toppled down a 30-foot enbankment.

Five Appointments Made In Kingston IBM Plant

Five appointments in the Kingston plant of International Business Machines Corporation have been announced by Gavin A. Cullen, general manager.

Those assigned are Edward Argulewicz, of 36 Jarrold street, Kingston, named manager of the printed circuit card manufacturing department; W. D. Johnston, of Wappingers Falls, manager of the boiler room; Herman R. Mandell, of Red Hook, manager of the salvage, warehouse, maintenance and service stores departments; Homer R. Muller, of Poughkeepsie, technical assistant to the manufacturing engineer; and Herbert B. Pier, of New Paltz, technical assistant in the subcontract manufacturing department.

MR. ARGULEWICZ, a graduate of Kingston High School, joined IBM in 1948 as a machine operator at Poughkeepsie. In 1952 he was made a set-up man for defense gear manufacturing and in 1954 became a group leader of card manufacturing at the Poughkeepsie Laboratory Annex. In February, 1955, he became a department technician in the card manufacturing department.

Mr. Argulewicz is a U. S. Navy veteran of World War 2 and the Korean War. He is a member of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Sick and Aid Society, the IBM Country Club, the IBM Study Club, and is an IBM Advisory Board member. He is married and has two children.

MR. JOHNSTON, a native of Roxbury, joined IBM in 1954 at Poughkeepsie as a fireman in the boiler room. He is a graduate of Dickinson High School, Jersey City, N. J., and his military service was spent as an engineer in the U. S. Merchant Marine. He is a member of the IBM Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston and their five children reside at 15 Gilmore Boulevard North, Wappingers Falls.

MR. MANDELL, a native of Brooklyn where he was graduated from high school, joined IBM in 1941 at the lower plant in Poughkeepsie, which was then the Munitions Manufacturing Co. At that time there were approximately 60 persons employed. Various appointments provided service as an expediter, a stock room dispatcher and administrative assistant work in the electric typewriter and electric accounting machine divisions. In addition he has had experience in World Trade Packaging and Shipping and wire contact relay analyzing. He came to Kingston as a department technician in shipping and receiving.

During World War 2 Mr. Mandell spent three years in the U. S. Army, two of which were in the European Theatre. Mr. Mandell, who is married, is a member of the IBM Study Club and is a director of the IBM Employees Health Association.

MR. MULLER, a graduate of Highland High School, joined IBM in Poughkeepsie in 1950 as a drill press operator. He is a veteran of World War 2 and the Korean War. He was inducted into the army in April 1941, and was sent to Officer Candidate School at Fort Hood, Texas, where he was graduated a second lieutenant. Thereafter he served with the 32nd Division in the South Pacilc until his discharge. During the Korean War he was attached to the 25th Division as a member of the 35th Regiment Tank Company. Following his discharge he returned to IBM at Poughkeepsie and worked in production control and was transferred as a group leader for project expediters. In 1954 he was transferred to Project High as a routing analyst.

Mr. Muller has two brothers, Robert P. and George D. Muller, employed by IBM at Poughkeepsie. He is a member of the IBM Country Club, the American Legion, the Forty & Eight and the Phoenicia Rod and Gun Club. Mr. and Mrs. Muller and their daughter reside at 280 Church Street, Poughkeepsie.

MR. PIER, a native of Long Island, holds a bachelor of science degree in engineering from Oklahoma A. & M. College. Following three years of service in the U. S. Navy, he joined IBM in 1952 as a technical engineer. He is a member of the IBM Country Club, the IBM Study Club, American Management Association, American Institute of Industrial Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Mr. and Mrs. Pier and their two children reside at 45 Center street, New Paltz.

Chlorine Fells Over 30 Persons

Utica, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Scores of persons were overcome by chlorine gas last night when a safety valve sprang in a tank being carried through the downtown area.

Twenty persons were taken to hospitals for treatment. Ten were held overnight. Dozens of others were given oxygen at the scene.

No one was believed harmed seriously.

The gas, used to sterilize a new water main, was carried in a city-owned station wagon.

A spokesman for the Board of Water Supply said a passenger in the station wagon was overcome. The driver stopped and took the victim to a nearby building for first aid.

Police Chief Leo Miller, who stopped his car to investigate, was felled by the fumes. He was revived on the scene and did not need hospital treatment.

POLICE ROPED off a six-block area. Fireman wetted the streets and sidewalks. After an hour and a half the fumes had dissipated to a degree that no longer was considered dangerous.

The first police on the scene removed the leaking tank and a second tank from the wagon and put them on the street. This gave rise to early reports that the tanks had rolled from the wagon and been smashed.

Most businesses had closed for the night in the section, which was almost entirely commercial.

Two patrolmen, Raymond Casalette and Philip Fitzgerald, were among those hospitalized.

A six-story office building of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. was ordered evacuated. The building houses radio Station WRUN.

The Stanley Theatre, the city's largest movie house, is about half a block from the scene of the incident on Genesee street. Police told the management to keep patrons within the theatre until the area was free of fumes.

The roped-off area was bounded by Pearl street, Cornelius street, Cornelia place and Union street.

Woman Killed, Husband Hurt

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Mrs. Henry S. North, 50, of Albany, was killed and her husband, 50, was injured yesterday when their automobile hit a truck and smashed into a tree, state police reported.

Mrs. North was thrown out of the car during the collision on Route 9 a few miles north of Albany. North was reported in satisfactory condition at Albany Hospital.

The car was going north and struck the side of a pickup truck, which troopers said was in the middle of the road preparing to turn left.

The hood of the North car flew up, blocking the driver's vision, and the vehicle rammed into the tree.

Two men in the truck escaped injury.

50 Club to Assemble

Members of the 50 Club, led by their president, Francis Coughlin, will assemble at their clubrooms, 97 Abeel street at 7:30 p. m., Sunday and then proceed to the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, to pay their respects to John H. Geuss.

One Killed, Two Injured in Truck Plunge Accident

Callicoon, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—A young national guardsman was killed last night and two others were injured when a heavy truck with a cannon in tow plunged 30 feet down an embankment on Route 97 near here.

The dead man was identified as Christopher Deveraux, 23, of New York city. Police said he was riding in the back of the truck, towing a 105 MM Howitzer from Camp Drum to New York city.

Richard De Louise, 24, driver of the vehicle, and Frederick Martins, 22, both of New York city, suffered injuries in the mishap. Their condition was reported fair at Callicoon Hospital.

State police at nearby Narrowsburg said the driver of the truck apparently lost control of the wheel while driving on a steep slope about 2 miles from here. The truck crashed through a guard rail, overturned and toppled down a 30-foot enbankment.

Five Appointments Made In Kingston IBM Plant

Five appointments in the Kingston plant of International Business Machines Corporation have been announced by Gavin A. Cullen, general manager.

Those assigned are Edward Argulewicz, of 36 Jarrold street, Kingston, named manager of the printed circuit card manufacturing department; W. D. Johnston, of Wappingers Falls, manager of the boiler room; Herman R. Mandell, of Red Hook, manager of the salvage, warehouse, maintenance and service stores departments; Homer R. Muller, of Poughkeepsie, technical assistant to the manufacturing engineer; and Herbert B. Pier, of New Paltz, technical assistant in the subcontract manufacturing department.

MR. ARGULEWICZ, a graduate of Kingston High School, joined IBM in 1948 as a machine operator at Poughkeepsie. In 1952 he was made a set-up man for defense gear manufacturing and in 1954 became a group leader of card manufacturing at the Poughkeepsie Laboratory Annex. In February, 1955, he became a department technician in the card manufacturing department.

Mr. Argulewicz is a U. S. Navy veteran of World War 2 and the Korean War. He is a member of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary Sick and Aid Society, the IBM Country Club, the IBM Study Club, and is an IBM Advisory Board member. He is married and has two children.

MR. JOHNSTON, a native of Roxbury, joined IBM in 1954 at Poughkeepsie as a fireman in the boiler room. He is a graduate of Dickinson High School, Jersey City, N. J., and his military service was spent as an engineer in the U. S. Merchant Marine. He is a member of the IBM Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston and their five children reside at 15 Gilmore Boulevard North, Wappingers Falls.

MR. MANDELL, a native of Brooklyn where he was graduated from high school, joined IBM in 1941 at the lower plant in Poughkeepsie, which was then the Munitions Manufacturing Co. At that time there were approximately 60 persons employed. Various appointments provided service as an expediter, a stock room dispatcher and administrative assistant work in the electric typewriter and electric accounting machine divisions. In addition he has had experience in World Trade Packaging and Shipping and wire contact relay analyzing. He came to Kingston as a department technician in shipping and receiving.

During World War 2 Mr. Mandell spent three years in the U. S. Army, two of which were in the European Theatre. Mr. Mandell, who is married, is a member of the IBM Study Club and is a director of the IBM Employees Health Association.

MR. MULLER, a graduate of Highland High School, joined IBM in Poughkeepsie in 1950 as a drill press operator. He is a veteran of World War 2 and the Korean War. He was inducted into the army in April 1941, and was sent to Officer Candidate School at Fort Hood, Texas, where he was graduated a second lieutenant. Thereafter he served with the 32nd Division in the South Pacilc until his discharge. During the Korean War he was attached to the 25th Division as a member of the 35th Regiment Tank Company. Following his discharge he returned to IBM at Poughkeepsie and worked in production control and was transferred as a group leader for project expediters. In 1954 he was transferred to Project High as a routing analyst.

Mr. Muller has two brothers, Robert P. and George D. Muller, employed by IBM at Poughkeepsie. He is a member of the IBM Country Club, the American Legion, the Forty & Eight and the Phoenicia Rod and Gun Club. Mr. and Mrs. Muller and their daughter reside at 280 Church Street, Poughkeepsie.

MR. PIER, a native of Long Island, holds a bachelor of science degree in engineering from Oklahoma A. & M. College. Following three years of service in the U. S. Navy, he joined IBM in 1952 as a technical engineer. He is a member of the IBM Country Club, the IBM Study Club, American Management Association, the American Institute of Industrial Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. Mr. and Mrs. Pier and their two children reside at 45 Center street, New Paltz.

Chlorine Fells Over 30 Persons

Utica, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Scores of persons were overcome by chlorine gas last night when a safety valve sprang in a tank being carried through the downtown area.

Twenty persons were taken to hospitals for treatment. Ten were held overnight. Dozens of others were given oxygen at the scene.

No one was believed harmed seriously.

The gas, used to sterilize a new water main, was carried in a city-owned station wagon.

A spokesman for the Board of Water Supply said a passenger in the station wagon was overcome. The driver stopped and took the victim to a nearby building for first aid.

Police Chief Leo Miller, who stopped his car to investigate, was felled by the fumes. He was revived on the scene and did not need hospital treatment.

POLICE ROPED off a six-block area. Fireman wetted the streets and sidewalks. After an hour and a half the fumes had dissipated to a degree that no longer was considered dangerous.

The first police on the scene removed the leaking tank and a second tank from the wagon and put them on the street. This gave rise to early reports that the tanks had rolled from the wagon and been smashed.

Most businesses had closed for the night in the section, which was almost entirely commercial.

Two patrolmen, Raymond Casalette and Philip Fitzgerald, were among those hospitalized.

A six-story office building of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. was ordered evacuated. The building houses radio Station WRUN.

The Stanley Theatre, the city's largest movie house, is about half a block from the scene of the incident on Genesee street. Police told the management to keep patrons within the theatre until the area was free of fumes.

The roped-off area was bounded by Pearl street, Cornelius street, Cornelia place and Union street.

Woman Killed, Husband Hurt

Albany, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Mrs. Henry S. North, 50, of Albany, was killed and her husband, 50, was injured yesterday when their automobile hit a truck and smashed into a tree, state police reported.

Mrs. North was thrown out of the car during the collision on Route 9 a few miles north of Albany. North was reported in satisfactory condition at Albany Hospital.

The car was going north and struck the side of a pickup truck, which troopers said was in the middle of the road preparing to turn left.

The hood of the North car flew up, blocking the driver's vision, and the vehicle rammed into the tree.

Two men in the truck escaped injury.

50 Club to Assemble

Members of the 50 Club, led by their president, Francis Coughlin, will assemble at their clubrooms, 97 Abeel street at 7:30 p. m., Sunday and then proceed to the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue, to pay their respects to John H. Geuss.

The Weather

SATURDAY, JULY 23, 1955

Sun rises at 4:38 a. m.; sun sets at 7:26 p. m., EST.
Weather: Partly cloudy.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 74 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 92 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Mostly fair and continued hot today. High in the 90s except in the 80s in the eastern portion of Long Island. Becoming cloudy tonight with scattered showers and thunderstorms likely late tonight and Sunday. Not quite as warm Sunday. Low tonight in the 70s, high Sunday 85 to 90.

SULTRY WEATHER ON TAP

Interior of eastern New York: Mostly sunny and continued hot today. Few widely scattered thundershowers developing this afternoon. Not so warm Sunday, cooler Sunday night. High 85 to 90, in the 90s in the central and northern portions. Low tonight in the low 70s.

State Likely

were $79,977,507 ahead of the corresponding period last year. More than six million dollars of the increase was in revenue diverted into war-bonus accounts.

A budget division spokesman said the increase cited by Appleby represented a gain of $73,708,719 in revenue collected by the Tax Department for the general fund plus income from levies gathered by other agencies. The latter include taxes on motion pictures, corporation organizations, insurance premiums and prize-fight admissions.

Appleby said:

"It is still too early to estimate revenue collections during the current year with any useful precision . . . It still appears probable that the state's expenditures will exceed the year's revenues."

In the past year, about a million people have received certificates in the American Red Cross water safety program.

Mercury . . .

group of Canadian Indians who travel throughout the nation for high span work.

One happy note was the report by local hospitals that no cases of heat prostration had been admitted.

Some points could hope for temporary relief from afternoon showers and thunderstorms which the weather bureau said would be generally scattered throughout the area. By Sunday things are expected to be a little cooler.

IN NEW YORK today's high temperature was expected to approach the year's record of 96.8 degrees yesterday. This was the official reading at the Battery in lower Manhattan. Thermometers at Times Square and La Guardia Airport hit 100 or higher.

Elsewhere it was even hotter. In South Wales, near Buffalo, the mercury hit 114. In Plainfield, N. J., it was 102 and in Poughkeepsie 101.

Government workers in Washington were sent home when the temperature rose to 98 for the capital's eighth consecutive day above 90.

In New York, city employes who could be spared were excused and many private firms closed down early. Hartford Conn.'s big insurance companies and state offices closed under the pressure of 95-degree heat.

PHILADELPHIA chalked up 100 degrees, equaling the record for the date.

In addition to discomfort, the hot weather brought another hot weather problem to some areas —water shortage.

Buffalo faced a serious drouth, its "worst in modern times." The city banned lawn sprinkling and auto washing. Low water pressure shut off air conditioning in hospital operating rooms and big storage refrigerators around the city broke down.

The sun-baked midwest, after a long spell of hot and humid weather, looked for a little relief today but there was no promise of immediate cooling in other sections of the swelter belt.

Cooler and less humid air which extended over Minnesota and the northern Great Lakes region moved slowly southward and weather forecasters expect the cool front to reach the Ohio river valley tomorrow morning. Fair and pleasant weather for most of the midwest was the outlook for tomorrow.

Senate Votes

a year from an industrial engineering firm in which he is a partner. He has denied doing anything wrong but has offered to give up his interest if the Senators see fit.

MILITARY RESERVES — A Joint House and Senate Comittee agreed late Thursday on a military reserve program that exempts present and former servicemen from compulsory reserve training. It kept the administration plan to permit up to 250,000 men a year in the 17-20-year age bracket to volunteer for three to six months of special active duty training and complete their eight-year hitch in the active reserve. But it ignored requests for authority to draft men if there were not enough volunteers. Both House and Senate are expected to act on it next week.

ROADS — The House Public Works Committee Tuesday approved a 48½-billion-dollar highway construction program for the next 12 years. It would increase the gasoline tax and other highway use levies. It faces rough going in the Senate, if the House passes it.

MINIMUM WAGE — The House Thursday approved a federal minimum wage of $1 an hour—the same figure passed by the Senate. President Eisenhower had asked for 90 cents an hour—the present floor is 75 cents—but Secretary of Labor Mitchell said he would recommend that the President sign the legislation. Congress first has to decide the effective date for the new minimum.

DIXON-YATES — Presidential aide Sherman Adams "respectfully" declined an invitation to appear before a Senate committee concerning his role in postponement of a securities and exchange commission hearing on financing the Dixon-Yates power contract. Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) argued that administration witnesses' claims of privilege against testifying "is tantamount to suppression of evidence of possible crime and corruption."

POLIO—The Senate Monday passed and sent to the House a bill authorizing free polio vaccine for children and expectant mothers in states and communities requesting it.

SOCIAL SECURITY — The House voted Monday for broader Social Security benefits for women and disabled workers, but Senate action this session seemed unlikely.

MORE MONEY — The administration asked Congress for 30 million dollars to allot to the states to buy polio vaccine; the Agriculture Department asked for 2 billion dollars to pay farm price supports, and the Justice Department asked for 17 million for a new federal prison and reformatory.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Read and weep!

Uncle Samuel needs sympathy! He swam too far off shore. Now the Hoover "task force" is attempting to rescue our "Uncle" and bring him safely ashore before he becomes a wrecked smack.

So, dry your tears — and read on!

Mr. Button

Uncle Samuel owns 472,000,000 acres of land in the United States. That's about 737,000 square miles, and equal to about a fourth of all lands in the country. One acre for "Uncle" — three acres for all the Mary and Joe Doaks. It's a so-called "Fair Deal."

Uncle also owns about 366,000,000 acres on the outside — mostly in Alaska.

Ex-President Hoover's boys are using a bulldozer to dig for truth and facts. They have just fetched up a bunch of leases pinpointing 2,500,000 additional acres — here and in foreign lands. Some "package"! And, why does Uncle Samuel need all this land?

The Hoover lads are saying: "Nuts, Uncle Samuel, shake loose 5%; collect about 1,000,000 bucks yearly; ease the deficit and save $150,000,000—the cost of bureaucratic management." That makes sense—including cents which run into dollars! This should be done pronto.

It's reported by the "task force" that Uncle Samuel's — lands owned—are valued at $41,000,000,000 dollars.

Now, "Unke," do you pay taxes on this land? I am paying you taxes on mine.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By hal sharp

A BACKCAST CAN BE DANGEROUS

NEVER MAKE A BACKCAST BEFORE LOOKING FIRST TO SEE IF ANYONE IS BEHIND, OR WITHIN RANGE OF A SWEEPING SIDECAST. A FLYING LURE OR BAITED HOOK CAN CAUSE A PAINFUL INJURY, OR THE LOSS OF EYESIGHT TO THOSE WHO ARE ACCIDENTLY SNAGGED. ALWAYS BE EXTREMELY CAREFUL OF OTHERS WHEN CASTING FROM LIMITED CONFINES OF BOATS; BOAT ANGLERS SHOULD MASTER THE OVERHEAD CAST, BACKHAND CAST, AND SIDE CAST TO USE AS ONE OR ANOTHER MAY BE SAFEST.

School Boards

Sen. Sam Engelhardt, who drew up the original draft of the bill, said he anticipates court tests. But he added that each Negro who complained of discrimination would have to prove that his race was the reason for his being denied admission to a white school.

At Raleigh, N. C., the Wake county board of education adopted a resolution calling for racial integration beginning in September, 1956. Segregation rules would apply to regular registration this fall, but the board said any child who does not like his school assignment can apply for a transfer.

THE CITY SCHOOL board at Chattanooga, Tenn., announced that it will integrate city schools, but no definite date was announced. The board said it will try to find a method of integration "that will be fair and just to each and every person in the community."

Declaring that activities will be conducted "lawfully and without violence," 40 community leaders organized a citizens council at Kilgore, Tex. They pledged to "assist in maintaining segregation of white and Negro people in the Kilgore area."

Dr. B. E. Masters, temporary chairman, said white citizens must organize "so that our public officials will know exactly how we stand."

At Monticello, Ky., six Wayne county Negro children were reported well integrated at Griffin School. The pupils, ranging in age from 6 to 15, all are children of farmer Clark Stonewall.

C. C. Coffey, a Monticello businessman, said he inspected results of the children's first week in the school, the first in Kentucky to integrate. "These children seem happy with the 35 white children," he said.

Four student religious groups at the University of Florida petitioned the state board of control to end segregation at the university. The groups represent Baptist, Methodist, Episcopal and Quaker students.

Pacer Sets World Record

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Diamond Hal, a four-year-old bay horse, today held the world's two-dash record—4:00 4/5—for pacers on a half-mile track.

He set a track record also at Saratoga Raceway last night in winning both dashes of the $10,000 Springwood Free-For-All pace.

Joe O'Brien drove the S. A. Camp Farms pacer to win the first dash of the Grand Circuit event in 2:00 4/5, and the second in two minutes flat.

The two-mile time was a fifth of a second under the record set by Tarheel in winning the Little Brown Jug stake for three-year-olds at Delaware, Ohio, in 1951. It was a full second below the record for aged pacers, set by Prince Jay as a five-year-old at Delaware in 1951.

The two-minute mile was a track mark. Good Time first set the previous record of 2:00 1/5 in 1951. It was equalled by Newport Chief last year.

Diamond Hal, a son of Hal Dale, paid $7.40, $2.50 and $2.80 in the first dash and $4.80, $4.20 and $2.70 in the second.

He collected an extra $1,000 the Raceway had offered to any horse breaking a world's record during the Grand Circuit week, which ended here last night. The victories brought his record for the year to five firsts in 11 starts.

Philip Scott was second in the first dash, a length and a quarter behind Diamond Hal. Brave Scott was third.

Bonny Brook Dean was a length and a half behind Diamond Hal to grab place money in the second dash. Star Volo showed.

The Weather

SATURDAY, JULY 23, 1955

Sun rises at 4:38 a. m.; sun sets at 7:26 p. m., EST.
Weather: Partly cloudy.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 74 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 92 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Mostly fair and continued hot today. High in the 90s except in the 80s in the eastern portion of Long Island. Becoming cloudy tonight with scattered showers and thunderstorms likely late tonight and Sunday. Not quite as warm Sunday. Low tonight in the 70s, high Sunday 85 to 90.

Interior of eastern New York: Mostly sunny and continued hot today. Few widely scattered thundershowers developing this afternoon. Not so warm Sunday, cooler Sunday night. High 85 to 90, in the 90s in the central and northern portions. Low tonight in the low 70s.

State Likely

were $79,977,507 ahead of the corresponding period last year. More than six million dollars of the increase was in revenue diverted into war-bonus accounts.

A budget division spokesman said the increase cited by Appleby represented a gain of $73,708,719 in revenue collected by the Tax Department for the general fund plus income from levies gathered by other agencies. The latter include taxes on motion pictures, corporation organizations, insurance premiums and prize-fight admissions.

Appleby said:

"It is still too early to estimate revenue collections during the current year with any useful precision . . . It still appears probable that the state's expenditures will exceed the year's revenues."

In the past year, about a million people have received certificates in the American Red Cross water safety program.

Mercury . . .

group of Canadian Indians who travel throughout the nation for high span work.

One happy note was the report by local hospitals that no cases of heat prostration had been admitted.

Some points could hope for temporary relief from afternoon showers and thunderstorms which the weather bureau said would be generally scattered throughout the area. By Sunday things are expected to be a little cooler.

IN NEW YORK today's high temperature was expected to approach the year's record of 96.8 degrees yesterday. This was the official reading at the Battery in lower Manhattan. Thermometers at Times Square and La Guardia Airport hit 100 or higher.

Elsewhere it was even hotter. In South Wales, near Buffalo, the mercury hit 114. In Plainfield, N. J., it was 102 and in Poughkeepsie 101.

Government workers in Washington were sent home when the temperature rose to 98 for the capital's eighth consecutive day above 90.

In New York, city employes who could be spared were excused and many private firms closed down early. Hartford Conn.'s big insurance companies and state offices closed under the pressure of 95-degree heat.

PHILADELPHIA chalked up 100 degrees, equaling the record for the date.

In addition to discomfort, the hot weather brought another hot weather problem to some areas —water shortage.

Buffalo faced a serious drouth, its "worst in modern times." The city banned lawn sprinkling and auto washing. Low water pressure shut off air conditioning in hospital operating rooms and big storage refrigerators around the city broke down.

The sun-baked midwest, after a long spell of hot and humid weather, looked for a little relief today but there was no promise of immediate cooling in other sections of the swelter belt.

Cooler and less humid air which extended over Minnesota and the northern Great Lakes region moved slowly southward and weather forecasters expect the cool front to reach the Ohio river valley tomorrow morning. Fair and pleasant weather for most of the midwest was the outlook for tomorrow.

Senate Votes

a year from an industrial engineering firm in which he is a partner. He has denied doing anything wrong but has offered to give up his interest if the Senators see fit.

MILITARY RESERVES — A Joint House and Senate Comittee agreed late Thursday on a military reserve program that exempts present and former servicemen from compulsory reserve training. It kept the administration plan to permit up to 250,000 men a year in the 17-20-year age bracket to volunteer for three to six months of special active duty training and complete their eight-year hitch in the active reserve. But it ignored requests for authority to draft men if there were not enough volunteers. Both House and Senate are expected to act on it next week.

ROADS — The House Public Works Committee Tuesday approved a 48½-billion-dollar highway construction program for the next 12 years. It would increase the gasoline tax and other highway use levies. It faces rough going in the Senate, if the House passes it.

MINIMUM WAGE — The House Thursday approved a federal minimum wage of $1 an hour—the same figure passed by the Senate. President Eisenhower had asked for 90 cents an hour—the present floor is 75 cents—but Secretary of Labor Mitchell said he would recommend that the President sign the legislation. Congress first has to decide the effective date for the new minimum.

DIXON-YATES — Presidential aide Sherman Adams "respectfully" declined an invitation to appear before a Senate committee concerning his role in postponement of a securities and exchange commission hearing on financing the Dixon-Yates power contract. Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) argued that administration witnesses' claims of privilege against testifying "is tantamount to suppression of evidence of possible crime and corruption."

POLIO—The Senate Monday passed and sent to the House a bill authorizing free polio vaccine for children and expectant mothers in states and communities requesting it.

SOCIAL SECURITY — The House voted Monday for broader Social Security benefits for women and disabled workers, but Senate action this session seemed unlikely.

MORE MONEY — The administration asked Congress for 30 million dollars to allot to the states to buy polio vaccine; the Agriculture Department asked for 2 billion dollars to pay farm price supports, and the Justice Department asked for 17 million for a new federal prison and reformatory.

NIGHT ATTACK!

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

Read and weep!

Uncle Samuel needs sympathy! He swam too far off shore. Now the Hoover "task force" is attempting to rescue our "Uncle" and bring him safely ashore before he becomes a wrecked smack.

So, dry your tears — and read on!

Mr. Button

Uncle Samuel owns 472,000,000 acres of land in the United States. That's about 737,000 square miles, and equal to about a fourth of all lands in the country. One acre for "Uncle" — three acres for all the Mary and Joe Doaks. It's a so-called "Fair Deal."

Uncle also owns about 366,000,000 acres on the outside — mostly in Alaska.

Ex-President Hoover's boys are using a bulldozer to dig for truth and facts. They have just fetched up a bunch of leases pinpointing 2,500,000 additional acres — here and in foreign lands. Some "package"! And, why does Uncle Samuel need all this land?

The Hoover lads are saying: "Nuts, Uncle Samuel, shake loose 5%; collect about 1,000,000 bucks yearly; ease the deficit and save $150,000,000—the cost of bureaucratic management." That makes sense—including cents which run into dollars! This should be done pronto.

It's reported by the "task force" that Uncle Samuel's — lands owned—are valued at $41,000,000,000 dollars.

Now, "Unke," do you pay taxes on this land? I am paying you taxes on mine.

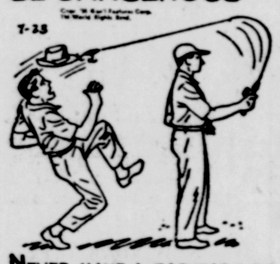
A BACKCAST CAN BE DANGEROUS



NEVER MAKE A BACKCAST BEFORE LOOKING FIRST TO SEE IF ANYONE IS BEHIND, OR WITHIN RANGE OF A SWEEPING SIDECAST. A FLYING LURE OR BAITED HOOK CAN CAUSE A PAINFUL INJURY, OR THE LOSS OF EYESIGHT TO THOSE WHO ARE ACCIDENTLY SNAGGED. ALWAYS BE EXTREMELY CAREFUL OF OTHERS WHEN CASTING FROM LIMITED CONFINES OF BOATS; BOAT ANGLERS SHOULD MASTER THE OVERHEAD CAST, BACKHAND CAST, AND SIDE CAST TO USE AS ONE OR ANOTHER MAY BE SAFEST.

School Boards

Sen. Sam Engelhardt, who drew up the original draft of the bill, said he anticipates court tests. But he added that each Negro who complained of discrimination would have to prove that his race was the reason for his being denied admission to a white school.

At Raleigh, N. C., the Wake county board of education adopted a resolution calling for racial integration beginning in September, 1956. Segregation rules would apply to regular registration this fall, but the board said any child who does not like his school assignment can apply for a transfer.

THE CITY SCHOOL board at Chattanooga, Tenn., announced that it will integrate city schools, but no definite date was announced. The board said it will try to find a method of integration "that will be fair and just to each and every person in the community."

Declaring that activities will be conducted "lawfully and without violence," 40 community leaders organized a citizens council at Kilgore, Tex. They pledged to "assist in maintaining segregation of white and Negro people in the Kilgore area."

Dr. B. E. Masters, temporary chairman, said white citizens must organize "so that our public officials will know exactly how we stand."

At Monticello, Ky., six Wayne county Negro children were reported well integrated at Griffin School. The pupils, ranging in age from 6 to 15, all are children of farmer Clark Stonewall.

C. C. Coffey, a Monticello businessman, said he inspected results of the children's first week in the school, the first in Kentucky to integrate. "These children seem happy with the 35 white children," he said.

Four student religious groups at the University of Florida petitioned the state board of control to end segregation at the university. The groups represent Baptist, Methodist, Episcopal and Quaker students.

PITCHING — Harvey Haddix, Cardinals, scattered seven hits, walked but three and fanned six while breaking Philadelphia's 11-game winning streak 8-1 in second game of twi-night doubleheader.

BATTING — Walt Dropo, White Sox, delivered two-run double in the first inning and a two-run single in the third as Chicago took over American League lead with 10-7 triumph over Boston.

Pacer Sets World Record

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 23 (AP)—Diamond Hal, a four-year-old bay horse, today held the world's two-dash record—4:00 4/5—for pacers on a half-mile track.

He set a track record also at Saratoga Raceway last night in winning both dashes of the $10,000 Springwood Free-For-All pace.

Joe O'Brien drove the S. A. Camp Farms pacer to win the first dash of the Grand Circuit event in 2:00 4/5, and the second in two minutes flat.

The two-mile time was a fifth of a second under the record set by Tarheel in winning the Little Brown Jug stake for three-year-olds at Delaware, Ohio, in 1951. It was a full second below the record for aged pacers, set by Prince Jay as a five-year-old at Delaware in 1951.
